Democrat Is High in G. O. P. Primary.

BULLETIN.

Milwaukee, Wis., Sept. 21 (Wednesday).—(AP)—Returns from 1,250 of 2,994 precincts in the state primaries for governor today gave:

Progressive—La Follette, 40,665; Glenn P. Turner, 9,455.

Republican—Julius P. Heil, 33,109; Henry, 23,873; James G. Peterson, 8,241; Clun L. Miller, 2,763.

Democratic—Henry, 14,923; Jerome F. Fox, 12,656; Edward G. Ihlenfeldt, 2,725.

Progressive—Herman L. Ekern, 23,217; Thomas R. Amlie, 17,499.

Republican—Alexander Wiley, 20,941; John B. Chapple, 16,165; William J. Campbell, 8,405; Edward J. Samp, 8,243; William H. Stafford, 4,940; Stephen J. McMahon, 2,688.

Senator F. Ryan Duffy was unopposed for the Democratic nomination.

(Details on page 10.)

New York, Sept. 21 [Wednesday].—(AP)—Representative John J. O'Connor early this morning was apparently defeated in a close race for renomination in the Democratic primary of yesterday. In the Republican primary, in which O'Connor also was entered, he was leading his opponent by a big margin.

Reports from 81 of 84 election districts in the 16th congressional district gave O'Connor 7,224 votes in the Democratic race to 7,952 for James H. Fay, President Roosevelt choice for the nomination.

In the Republican primary 70 districts showed O'Connor leading Allen W. Dulles 2,495 to 1,701.

O'Connor Slated for Purge.

O'Connor, representing one of the country's most cosmopolitan congressional districts—a crowded area shining with the splendor of Park avenue penthouses and gray with the misery of the nearby east side slums—made his race in the last major Democratic primary involving the so-called Roosevelt "purge."

Roosevelt opposed O'Connor, who has been in congress since 1923 and who is chairman of the powerful house rules committee, as an obstructionist of New Deal measures. Fay, his Democratic primary opponent, is a deputy revenue collector. He was nominated without opposition in yesterday's primary by the pro-Roosevelt American Labor party.

O'Connor labored not only under the disapproval of President Roosevelt but also under numerous handicaps imposed by other enemies. Tammany could not control some of its leaders. E. V. McLaughlin, leader of the 14th assembly district, openly supported Fay.

Residence Is Questioned.

There was the question of O'Connor's residence. His enemies said he actually lives in Bay Port, N. Y., fifty-three miles from his district. The district has many poor families as well as rich. O'Connor's enemies said he is a rich man's congressman. Fay lost a leg in the world war. All O'Connor could show was his record of backing veterans' legislation. Communists have been working for Fay.

The religious issue was brought into the campaign. A priest of the Paulist Fathers got an anonymous call blaming O'Connor for difficulties the Paulist radio station, WLWL, was having with the federal communications commission. Father John Harney of the Paulists accused Fay managers of trying to draw the organization into the campaign. Fay, who also is a Catholic, answered by saying that the phone call was a smoke screen, and that O'Connor had been hiring Catholic school and church halls for meetings in order to give the impression that the church backed him.

Townsend Advocates Lagging.

In upstate New York advocates of the Townsend pension plan fell behind their opponents in early returns from congressional primaries. Two Republican incumbents, Bert Lord and John G. Taber, took commanding leads over Townsend candidates in the 24th and 36th districts.

In the 31st district Wallace H. Pierce, Clinton county Republican chairman, apparently had received his party's nomination for the house seat

PECORA YIELDS HINES CASE, BUT NOT WITNESSES

Keeps Influence in Power to Sentence.

New York, Sept. 20.—[Special.]—Supreme Court Justice Ferdinand Pecora, who halted the conspiracy trial of Tammany Leader James J. Hines last week by declaring a mistrial on a technicality, gave another momentus decision in the matter today.

Pecora, a Tammany judge, split the conspiracy indictment case into two parts. He retired from the second trial of Hines, sending it to the Court of General Sessions for reassignment. But he kept Hines' three co-defendants. These three were the men who pleaded guilty, gave state's evidence, and became chief prosecution witnesses against Hines.

Friends of Dewey say the success of his prosecution of Hines will depend largely on the coöperation he receives from the three men who pleaded guilty and became his star witnesses. The three, all former members of the Schultz gang, are J. Richard [Dixie] Davis, disbarred attorney, Harry Schoenhaus, and George Weinberg.

Delays Sentence of Three

It was said that Pecora would not sentence these three until after Hines is tried again on charges of being a fixer for the policy racket operated by the slain gang leader, Dutch Schultz. On their pleas of guilty the three are liable to maximum sentences of twenty-five years each in prison.

Therefore, no matter who tries Hines, Justice Pecora, who is a political foe of Thomas E. Dewey, the young Republican district attorney, will keep a hand in the new Hines trial.

Davis, Schoenhaus, and Weinberg found indications when testifying in the first trial that despite any recommendation Dewey might make they need not expect much reward from Justice Pecora for their assistance to the state. The justice frequently took over cross examination and questioned them sharply.

Called Dangerous Witnesses.

When he granted the motion for a mistrial, Pecora quoted with significant emphasis from a Court of Appeals opinion which referred to underworld characters as dangerous and degenerate witnesses.

Dewey's friends say he is concerned over his witnesses' belief that they can expect no mercy from Pecora. Members of the prosecutors' staf are searching for some authority that may persuade the justice he should turn the three witnesses over to the judge who presides at the second trial, thus assuring their continued coöperation with the state.

Some observers believe Dewey will seek a new indictment of the three witnesses from the regular county grand jury, withdraw their guilty pleas to the present indictment, and have them plead guilty to the new one. If that could be done both their trial and sentencing automatically would come before a General Sessions judge.

Speculate on G. O. P. Nomination.

Meantime, the political aspects of the case, particularly in reference to the feud between Dewey and Pecora, grew in scope and intensity. The question of whether the popular prosecutor would accept a Republican nomination for governor was creating wide interest.

The rivalry between the prosecutor and trial judge is emphasized by the fact that Pecora was an assistant district attorney under Tammany régimes for thirteen years and now is mentioned as the gubernatorial standard bearer for the Democratic ticket.

The question of Dewey's acceptance in the event he is drafted as the Republican nominee is important to both major parties, which will hold their New York conventions next week to nominate candidates for governor and for two seats in the United States senate.

Dewey Keeps Them Guessing.

As time passed after the mistrial decision, Dewey's silence as to his political intentions has kept the Democrats, from the White House down, guessing which way to jump in their New York slate making. Evidence of that uncertainty was disclosed in the timing of the Democratic state convention to overlap and extend beyond the Republican gathering.

While Dewey has not indicated his

JUNGLE STORIES

The Man-Who-Worked-for-a-Living was a base fellow. He labored in the Dell near the land of FolDeRol. This Man o'Work was selfish and mean. See the Man o'Work turning the hungry Jungle Animals away from his Chicken House door. Yet the Purge Cat had tried to reason with the stupid Man o'Work. Purge had endeavored to play fair with the surly fellow, one hundred-per-scent. The Purge Cat, with all the charm of his oratory, had urged the Man o'Work to co-operate with the Jungle Beasts.

"Mah fran," Purge pleaded with him. "Scat!" said the Man o'Work. But Purge would not be scatted. He then laid a proposition before the Man; fair, open and aboveboard. It was a fifty-fifty proposition. . . . If the Man o'Work would agree to raise the Chickens, the Jungle Animals would contract to devour them. "Scat!" repeated the Man o'Work. But Purge would not be scatted. And thus for years . . . for sick long years they argued back and forth. Though the Man o'Work had lost only fifty billion chickens, at a dollar a head, the surly fellow lost his temper. "Scat!" he shouted. But Purge would not be scatted. And now, perhaps due to the fact that the Purge Cat had not had a free vacation on a government battleship for several days, he, too, lost his temper. "I have a mandate!" Purge warned him. "And so have we!" bayed Nine Unpurged Watch Dogs, headed by Bad Tydings, by George! Purge suddenly remembered that he had an important date elsewhere, and it wasn't a mandate, either. The Purge Cat had been scatted.

QUESTIONS: Do you see the handy war cloud? Perhaps Purge can escape under the cover of its darkness. See the animals picketing the Man o'Work. He is unfair to grassHopkins. He is unfair to Jack L. He is unfair to Ode Cologne, the Pretty Skunk. He is unfair to cornWallace, the Roothog. And he is unfair to Red Buzzard, too. Do you see Call-me-Jim, the hibernator? Can you find the Red Headed Woodpecora? Hear the noise he is making . . . "Pec-Pec-Pec-Pecora!" He is drilling holes in the Bar of Justice. This Bird has very little foresight but a great deal of *Hines*ight.

SCOLDS FARMERS FOR MIXING UP CRISIS WITH RUM

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

RIGA, Latvia, Sept. 20.—The Latvian government today published a special rebuke to farmers who have been gathering in the vicinity of vodka shops discussing the European crisis. While such assemblies tend to increase the profits of the state vodka monopoly, the government reprimand suggests that farmers spend more time on the woodpile instead of talking politics. Latvia cannot help the solution of the conflict, the statement said. It added that many debaters show a lamentable lack of knowledge of geography.

FRONT OF HOUSE FALLS AND IT'S TIME TO GET UP

Philadelphia, Pa., Sept. 20.—(AP)—Weakened by rain, the front of a three story brick house collapsed today.

The wall dropped like a curtain revealing one man dressing, and another in bed.

"Is it time to get up?" the man in bed had just asked.

The crash came and the other shouted: "Yes."

They were stranded when a stairway gave way, and were rescued by firemen with ladders.

Two Confess Part in Killing of Prignano

A convict in Joliet penitentiary talked. The theme of his story was safeblowing. The Chicago police investigated. Luck favored them and yesterday the convict and one of his pals confessed they had parts in the slaying of State Representative Albert J. Prignano. Prignano was shot to death on Dec. 29, 1935, in front of his home, 722 Bunker [now Grenshaw] street.

Michael Novak, the convict, and his accomplice, Henry Zelanowski, said that they acted under the leadership of two other men. This second pair, one of whom was named as the principal plotter and actual slayer, were being sought last night.

Although Novak and Zelanowski asserted their sole motive was robbery, their stories convinced the police that the murder of Prignano was deliberately plotted and may have had a background in his political activities.

Sentenced Early Last Year.

Novak was sentenced as a burglar in the Cook county Criminal court on Jan. 5, 1937, and was to have been released Oct. 8. He knew, however, that a warant was waiting for him, in which the St. Louis authorities charged him with safeblowing. He conceived the idea that by telling of other safe crackings in Illinois he might avoid extradition. He announced willingness to talk several weeks ago.

Sergt. John Hanrahan of the detective bureau interviewed him. His disclosures related in part to burglary expeditions in which Zelanowski participated. On Friday the police at Springfield seized Zelanowski and he was brought here for questioning.

Somewhat to the surprise of the police, Zelanowski began talking on Sunday about the murder. He apparently did not even know the name of the victim. He described it as a killing "where a woman and a little boy looked on." That description fitted the Prignano slaying.

Confront Each Other.

Yesterday the police borrowed Novak from the prison. In State's Attorney Courtney's office the two men confronted each other. Novak had outguessed himself. Instead of going free on a burglary charge, he

A HUSBAND KISSES HIS OWN WIFE--AND IT COSTS HIM $25,300

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Ruff of 1425 Lunt avenue have been married more than eight years. They have three children. But a kiss in a speeding automobile yesterday cost them a total of $25,300.

On June 26, 1937, they took Mr. Ruff's sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Grimm, on a day's fishing trip in Lake county. Mrs. Grimm said Ruff was traveling from 70 to 80 miles an hour when he leaned over and kissed Mrs. Ruff.

The car left the road, smashed into a culvert, and all four were seriously hurt. Grimm sued Ruff in the Circuit court of Lake county for $15,000 for himself and $15,000 for his wife, Virginia. The Grimms live at 2634 North Marshfield avenue, but their attorneys, J. A. Miller and Henry Fisher, brought the suit in Lake county because that's where the accident occurred.

Last night a jury, after two days' testimony, brought in a verdict of $12,800 for Grimm and $12,500 for his wife.

WPA CONSTRUCTS FINE SCHOOL, BUT FORGETS WATER

Detroit, Mich., Sept. 20.—[Special.]—The Treadwell school in Taylor township is a fine looking building. It is the first of ten rural schools to be constructed through WPA and county aid at a cost of $42,000 each. It has one drawback, however. It has no water.

The modern drinking and sanitary equipment were hailed when the school was dedicated Sept. 10. Apparently no one tried it until the school was opened. Then it was learned the equipment wouldn't work, and the school was closed.

A well was dug, but the pump was forgotten. The pump, however, is no solution because the water supply is inadequate.

Britain Called Hitler Pawn in New Conquests

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.

BERLIN, Sept. 20.—In his palace in the Bavarian Alps Reichsfuehrer Hitler swung his invisible scepter over Europe today. In the eyes of his followers he appeared more powerful than any man has been in Europe since the days of Napoleon, or possibly Charlemagne.

On Thursday, Hitler is fully confident that Neville Chamberlain, prime minister of the British empire, will bow to his wishes in Godesberg on the Rhine, where the details of Germany's newest eastern conquests are to be settled.

Today the Fuehrer granted audiences to emissaries from Poland and Hungary, begging for their share of the Czech spoils.

Border Warfare Rages.

Guerrilla warfare again raged on the German-Czechslovak border. The Germans charged Czech troops invaded Germany. Czech radio stations charged the Germans were conducting raids on the republic's soil.

Hitler and his lieutenants, however, are so confident of a diplomatic victory that they promised to "try to restrain the fighters until the Godesberg conference is held."

"After that the whole matter will be settled in a few days," they told their trusted followers.

The tone of the official statements in the German press is slightly less confident, because authorities do not want to risk disappointing the public should Chamberlain fail to be as submissive as the Nazis expect him to be.

Nazis Boast of Strength.

The Nazis, who feel that their leader, who during the world war was a soldier unknown except to his comrades, overshadows former Kaiser Wilhelm, delivered this explanation: "Seventy-five million Germans are

LONDON, Sept. 21 [Wednesday].—The British and French governments early today awaited a reply from Czechoslovakia to a demand from London and Paris that it accept immediately and completely their proposal to cede Sudetenland to Germany.

The demand, which was described in some circles as a virtual ultimatum, was given to President Eduard Benes at 2 o'clock this morning by the British and French ministers in Prague. Dispatches from the Czech capital said the inner cabinet immediately was summoned. The inner cabinet met until 6:15 a. m. It adjourned without making an immediate announcement.

Czechs Propose Arbitration.

This dramatic turn in the rapidly moving European drama came after the British and French governments had received Czechoslovakia's reply yesterday to their proposal to carve up the little republic. It arrived shortly after Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain had announced that he would meet Hitler in Godesberg, Germany, tomorrow.

The Czech reply urged the British and French governments to reconsider their proposal to give Reichsfuehrer Hitler Sudetenland and raised detailed objections against the plan. The Czechs proposed that the entire problem be submitted to the court of international justice at The Hague for a ruling.

The Czech note pointed out that Prague and Berlin still are bound by a treaty of friendship and arbitration, which was signed in 1926 and which the Nazi government confirmed as still binding last March, when it seized Austria.

France and Britain Alarmed.

Britain and France were disconcerted by the Czech reply and immediately called it wholly unsatisfactory. London and Paris seemed to fear that the Czechs might make a complete about face and come to terms with Hitler on their own account or that Hitler would invade Czechoslovakia.

Action was immediately taken to bring extreme pressure on the government at Prague. The British and French ministers urged that the the Anglo-French plan be accepted so Chamberlain will be able to carry it to Hitler. They emphasized that "time presses," and pointed out to the Czech government the danger to the country with German troops on the border, ready to march in. They were said to have told Benes that unless the Czechs yielded, Britain and France could not guarantee the future existence of the country.

The possibility that Chamberlain or Premier Edouard Daladier of France might have a personal conference with President Benes to exert still further pressure was being considered this morning.

Hitler Stiffens Attitude.

Dispatches from Berlin indicated that Hitler was stiffening his terms and was considering the proclamation of a "Monroe doctrine" ior central Europe.

Although the contents of the Czech note were not announced officially, enough leaked out to confirm that the Czechs are maneuvering for time in the forlorn hope that in some way they may be able to save their country from dismemberment. It was disclosed that the note started out by complaining that the Czech government had not been consulted by Britain and France in framing the proposal for revision of a 1,000 year old frontier in twenty-four hours.

Prague pointed out that the German-Czech arbitration treaty concluded in 1926 was confirmed by Field Marshal Hermann Wilhelm Goering, German minister of aviation, and also by Konstantin von Neurath, former German foreign minister, at the time of Germany's occupation of Austria. The note emphasized that the dispute could be handled by The Hague court, which is still recognized by Britain and France.

Czech Protests Listed.

The Czech government also insisted upon discussions through diplomatic channels to clear up certain points of the Anglo-French proposal. Prague contended that secession of areas with more than 50 per cent German population would cut off the Czechs' main resources.

On this basis, it was pointed out, the new frontier would approach within forty miles of Prague and would mean that some of the most important industrial areas of the country would go to Germany. It also was pointed out that the main railroads connecting these districts with Prague and the center of Moravia and linking coal, iron and steel centers would pass through German territory.

The reply, it was understood declared that the Czechs have spent $250,000,000 in recent years on fortifications in that part of their country which is to be given away under the Anglo-French plan, and they asked what compensation they would get for this.

Diplomatic Activity Hums.

Diplomatic activity continued yesterday and through the night in Downing street with hectic tempo. British cabinet leaders met, foreign diplomats called at the foreign ministry, and telephone wires between capitals hummed.

The Daily Telegraph, usually well informed on government affairs, said the cabinet ministers were obliged to consider clear indications from Germany that since Prime Minister Chamberlain's visit to Hitler at Berchtesgaden, Bavaria, last Thursday, the Fuehrer has concluded it will be possible still further to raise the price of a peaceful settlement.

"Complete elimination of the Czechoslovak state from the map of Europe is being urged and the Anglo-French proposals are being described as wholly inadequate," the Telegraph said.

The Telegraph referred to Hungarian and Polish demands for slices of Czechoslovakia and reports of Hungarian troop movements.

Refuses to Call Parliament.

Prime Minister Chamberlain rejected a demand by Maj. C. R. Attlee, Laborite leader, that parliament be recalled immediately. Chamberlain replied that he is dealing with difficult and delicate negotiations which must be handled with the utmost care. He said that to call parliament now would require him to take part in debates while these negotiations still were in progress and would make his task impossible. He said he would call parliament as soon as matters had proceeded far enough to enable him to make a full statement about what is going on.

Chamberlain may yet face stiff Laborite opposition to the carving up of Czechoslovakia. The British Council of Labor reassembled in an emergency session yesterday to consult European Socialist and trade union leaders, who flew here from the continent, on whether they would press their governments to help Czechoslovakia. It was understood that the continental leaders, particularly the French, urged caution and no decision was reached.

After the European leaders left London the British council decided to call a joint meeting of the Trades Union congress, the Labor party, and the Parliamentary Labor party for today to decide the next step.

HITLER PLEDGED TO ARBITRATION BY 1926 TREATY

PRAGUE, Czechoslovakia, Sept. 20. — (AP) — The Czechoslovak-German treaty of friendship and arbitration to which Czechoslovakia today proposed to refer its dispute with Germany over Sudetenland was signed by the two governments at Locarno in 1926. Czechoslovaks today said Reichsfuehrer Hitler himself had acknowledged the validity of the treaty as late as 1936.

The treaty provides for arbitration of disputes by one of two methods before either country resorts to war-like measures:

1. By a special commission composed of one German, one Czechoslovak, and three neutrals.

2. By presentation of the dispute to the world court at The Hague.

200,000 Chicago Czechs and Slovaks Plan Protest

A committee representing more than 200,000 Chicagoans who are of Czech or Slovak descent completed arrangements yesterday for a mass-meeting to be held next Sunday in the Chicago Stadium. The meeting, which will be preceded by a parade of several thousand persons, will be in protest against the threatened partition of Czechoslovakia by Adolf Hitler.

In the parade which will reach the Stadium at about 3 p. m. will be many marchers wearing the colorful costumes of the Czech republic.

CZECH CABINET STUDIES ORDER TO CARVE REPUBLIC

Prague Is Told It Must Submit to Hitler.

BY ALEX SMALL.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PRAGUE, Czechoslovakia, Sept. 21. —[Wednesday.]—Victor Leopold de Lacroix, French minister to Prague, had a secret conversation with President Eduard Benes of Czechoslovakia early today.

The French minister was reported to have informed Benes that the British and French foreign offices had examined the Prague government's reply to the French-British proposals and considered it insufficient.

The French were reported to be pressing for unconditional acceptance of the proposal agreed upon by Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain of Great Britain and Premier Edouard Daladier of France to hand over to Germany the Sudeten area of Czechoslovakia.

Sir Basil Cochrane-Newton, British minister to Prague, also called on Benes and was reported to have told him to accept the "peace" plan as it stood.

Inner Cabinet Summoned.

After the ministers and Benes ended their talks a meeting of the Czechoslovak inner cabinet was summoned immediately. The council conferred until 6:15 a. m. No immediate announcement of developments was made.

For hours yesterday drawn faced crowds stood in front of the Citadel of Prague and Kolovrat palace hoping to hear some stray word which would tell them the fate of their country. Between the first, where Benes has his offices, and the second, where Premier Dr. Milan Hodza has his offices, ministers and diplomats kept coming and going. Sessions of the inner cabinet and the full cabinet with and without Benes followed one another.

Late in the afternoon an official communique informed the crowd that the answer had been drafted to the "ultimatum" which Czechoslovakia had received from its nominal allies, Britain and France. The "ultimatum" demanded the surrender of parts of Czechoslovakia.

Note Called a Stall.

The only indication of the nature of the answer was in noncommittal words: "The Czechoslovak point of view makes possible further development of negotiations in a sense of good will."

Expressed in plain American language, the note was a stall. It neither accepted nor rejected the "ultimatum." It suggested there should be more talk about the Sudeten problem.

Few Czechs, even the humblest, believed that the statement in any way represented the spirit of the note. If it did, then, in their opinion, their cabinet ministers have lost their reason. Whatever the British and French may think the Czechs are convinced that Reichsfuehrer Hitler means business, and means it now, and that he is not going to be satisfied with more conversation. Like Hitler, they also would prefer a prompt settlement, even if it is war.

"Ifs" and "Buts" Stressed.

The note evidently was of considerable length. From the French legation it was learned that the personnel was busy for some hours getting it into code and transmitting it to the French foreign office. The best guesses in Prague as to its contents were that it was an acceptance of the inevitable, with a considerable number of "ifs" and "buts."

One section of the note was believed to say that the Czechoslovak government cannot allow any separation of its border districts with its attending confusion and disorder until the British and French send a force of occupation into the Sudeten territory for police operations.

Another section was believed to remind London and Paris that Czechoslovakia has an arbitration treaty with Germany dating from 1926. The Czechs were said to have pointed out that this treaty provides that disputes between the two countries must be settled by the Court of International Justice at The Hague. The catch here is that the Sudeten affair really is an internal one. The 1926 treaty does not cover disputes of a political nature.

While waiting for some definite development in the situation public opinion in Prague was swayed from one extreme to another. Resigned advocates of complete and immediate surrender were less prominent yesterday than on Monday and advocates of resistance spoke up boldly.

Some still clung to the opinion that Czechoslovakia should oppose German occupation of the border districts with arms. They argued that Britain and France thus would be forced to come to the republic's aid.

The resentment against Britain and France continued to be bitter.

"The British in their usual way are being very generous with something which does not belong to them," one prominent Czech said. "Sudetenland is ours with its industry and its wealth and fortresses which we built at great expense to defend ourselves."

In the lower ranks of the government service there was a current of opinion that Czechoslovakia should pay back its false friends by making the best bargain possible with Berlin.

In these circles it was becoming evident that Czechoslovakia has for twenty years pursued a curious policy of having its alliances and friendly agreements with countries with which it has no common border. On the other hand, Czechoslavakia almost has taken pains to be on bad terms with Germany, Poland, and Hungary, even baiting the last two.

The only neighbor with whom Czechoslovakia has been friendly is Rumania. And Rumania is hardly a neighbor, touching Czechoslovakia as it does so far away from Prague and its vital centers.

FRENCH FINANCE MINISTER URGES END TO HOARDING

[Copyright: 1938: By the New York Times.]

PARIS, Sept. 20.—The finance minister, Paul Marchandeau, today appealed to French patriotism to stop the hoarding of needed currency and to make early payments of taxes. He said people have been putting money aside for emergencies, and he asked that these funds be put in circulation by the purchase of short term bonds.

The government, he said, had been forced to have recourse to advances from the Bank of France to finance recent expenses, but that if the people as a whole would coöperate it could meet all requirements without resorting to this method again.

The finance minister's speech was made before the owners and editors of provincial newspapers. It contained numerous assurances of government precautions to avert financial disorders.

POWERS DEMAND PRAGUE ACCEPT TERMS QUICKLY

Ultimatum Cites Danger of Hitler Marching.

PARIS, Sept. 21 [Wednesday].—(AP)—Officials in the French foreign office disclosed today that France and Britain have refused to accept Czechoslovakia's plan for arbitration of its Sudetenland dispute with Germany and have demanded a flat yes or no answer. The Czechs had proposed arbitration by the world court under a treaty reached with Germany in 1925.

Sources close to the foreign office said the new demand the two western European powers were making on France's ally was a virtual ultimatum, warning that if Czechoslovakia refused to accept the French-British proposals to cede Sudetenland to Adolf Hitler it would be impossible to guarantee the future existence of the country.

The ministers of the two powers were instructed to present the new demand to Prague at once and to demand an immediate reply.

Demand Framed by Telephone.

It was said the demand was framed last evening in a long telephone conversation between the French foreign ministry and the British foreign office.

When a late night conference at the French foreign ministry broke up shortly after 1 a. m. Jules Henry, director in the office of Foreign Minister Georges Bonnet, said cryptically:

"The latest news received from Prague permits us to hope at satisfactory solution is approaching."

It was learned from persons in close contact with Bonnet that Victor Leopold Lacroix, French minister to Prague, had been told to point out in the strongest terms the danger to Czechoslovakia of what was described as a "negative or dilatory attitude in the face of Nazi preparations along the Czechoslovakia borders."

Hitler Awaits Action.

French sources said Britain's prime minister, Neville Chamberlain, decided to postpone his trip to Godesberg, Germany, for his second face-to-face talk with Hitler until Thursday in the hope that by then France and Britain would have forced Prague to consent to amputation of the Sudeten region.

The French government announced last night it would put all work on air raid protection in the Paris region under military rule. The action was taken to overcome a strike of 160,000 building workers over wages. It was indicated the workers would be called to the colors and put to work at a wage scale fixed by the government.

A statement issued by the labor ministry said the government would requisition factories furnishing material for "passive defense" and sites of refuge construction because of strike delays.

The government requisitioned the docks at Marseilles on Sept. 6 to break up a strike of dockworkers. The docks were placed under military rule.

RUSSIA TO FIGHT FOR CZECHS ONLY IF FRANCE DOES

Pledges Support, but with Reservations.

BY DONALD DAY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

RIGA, Latvia, Sept. 20.—The political bureau of the communist party, meeting in Moscow, decided today to support Czechoslovakia by all possible means. Russia, however, will abstain from open action until France and England definitly are involved in a war with Germany.

Marshal K. E. Voroshilov.

The decision of the highest governing body in Russia was taken after consideration of reports from Marshal K. E. Voroshilov, commissar of war, and Gen. M. Mechlis, chief of the political department of the Red army, concerning their recent tour of inspection of the Ukrainian and White Russian military districts.

Army Desertions Increase.

Voroshilov's report was said to have caused anxiety. He said desertions from the army were taking on a mass character. This was especially true in the Ukraine, where several separatist conspiracies among young officers were discovered and liquidated by harsh means. The increasing number of deserters, the commissar said, compelled him to order enforcement of wartime discipline. Deserters now are being shot.

Foreign military attachés in Moscow frequently have said Russia's barbed wire frontier and triple line of patrols was designed not only to keep foreigners out of Russia, but also to keep the inhabitants within their own country.

Any Russian forces sent abroad, they believe, would quickly lose their effectiveness because of desertions. They recalled that in the world war entire Russian regiments melted away to a few companies during a single night.

Urges Planes for Czechs.

Voroshilov's report recommended that the soviet government, for the present, should continue to supply Czechoslovakia with airplanes, pilots and war materials, but carefully avoid being involved in the conflict.

The commissar also presented the general staf's plans to avoid a general mobilization, which involves dangers for the bolshevik régime.

He explained how, with all the first line divisions from the Volga, the Urals and North Caucasian districts now concentrated on Russia's western frontiers, each division in the field was instructed to form a reserve division in its home garrison. Skeleton organizations of officers and instructors are being furnished from a majority of the divisions now in the Ukraine and White Russia.

Avoids Calling Older Classes.

In order to avoid calling into service the older classes, the morale and discipline of which are doubtful, last year's recruits were retained and older cadets of the communist youth union, together with youths destined to serve in the next two years, are being drafted for training.

Gen. Mechlis, who commands communist chaplains whose duty is to instill the spirit of bolshevism into the red army, reported that regular officers continue to refuse to fraternize with his political commissars. One or more of his chaplains are attached to each company.

Gen. Mechlis' report contradicted Voroshilov's, since he alleged that the morale of the red army is high, with fighting spirit evident in all branches of the service.

Confirms Officer Inefficiency.

Confirmation of the Tribune correspondent's previous reports of the lack of training and inefficiency of red army officers, 30 per cent of whom have been exiled or executed in the last year, has been published by the Moscow Krasnia Zvezda [The Red Star.] This is the official red army newspaper. It was discussing the recent maneuvers of the Moscow district garrison.

Most of the troubles during the maneuvers, the paper said, were developed by the staf. In one instance, a commanding officer did not know how to direct the storming of a bridge. Whereas the infantry, tank corps, and aviation performed brilliantly, still coordination was lacking, it said. The paper said various units did not maintain contact.

If the glaring mistakes were confined only to the Moscow garrison the situation would not be so serious, the paper said. But war exercises in the Ukraine and white Russia disclosed similar defects.

Attacking Prime Minister Chamberlain for his alleged betrayal of Czechoslovakia, the newspaper Pravda said the communists in England still have a word to say before Moscow will be isolated. It called upon the friends of bolshevism in England to prevent the success of the British government's policy.

Czech Envoy Certain of Aid.

MOSCOW, Sept. 21.—[Wednesday]—(AP)—While Russia has maintained an official silence regarding its course, Czechoslovak circles here are confident the soviet union will not let the little republic down.

The Czechoslovak minister, Zdenek Fierlinger, said early today that there was not the slightest doubt that Moscow would live up to its treaty of mutual assistance with Czechoslovakia.

This treaty provides that Russia will aid Czechoslovakia in event of aggression, on condition that France goes to the republic's aid.

The soviet press today denounced the Anglo-French plan to dismember Czechoslovakia as a new step toward world war disguised as a contribution to peace.

Hesitate to Fight Alone.

Since Britain and France along with other powers created the post-war republic, the view was held in soviet circles that it could hardly be expected of soviet Russia alone to defend their creation now.

[At Geneva Russia was reported to have offered help to Czechoslovakia if it chose to fight Germany, but Rumania was said to have refused permission for passage of Russian troops through its territory.]

Instead of stiffening Czechoslovakia against Nazi Germany, the soviet view is that France has advised Prague "to commit suicide."

Britain's rôle in the plan came in for particularly sharp criticism from all Moscow newspapers. They prominently displayed articles reminding that just twenty years ago today agents of Britain "barbarously executed" twenty-six commissars of Baku, then a province in Caucasia. These commissars were shot after White Guardists, aided by foreign troops, conquered Baku and upset its established soviet régime.

POLAND READY TO TAKE TESCHEN IF HITLER ACTS

Troops Concentrating on Czech Border.

[Copyright: 1938: By the New York Times.]

WARSAW, Poland, Sept. 20.—The march of Polish troops across the Czech frontier and the occupation of Teschen is considered inevitable here in case of the Sudetenland annexation by Germany.

The Polish government has made it quite clear to the French and British that Teschen must be given to Poland if Sudetenland is given to the reich.

The concentration of troops near the Czech frontier is continuing.

Demand 600 Square Miles.

Poland asks for the territories of Teschen, Frysztat, and half of Frydak. The river Ostrawica would be fixed as the new Polish frontier. This small area, about 600 square miles, is thickly populated, mostly by miners and steelworkers employed in the Karwina coal mines and Crzynisa steel mills.

The demand for the return of Teschen is now general here although the partition of Czechoslovakia and the cession of Sudetenland to Germany is regarded by many as the worst solution of the Czech problem. The annexation of Teschen, even with its coal mines and steel mills, is thought to be out of proportion to the new gains for Germany which once more, after a second annexation, will upset the balance of power in central and eastern Europe.

Consider All Pacts Worthless.

Czechoslovakia, isolated and abandoned by her allies, is a striking proof in Polish eyes of the fact that all alliances and pacts in eastern Europe are now quite worthless. Chancellor Adolf Hitler is now felt to be master of Europe east of the Rhine, and the question is asked what country is next on the list.

The moderate Kuryer Warszawski, asking for "equal treatment" for Polish and German minorities in Czechoslovakia, appeals to the government to use this occasion, when the Sudeten problem is being solved, for a solution of the Polish minority question in Germany.

The Kuryer says that more than a million Poles live along the Polish frontier, having settled there long before the Germans colonized the Sudetenland.

It is reported from upper Silesia many young Poles who have deserted from the Czech army have crossed the frontier and have been sent to a special camp at Rybnik.

Refugees at Border.

TESCHEN, Poland [at the Czechoslovak Border], Sept. 20.—(AP)—Several hundred Polish and German refugees, some complaining of persecution in Czechoslovakia and others evading service in the Czechoslovak army, arrived today in this Polish border district.

Other refugees have been trickling across for the last few months.

A big anti-Czechoslovak demonstration was held today in the Polish half of this town.

A resolution was adopted demanding that the government use every means to obtain immediate cession of Czechoslovak Silesia to Poland.

Reports were current in Warsaw of Polish concentrations along this border, but there was no confirmation.

QUEEN O. K.'S MILITARY STEPS FOR GUARDING NETHERLAND'S SAFETY

THE HAGUE, Netherlands, Sept. 20.—(AP)—Queen Wilhelmina opened parliament today with a speech from the throne approving increased military precautions in The Netherlands.

"The continuance of proposed measures for strengthening the military efficiency of the country is indispensable," the queen said.

She asserted steps would be taken for defense of the Netherslands' East Indies and declared military expansion would entail "bigger sacrifices" in taxes.

Poles Get 1,600 Empty Cars to Move Troops to Border

FREE CITY OF DANZIG, Sept. 20.—(AP)—The Polish railroad commission controling the Danzig railway today ordered 1,600 empty cars dispatched at once to Warsaw and the Czechoslovak border. The move was said to be in connection with strengthening the Polish border guard.

ADVERTISE IN THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE

ITALY READY FOR WAR, DUCE CRIES; 'SCORNS' FOES

Dictator Says Fascism Will March On.

UDINE, Italy, Sept. 20.—(AP)—Premier Mussolini warned the world today that his Black Shirt legions, having built a "warrior Italy," would now march on. He emphasized their readiness for war.

Arrow indicates where Mussolini spoke.

In a speech that made no mention of the Czechoslovak crisis, Mussolini exalted "the armed power and spiritual power" of Italy that had liquidated all the old diplomatic tendencies of crippled peace."

"The world will have need of knowing this new Fascist Italy is a warrior Italy, a firm Italy," he shouted into a radio microphone at this northeastern Italian city in the region where twenty years ago Italian troops fought Austrians.

Flays Foreign Critics.

He ripped into Fascism's foreign critics with the suggestion that "it would be well to tear up useless papers," apparently referring to press criticism abroad which has irritated the Italian dictator.

"One of the gravest illnesses from which the contemporary world suffers is the threat of lying, especially when Italy is the subject," he said.

If the Italians were calm while other peoples underwent exaltation, depression or terror, he said, their "admirable conduct" was the result of sixteen years of Fascism which had made "the Italian soul a block of tempered metal."

Though ignoring the Czechoslovak crisis at Udine, earlier in the day while traveling toward Udine he had told inhabitants of Gorizia he had nothing to add to what he said Sunday at Trieste. Then he declared "Italy's place has been chosen" in the case of a general conflict.

His Udine speech was delivered from the same balcony where sixteen years ago on Sept. 20, 1922, he outlined Fascism's aims before the march on Rome. Today he spoke less than twenty minutes in a sword-rattling speech which evoked constant cheering.

Wants to Be Feared.

"Evidently many foreigners preferred the Italy of another epoch," he roared. "Many foreigners whom we have every right to scorn believed the Italian people should exist simply to entertain people from other countries.

"All this is finished irrevocably. We prefer to be feared, and hatred makes no difference to us because we scorn it."

When he spoke briefly at Gorizia Mussolini declared Italy was ready to face "drama" if necessary, a reference his hearers thought was to war.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SAN JOSE, Costa Rica, Sept. 20.—An agreement settling a frontier dispute between Panama and Costa Rica was signed here today and submitted to the Costa Rican senate for examination and ratification.

Under the agreement Panama agrees to give up a section of territory in northwest Panama in exchange for a strip of Costa Rica along the Atlantic coast.

Costa Ricans complained that the territory to be ceded to Panama contains oil. They said the land they will receivee from Panama is of little value. A similar frontier dispute in 1921 resulted in hostilities. Intervention by the United States government quickly settled the disagreement.

COLUMN OF JAPS BESIEGES CITY IN DRIVE ON HANKOW

SHANGHAI, Sept. 20.—(AP)—A column of Japanese troops, well in the vanguard of the campaign against Hankow, tonight was reported threatening the city of Macheng, 55 miles northeast of the provisional Chinese capital.

Despite fierce Chinese opposition and drizzling rains, this force was said to have advanced to the base of the Tapeih mountains, in eastern Hupeh province.

It had speared off to the southwest from Shangcheng, captured several days ago, while another large force proceeded directly west of Shangcheng toward Sinyang, 100 miles north of Hankow on the Peking-Hankow line. The column was reported to be within thirty-five miles of Sinyang tonight.

Still another Japanese column was said to have crossed the new course of the Yellow river in Honan province, occupying Lutan, and was planning to attack Hsuchang, about 230 miles north of Hankow on the Peking-Hankow railway.

12 SLAIN, 60 HURT IN REBEL AIR RAID ON SPANISH TOWN

MADRID, Sept. 20.—(AP)—Twelve persons were killed today and about 60 injured in the first insurgent air raid thus far on Alcoy, important town 28 miles northwest of Alicante. Ten Savoia [Italian made] bombers attacked the town.

Rebels Increase Pressure.

HENDAYE, France [at the Spanish Frontier], Sept. 20.—(AP)—Spanish insurgents increased pressure against the government's northeastern front along the Ebro river today. They developed a counteroffensive designed to drive the militiamen from positions held since July 27.

Government dispatches denied their militiamen were thrown back from many lines of trenches. The government insisted its lines held despite rebel reinforcements for the severe attack which was aided by 100 rebel bombers sweeping over loyalist troops in relays.

HITLER AIMING FOR WHEAT LAND, KIWANIANS TOLD

Five-sixths of all the wars in history have been fought for the possession of wheat land, Clarence Henry, director of education for the Chicago Board of Trade, said yesterday. He spoke at the convention of Kiwanis clubs of Illinois and eastern Iowa in the Edgewater Beach hotel.

"Germany hopes to penetrate the Danube valley and the Ukraine to remedy its bread shortage," Mr. Henry said. "The Danube valley is the only area in Europe outside of Russia that is adapted to the production of wheat in export quantities. Italy went into North Africa in search of cotton and wheat lands."

SUDETEN TROOPS AWAIT SIGNAL TO FIGHT CZECHS

Men Are Eager to March, Commander Says.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

OBERWIESENTHAL, Germany, Sept. 20.—"We may start tomorrow or day after," the commander of the Sudeten German Legion camp in Neudorf declared proudly tonight as he welcomed a representative of THE TRIBUNE.

"Our men are begging for more weapons and they are eager to get going," the camp commander said. He added that provisions have been made to arm the men at a moment's notice whenever the signal is given.

All along the Czechoslovak-German border are small camps containing between 100 and 150 men where Sudeten men and boys from Czechoslovakia are being trained as future volunteers. Hitler guards train them. They are using weapons which belong to Hitler troopers of the neighborhood.

Camps of "Free Corps."

These camps must not be confused with the Sudeten refugee camps. They are the camps of the Sudeten "free corps," which was organized by Konrad Henlein, Sudeten German leader.

On the German side of the border, near Oberwiesenthal, the border patrol has been doubled within the last twenty-four hours. Border guards in green uniforms with rifles slung over their shoulders patrol the roads in pairs.

No soldiers are visible on the Czech side of the border—only the regular border guards. The population of Oberwiesenthal became excited at 3 a. m. today when shots were heard. Four Czech border guards tried to shoot Sudeten Germans fleeing across the border.

A fight between Sudetens and four Czech border guards in Boehmisch-Wiesenthal has developed into something like a routine feud ever since the night of Adolf Hitler's speech in Nuremberg on Sept. 12. At that time Germans crossed the border and hoisted a swastika flag on the customs station. Sudeten refugees have made it a custom to crawl across the border and shout at the Czechs: "We will get you yet."

Czechs Patrol Forest.

As soon as night falls the Czech guards leave the building and patrol the woods. They apparently believe they are safer there than in their building. This delights those observing them from across the border.

One of the most popular men in Oberwiesenthal is a Sudeten German policeman who crossed the border in his uniform. He has had it Nazified by adding a Nazi armlet which is decorated with a swastika.

This noon THE TRIBUNE correspondent watched a refugee walk over the fields near Oberwiesenthal across the border line. The Germans spied him and helped him crawl up a few rocks. They then whisked him off to the town hall, where he registered. He was a husky man whom the Sudeten "free corps" leader said would make an excellent soldier.

THREE SLUGGERS ATTACK OWNER OF BARBER SHOP

Three men armed with pistols and a lead pipe invaded the barber shop of Joseph Finley, 40 years old, yesterday and beat him into insensibility. At the County hospital his condition was said to be critical. The men walked through the shop, which is at 4537 Wallace street, and into Finley's living quarters in the rear, where the slugging occurred.

Capt. Hugh McCarthy of the Stockyards police, said the barber shop had been operated as a cut rate establishment.

FRANCE PLANS TO BUY 600 U. S. PLANE ENGINES

[Copyright: 1938: By the New York Times.]

PARIS, Sept. 20.—To alleviate the shortage of military airplane motors, the government is planning to purchase 600 American Pratt and Whitney 900 H. P. twin Wasps in addition to the 100 Curtiss P-36s previously ordered, it was learned today.

Although the government holds the French construction license for twin Wasp motors, they could be made here only after long delay. This realization reportedly prompted the deal.

It is understood the motors will be mounted in Paris on Breguet bombers which were originally meant to be fitted with pairs of 660 h. p. Hispano-Suiza motors.

It is argued that not only will the twin Wasp motors increase bomber efficiency but will also be cheaper despite the high dollar exchange rate.

PRAGUE TROOPS MAN DEFENSES FACING HUNGARY

Tourists Say Soviet Planes Are in Czechoslovakia.

SATORALJA UJHELY, Hungary, Sept. 20.—(AP)—Residents along this section of the Hungarian-Czechoslovak border failed tonight to share the confidence of their fellow countrymen that Czechoslovakia would return any territory to Hungary without war.

Hopes of regaining areas lost in the post-world war arrangement which created Czechoslovakia were buoyed today in many parts of the country. The reason was that envoys of Hungary joined those of Poland in a conference with Reichsfuehrer Hitler today at Berchtesgaden on the Czechoslovak minorities issue.

Intensified Czechoslovak military activity along Hungary's northeastern frontier, however, increased the feeling of uncertainty among the Hungarian border population.

Czechoslovak troops were seen occupying concrete fortifications with heavy artillery and other equipment, apparently ready for action. Numbers of Czechoslovak soldiers dug trenches in vineyards and sunflower fields.

Forty-five Czechoslovak trains filled with singing troops and military equipment passed near the border last night. The drone of many airplanes came through the inky blackness of the starless night.

Tourists arriving during the day from Czechoslovakia said these planes were from soviet Russia, manned by soviet officers in uniform, and that they landed at Uzhorod airport. Uzhorod is capital of Carpathian Ruthenia, Czechoslovakia's easternmost province. There was no confimation of the report.

With the exception of the tourists, Czechoslovak border guards would not permit any men to cross into Hungary. There was little military preparation to be seen on the Hungarian side. It was said officially, however, that Hungary would increase army detachments "at short notice" if necessary.

ENGLAND CALLED PAWN OF HITLER IN HIS CONQUESTS

united in the reich. At least three and a half million Sudeten Germans will join them soon. Italy and Jugo-Slavia are Germany's military allies. Poland and Hungary are seeking the closest coöperation with Germany. Bulgaria and Greece are known as friends of Germany.

"In Rumania pro-German elements are so strong that nobody—not even the king—would dare oppose Germany's wishes. Japan is Germany's ally in the anti-comintern pact [a treaty against the communist internationale], while Finland and most of the Baltic states are eager for German friendship.

Paints Russia as Meek.

"England and France have shown the evidence of the respect in which they hold the German forces by siding with Germany against Czechoslovakia.

"We are not childish enough to believe these powers suddenly developed a tremendous love for Germany. We know that they realized we are overwhelmingly strong. Russia, which in the world war was the 'steam-roller' that was to finish us, now meekly states that it will not help Czechoslovakia unless France does."

Hungary was the first to put in its bid for a slice of Czechoslovakia today.

Receives Four Leaders.

Hitler received four Budapest leaders. They were Marshal Krestztes-Fischer, army chief of staf; Premier Bela Imredi, Foreign Minister Koloman van Kanya, and State Secretary von Pataky.

An official statement issued after the meeting said:

"The Hungarian minister, President Imredi; Foreign Minister von Kanya, the general staf chief field marshal, Krestztes-Fischer, and State Secretary von Pataky visited the Fuehrer and Reichschancellor in the presence of Foreign Minister von Ribbentrop at Obersalzberg.

"The visit served for an interchange of views regarding the untenable condition in Czechoslovakia.

"Whereas the Fuehrer and Reichschancellor dealt with the German problem, the Hungarian ministers explained thoroughly the equally steadfast and immutable demand of the entire Hungarian people for the right of self-determination of their oppressed co-nationals [700,000] in Czechoslovakia.

After the statement was issued it was disclosed that Admiral Nicholas Horthy, regent of Hungary, has been hunting incognito in East Prussia as a guest of Field Marshal Hermann Wilhelm Goering, minister of air. Horthy in a conference with Goering asked the latter to support the pleas of the Hungarian leaders.

Following the visit of the Hungarians, Hitler received Josef Lipski, Poland's ambassador to Berlin. Lipski was reported to have informed the Fuehrer his nation also wanted the right of self-determination for 100,000 Poles in Czechoslovakia.

Says Benes Delays Peace.

In Godesberg, which is in the throes of feverish preparations for the historical conference between Chamberlain and Hitler, doubts and pessimism crept through the ranks of the expectant Nazis. News received from London indicated that England was not as fully prepared to capitulate to Hitler's wishes as the leading Nazis indicated in earlier conversations.

The German press charged that President Eduard Benes of Czechoslovakia "is trying to delay the restoration of peace in Europe."

The Hamburger Fremdenblatt said: "Prague must free itself of the illusion that it can reckon on any kind of help from other European states if it continues to try to hold up developments. It must be told that the patience of England and France, and above all the German reich, will not stand another strain."

It also forecast that the "present negotiations may lead to an improvement in the relations between the two main axes of European politics"—the Fascist Rome-Berlin axis and the democratic Paris-London axis.

Battle Is Reported.

A battle was reported this morning between Czechoslovak forces and German frontier guards at the German border town of Seidenberg on the Czechoslovak-Silesian border.

German dispatches said that a "Red defense force" clad in the uniforms of Czech soldiers crossed the German border "to raid the Sudeten refugee camp at Seidenberg." The Germans said the Czech attempt to enter the town was repelled by Nazi frontier guards.

It was said the Czechs kept the town and the German customs station under rifle and machine gun fire for one hour and then withdrew to Czech territory. Seventeen German frontier guards were reported wounded while "numerous pools of blood on German territory testify to the Czech casualties."

Another encounter between Sudeten German "free corps" soldiers and Czech troops took place near Schmiedeberg near the Silesian frontier.

The Germans said that nine Sudeten soldiers belonging to a Czech infantry regiment garrisoned in Trautenau tried to reach German territory at dawn.

BALTIC NATIONS ABANDON PLEA FOR PROTECTION

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

RIGA, Latvia, Sept. 20.—The governments of Latvia, Estonia and Lithuania, which had drafted a request addressed to France, Great Britain and soviet Russia to guarantee their neutrality in case of war, have decided to abandon this project, Baltic statesmen said today. A diplomat told THE TRIBUNE correspondent:

"Czechoslovakia's fate again confirms the doubtful value of treaties, alliances and guarantees in Europe. The Baltic entente will continue to attempt to remain neutral, but at the same time we are going to keep our eyes open and try to pick a winner in any conflict which threatens to involve our countries."

The same official said the Lithuanian government has sent assurance to Berlin that Kaunas neither has a military alliance nor an agreement with soviet Russia, and that it opposes any attempted passage of soviet forces through its territory toward East Prussia.

110,000 GERMAN JEWS TO LOSE LICENSES AS TRAVELING SALESMEN

[Copyright: 1938: By the New York Times.]

BERLIN, Sept. 20.—The licenses of all Jewish traveling salesmen and agents expire at the end of this month, as decreed July 6.

The institute for study of the Jewish question reports that of a total of 265,000 agents and traveling salesmen in Germany, 110,000, or approximately 40 per cent, are full Jews, although Jews number less than 1 per cent of the reich's population. A majority of these are Jews engaged in the textile, wine, insurance, shoe, and clothing businesses.

The possibility still exists, says today's press, for Jews to work as representatives in those cities that do not require municipal permits. Many cities, however, including Berlin, have already introduced such control.

FACES SEX CHARGE; KILLS SELF.

Fred Staib ended his life with a bullet Monday because he was facing a sex charge in Criminal court, a coroner's jury decided yesterday. Staib was 54 years old. He killed himself in the home of relatives at 24 Woodside road, Riverside.

TELLS STORY OF BENES' PLAN TO FLEE; ARRESTED

[Copyright: 1938: By the New York Times.]

DRESDEN, Germany, Sept. 20.—The Dresdner Nachrichten reported today from Prague that a high ranking Czech flying officer was arrested for revealing in a bar while inebriated that a trimotored airplane was waiting to carry Eduard Benes out of the country.

The same report alleges that the wife of the shoe manufacturer, Bata, together with the wife of the Ostrau police president, have fled the country.

Passenger planes leaving Prague for the west, but not stopping in Germany, are booked days in advance, the same report declares, mostly by Jews, and plane tickets are selling at great premiums.

DEATH IS HELD ACCIDENTAL.

The death of Miss Sarenella Seegar, former elementary school principal in Forest Park, was accidental, a coroner's jury decided yesterday. Miss Seegar, whose home was in Davenport, Ia., was found dead in the bathtub of her room in the Morrison hotel on Sept. 1.

DAZED BRAKEMAN BLAMED FOR RAIL CRASH KILLING 12

Error in Throwing Switch Held Cause of Crash.

Niland, Cal., Sept. 20.—[Special.]—The mistake of a dazed brakeman was blamed tonight for the desert train crash near here in which twelve persons were killed and at least 100 were injured early today.

Two passenger trains on the Southern Pacific railroad collided at Tortuga, Cal., an isolated water stop eleven miles east of here. One of the trains, the Chicago bound Californian, was on a siding when its sister train, the Argonaut, crashed into it.

Railroad officials said Brakeman Eric L. Jacobson, a veteran of eighteen years railroad service, threw the switch which sent the trains together. In a moment of confusion he believed the switch was wrongly set.

Brakeman Dashes Into Desert.

Hysterical by the effect of his mistake, the brakeman rushed off across the desert. He was brought back and had to be treated as one of the injured. He shrieked over and over: "I'm not crazy, but I don't know why I did it."

The dead included nine passengers. They were Mrs. Emma Hall, 76 years old, Auburn, N. Y.; Mrs. G. A. Hall, Loma Linda, Cal.; Florence A. Tator, Rhinebeck, N. Y.; Miss Rylva Easter, Los Angeles; Mildred Greene, Kalamazoo, Mich.; Mrs. Joseph Sorrels, Nogales, Ariz.; Mrs. Fronia Monroe, Burbank, Cal.; Dorothye Blocker, 14, Dallas, Tex., and Miss Amy King, Mexico, Mo.

The three crew members who died were Robert H. Richardson and H. R. Parsons, engineer and fireman of the Argonaut, both of Los Angeles, and E. Martin of Los Angeles, fireman of the Californian.

Both Locomotives Overturned.

All the passengers were killed in a coach of the Chicago bound Californian, which was telescoped by the terrific impact. The locomotives of both trains were overturned and the first three cars of the Argonaut and the first coach of the Californian were derailed.

Scores of sleeping passengers were sent tumbling from their berths when the trains struck. Screams of the injured and frightened persons came from every coach. Darkness added to the confusion as victims sought to escape from the wrecked coaches.

Many of the passengers were trapped in the twisted steel cars and had to await the arrival of acetylene torches before an opening could be cut for them. Relief trains were sped to the scene from here and from Indio, Cal.

Crash Rips Up Track.

The tumbling cars ripped away several hundred feet of track and tore out telephone and telegraph lines at the scene. Communication was severed among several communities bordering the area.

A relief locomotive pulled the Argonaut's passenger cars back to Yuma, where many of the injured were taken off. Many of those hurt were given first aid treatment at the scene by doctors and nurses hastily recruited from small communities in the sparsely populated area.

Officials of the railroad said it would take several hours to clear away the wreckage, but that service into Los Angeles would be resumed tonight.

TEN LIVES LOST IN NEW ENGLAND STORM MISHAPS

Boston, Mass., Sept. 20.—[Special.]—Ten persons lost their lives today when a storm lashed greater Boston and most of New England. Four days of rain have swept away bridges and dams, piled up huge damage on highways and railroad lines and tied up planes and shipping.

Four young men drowned at Fort Kent, Me., when their automobile plunged into Fish river in a blinding rainstorm and was submerged in 25 feet of water.

Two Boston and Maine trainmen were killed and two others burned when a landslide derailed the locomotive and four cars of a 76 car freight train near East Deerfield, Mass. Four others died in accidents due to the storms.

TROPICAL STORM EXPECTED TO HIT EASTERN COAST

Washington, D. C., Sept. 20.—(AP)—The weather bureau tonight posted storm warnings along the Atlantic coast from the Virginia capes to Atlantic City, including lower Chesapeake bay.

The bureau said a tropical storm, attended by northeast winds, reaching gale force, would hit the Virginia capes section tomorrow and the southern New Jersey coast tomorrow afternoon or night.

The storm, which threatened Florida last night, turned northward in the Atlantic and skipped the Florida area. Tropical storms lose their force as they go north.

HOPE FOR TRUCE IN N. Y. OUTLAW STRIKE IS HIGH

New York, Sept. 20.—(AP)—Acting Mayor Newbold Morris said today there was definite hope for a truce in the six day old outlaw trucking strike that has cost New York an estimated $620,000 daily.

The acting mayor emerged in optimistic mood from a five hour conference and leaders of the rank and file insurgents who precipitated the strike last Thursday.

As the conference went on, hundreds of strikers roamed the congested garment industry district in mid town on instructions from insurgent leaders to tie up 500 trucks by nightfall, permitting the transportation only of perishable foods, hospital supplies and newsprint. Abe Klein, rank and file leader, said he had been assured that New Jersey teamsters would join the strike.

F. F. Hill New Head of U. S. Farm Credit Board

HEARING IS CALLED ON DEPORTATION OF ALIEN HARRY BRIDGES

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Sept. 20.—[Special.] — Representative Martin Dies [D., Tex.], chairman of the house committee investigating un-American activities, announced today that he will conduct hearings in Washington state next week on deportation proceedings against Harry Bridges, C. I. O. labor leader on the west coast.

Bridges, an Australian, is said to be a communist. He has been the central figure in a feud between Dies and Secretary of Labor Frances Perkins because of her alleged protection of Bridges.

Dies recently demanded that Mme. Perkins resume deportation proceedings against Bridges. She defiantly refused.

PUTS BOY UNDER SUPERVISION.

Frank Conley, 17 years old, 1310 Roscoe street, was placed under supervision of the Boy's court for one year yesterday on a charge of being an accessory to burglary. He pushed a smaller boy through the transom of a fruit store.

PAINTS 90 FOOT FLAGPOLE ATOP TRIBUNE TOWER

The American flag did not wave atop Tribune Tower yesterday, nor will it for another day or so. Explanation: The 90 foot flagpole, its gold tip 546 feet above Michigan avenue, was given its biennial coat of fresh paint.

Early yesterday Fred Peterson of 3628 North Albany avenue, a wiry little man who has painted some fifty flagpoles, wormed his way to the tip of the pole. Painting his way down required five hours.

He used a rope scaffold and two gallons of paint. The only difficulty, he observed blithely at the finish, was the temperature. "I froze," he said, rubbing numb hands. "You get every breeze up there."

The flagpole, of tubular steel, is telescopic in construction. It is 22 inches in diameter at the bottom, 4 inches at the tip. A green graphite paint was used.

TRUCK UPSETS; PIGS SCATTER; FOUND IN FIELD

Cries of "Poo-eeeee.. Pig! Pig! Pig!" that were heard early yesterday near 145th street and Cicero avenue were directed at twenty hogs and five cows that escaped when a truck overturned. Ray Lane, 28 years old, of Clinton, Ill., and his helper on the truck enlisted the aid of the state highway police and they called and called. It was not until after dawn, however, that the animals were found in a nearby cornfield.

TWO CONFESS TAKING PART IN PRIGNANO KILLING

Principal Plotter in 1935 Murder Hunted.

found he was accused of murder. He weakened and told his story. It agreed with that of Zelanowski.

"Novak and I," said Zelanowski, "used to live in St. Louis. We ran a little beer there in prohibition. We used to do a job on the same line here sometimes. After that we were safe breakers. In December, 1935, we met a fellow named Jimmy and another one named Mike, both Italians.

"They said they knew a fellow who would be a soft touch for a stickup—a politician with plenty of dough, who wouldn't squawk. This Jimmy was the president of some sort of club. Mike had a saloon on the north side.

It's All Called Off.

"We agreed to go in on a stickup. Mike took us down to Bunker street about Dec. 20 and showed us the man's house. But somebody he knew said hello to Mike on the street and we called it all off.

"On Dec. 29 we drove down by the Sherman hotel and Mike went in and cased the place. After a while he came out and said it was all right, to drive to Bunker street. We did. We waited about two hours and then Prignano drove up.

"I took care of the chauffeur; pushed him back into a passageway. Novak searched Prignano and took his ring and wallet, while the other Mike held a gun on him.

Slaying Is Described.

"Prignano's wife and another lady [her mother, Mrs. Julia Beardmore] started in the house with the boy [Prignano's son, John]. Novak and I started moving over to our car across the street. Mike was standing by Prignano. When Prignano started toward his door Mike followed. Prignano said: 'What do you want? You've got everything I had.' Then Mike shot him, five or six times."

Zelanowski said that he had difficulty starting the car and that all three fled on foot. Later they got together.

"Mike gave us $150 apiece, and said there was $450 in the wallet. Later he gave us $200 apiece, which he said came from the sale of the ring," Zelanowski continued. "He told us we had better separate, so nobody would suspect us."

Coincide With Known Facts.

The story of the two men coincided with the known facts in the case, the police said.

Among those taken into custody during the investigation of the crime were Mrs. Nellie Genovese of 600 Diversey parkway, and Mrs. Frances Genovese, sisters-in-law. They were held from Saturday until yesterday, when they were released on a habeas corpus petition.

Since the murder the most plausible theory concerning the Prignano death was that he had offended some of the politico-criminal alliances in his ward, long known as the bloody 20th. Prignano had great influence in the dispensing of Democratic patronage and funds.

Thief Gets Best of Service; Hotel Helps Him with Bags

The man who rang for the elevator on the seventh floor of the Lansing hotel, 1038 North Dearborn street, had three suitcases. So Fred Lusk, 21 years old, the elevator operator, helped him carry them out to the street. Early yesterday it developed that the suitcases contained clothing and jewelry worth $750 that the man had stolen from the room of Miss Edna Hoskins, a clerk at the First National Bank of Chicago.

Three Miners Killed, Three Trapped by Coal Avalanche

The number of horse betting rooms wrecked by State's Attorney Courtney's ax swingers passed the 200 mark yesterday. There was no celebration by Courtney's policemen, who simply raised the total in their records to 206. They said the weather was about right for their work—cool and dry.

Four loop handbooks were chopped up. They were at 163 North Wabash avenue, 214 North Wells street, 175 North Wells streets, and 74 West Madison street. Two Cicero places were raided, at 2316 South Cicero avenue and 4702 Cermak road. The other six places were at 157 West Kinzie street, 62 West Erie street, 6102 South Central avenue, 414 Rush street, 442 Orleans street where raiders found eight telephones, and 4723 Broadway.

While the raiders chased about 1,400 patrons out of the bookie shops, Assistant State's Attorneys Richard Austin and William Crawford questioned a score of employés found in policy game stations in the colored district.

Police also raided seven handbooks, including two that were later demolished by the district attorney's ax men. They arrested fifteen persons. The mills of justice ground on in South State street court, where Judge Eugene J. Holland freed thirty-seven men charged with gambling by city police. Courtney's men don't bother to place charges after their raids.

future political intentions, he is a favorite among Republican leaders for gubernatorial nominee.

However, this is a disposition among Washington onlookers to doubt he would accept the nomination because of the Hines' trial. There appears no possibility that a retrial could reach a conclusion before election day in November. For a gubernatorial candidate to conduct such an important trial in the midst of his election campaign wiuld be extremely unusual in American politics.

At any rate settlement of this issue is potentially a highly important factor in national politics. There are those who believe Dewey's decision could be as significant as that of Franklin D. Roosevelt in 1928 when he assented to being drafted for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination and thus entered the road toward the White House.

PENN BUILDING INSPECTOR GETS JOB FOR SILENCE

Tell Governor's Call, Then PWA Offer.

BY WILLIAM FULTON.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Harrisburg, Pa., Sept. 20.—[Special.]—Gov. George H. Earle, whose administration is under charges of graft and corruption on an enormous scale, was accused today of having approached a witness who had damaging information on the state's 65 million dollar public works program. The story was given to a special committee of the legislature.

The witness, Isaac Penrod, had found serious flaws in public buildings as an investigator for the state department of justice. The governor called him on the telephone to discuss his investigation, Penrod testified. Then by some unexplained hocus-pocus he was attached to the pay roll of the federal PWA as an assistant engineer.

Tries to Evade Jury Quiz.

Penrod's sensational testimony enlivened a lengthy session of the committee which was created at Earle's instigation to stave off a grand jury inquiry. Five Democrat and two Republican members of the house make up the body which is investigating charges of bribery, extortion, sale of legislation and intimidation of employés under the Earle régime.

The session of the legislative committee droned on until nearly midnight. Penrod has been the only witness for the last two days.

Penrod, hired as an investigator by Charles J. Margiotti, the attorney general who was fired by Earle because he demanded a grand jury investigation into the administration scandals, minutely inspected several big projects carried out under contracts awarded by the state general authority.

Contracts to McCloskey.

Numerous flaws and construction work in violations of contract specifications were found in the 4 million dollar state finance building and the farm show arena here in Harrisburg, the witness testified. Both contracts were awarded to Matthew H. McCloskey, who lent $26,500 to the governor and received 10 million dollars worth of construction work.

Then in the midst of his story tonight Penrod admitted that on June 16 he had received a telephone call from the governor. Earle asked him whether he was investigating the state authority.

Penrod replied he was not investigating the state authority but the contracts of the authority, whereupon the governor was quoted as having said, "I want you to know those contracts are clean."

Story Told to Employer.

To this Penrod replied that they may be and rushed off to tell Edward Friedman, Margiotti's assistant, of the episode. Then he repeated his story over the long distance telephone to Margiotti in Pittsburgh.

Abram Salsburg, counsel for the committee, attempted to pass the story off as a joke somebody had played on the witness. Penrod, however, revealed upon questioning of Republican members of the committee that he had talked to the governor on previous occasions. This lent credence to the story that it was Earle's voice he heard over the wire.

Near the end of the session Elwood Turner, a Republican member of the committee, demanded to know the identity of a man sitting beside Salsburg and feeding him technical engineering questions to be fired at the witness.

It developed that the man was John Borden, construction superintendent for McCloskey on the state finance building. The Republican on the committee hooted at the idea of the legislative body investigating McCloskey and having his man Friday advising counsel on how to conduct the investigation. One of the charges the committee is supposed to investigate is that McCloskey's men acted as the state's inspectors on the projects.

Earle Gets C. I. O. Support.

While the governor's official conduct was under scrutiny inside the statehouse his political fences were being mended on the outside. Earle is the Democratic nominee for the senate. He and his running mate for governor, Charles Alvin Jones, were indorsed tonight by the C. I. O. The C. I. O. backed Lieut. Gov. Thomas Kennedy, secretary-treasurer of the United Mine Workers, against Jones for the nomination and was licked by 60,000 votes.

John L. Lewis, C. I. O. chairman, sunk half a million dollars, or the equivalent of a dollar for each vote cast for Kennedy, in the campaign to gain control of Pennsylvania.

MISS COUNTISS FACES ACCUSER IN ESTATE CASE

Miss Henrietta Countiss was in court again yesterday in her battle with her stepfather over the $750,000 estate left by her mother.

But this time it was the heiress who was accused and her stepfather, Lawrence H. Whiting, president of the Furniture Mart, who made the accusations. He told Judge Stanley H. Klarkowski Miss Countiss had taken valuables from the estate and demanded that she return them.

Miss Countiss was accompanied by her brother, Frederick, and her attorney, Harry G. Fins. Whiting was in court with his attorney, John D. Black. The judge took the matter under advisement. Miss Countiss has made frequent objections to Whiting's administration of the estate.

OFFER OF 2 BRIDGES IN MARYLAND PURGE DENIED BY ROOSEVELT

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Sept. 20.—[Special.]—President Roosevelt today denied that he had promised two PWA bridges to Maryland in his unsuccessful invasion of the state in behalf of the candidacy of Representative David J. Lewis against Senator Millard Tydings.

The bridges were mentioned at the President's press conference when he was asked to comment on the action of Secretary of the Interior Harold L. Ickes last week in turning thumbs down on them.

The bridges were a proposed $3,500,000 span across the Potomac river at Morgantown, Md., and a $2,500,000 structure across Chesapeake bay at Havre de Grace, Md.

Two days before the election Roosevelt ordered Ickes to give the right of way to the bridges. Lewis was routed in a Tydings landslide. Last week Ickes said the bridges were just where they always were—in the pigeon hole where they have rested since 1934.

The President dismissed his part in the bridges as a political newspaper story. He said it would be a waste of time for him to tell the truth.

WIFE SENTENCED FOR HELPING TWO IN JAIL BREAK

Cleveland, O., Sept. 20.—(AP)—Mrs. Barbara Bird, 20 years old, pleaded guilty in federal court today to aiding her husband Charles and his brother Frank in their escape from jail here a year ago. She also admitted helping in their robberies. She was sentenced to four years in Milan, Mich., federal reformatory. She was brought here this morning from Baltimore. At Milan Mrs. Bird will await the birth of a child, expected in December. Her sister, Sylvia—wife of Frank Bird—already is at Milan under a similar sentence for the same offense. Charles Bird is under a forty-five year sentence for robbery in Maryland. Frank Bird is serving forty-five years in Alcatraz for bank robbery.

Moving Forward

Marshall Field & Company presents here each day observations and opinions intended to be of interest and value to those it seeks to serve.

FORTY-NINE YEARS

By CALEB

HIS NAME is Charley, and for forty-nine years and seven months he has stood at the store entrance on Washington Street, winter and summer, rain or shine, to open doors and offer assistance to three generations of Chicago shoppers at Marshall Field's.

His face is tanned as brown as saddle leather by the wind, and deep wrinkles crease his cheeks, their fan-like patterns etched by years of squinting into the sunlit street. Forty-nine years . . . and in that time Charley has addressed the great, the socially prominent and the traveler from afar with equal aplomb and imperturbable courtesy. He has swung youngsters from a carriage to the street—and lived to help their children too, before the same doorway. He has known by sight and name most of the social leaders of the past fifty years.

It all began because Charley loved horses. In the late nineties he was coachman for an eminent Chicago family. There were five horses, two Victorias and a Brougham under his watchful care—brass harness trim to be burnished till it shone—harness chains to be polished in a bag of sand—wine colored upholstery to keep spick and span.

In 1888 he drove a team of spanking grays to a blue ribbon in the great show at Exhibition Hall where the Art Institute stands today. Charley, magnificent in silk hat, white buckskin breeches, top boots, maroon coat and high white stock triumphed again in 1889—and sought new worlds to conquer.

He greatly admired Mr. Marshall Field and asked for an assignment at the store. He was made doorman at the Washington Street entrance, and from that moment to this, it has been known as "Charley's door." Charley has watched the dazzling carriage turnouts and fine horse flesh give way before the automobile. Glistening limousines—high, glassed-in Locomobiles, Pierce Arrows, Fiats and Stevens-Duryeas—moved in with gaseous splendor.

And now innumerable sleek, silent cars weave in and out of an endless traffic stream to Charley's oasis of long standing set firmly against a changing world. Forty-nine years . . . "It's just the same," says Charley. "People are nice—I enjoy helping them. But," with a wistful smile, "I miss the horses."

G. O. P. ROLLS UP HEAVY VOTE IN WISCONSIN RACE

Leads Both Progressives and Democrats.

BY THORNTON SMITH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Milwaukee, Wis., Sept. 20.—Stimulated by sharp contests for the nominations for United States senator and for governor, the Republicans in their primary today were piling up a greater number of votes than either Progressives or the Democrats.

The vote for governor in the first 616 of the 2,994 precincts gave the Republican candidates 29,342 votes, the Progressives 20,389, and the Democrats 10,675.

The coalition candidate for governor, Robert K. Henry, former Democratic treasurer, was behind Julius P. Heil, Milwaukee manufacturer, in early returns in the Republican primary, but had a substantial lead over Jerome F. Fox, convention indorsed candidate for the Democratic nomination.

Seek La Follette Defeat.

The coalition ticket was backed by a bipartisan committee which hoped to force a two man race in November by nominating Henry on both tickets. Their position is that Gov. Philip F. La Follette always has been elected by a minority vote and that the only way to beat him is by a consolidation of the conservative strength.

Coalition was opposed by the leaders of both old parties. Today's vote was the first test of its strength.

In the first 616 precincts Heil led Henry, 14,199 to 10,341, in the Republican primary. Henry led Fox, 5,301 to 4,409, in the Democratic lists. James G. Peterson, farmer candidate, received 3,485 votes. C. L. Miller of Madison, running on a platform of purely personal popularity, received 1,317 ballots in the Republican primary. Edward G. Ihlenfeldt was running third in the Democratic primary with 965 votes.

Wiley Leads Senate Race.

A six man race for the Republican nomination for the United States senate showed Alexander Wiley, candidate for governor two years ago, and John B. Chapple, who twice was defeated for the senate, out in front in the first 524 precincts tabulated. Herman L. Ekern, the choice of Gov. La Follette for the Progressive nomination for the senate, was leading Thomas R. Amlie, radical congressman from the 1st district. Ekern polled 8,929 and Amlie 6,406.

Amlie had the support of the Milwaukee Socialists and the indorsement of the Farmer-Labor-Progressive federation, the C. I. O., and the extremist elements in the state. Ekern, who recently was appointed lieutenant governor by La Follette, was supported by the right wing Progressives, the more conservative former Republicans who followed the La Follettes when they broke away to form their own party several years ago.

The vote in the Republican senatorial race in 524 precincts was Wiley, 7,881; Chapple, 6,111; Edward J. Samp, former state chairman, 2,899; William J. Campbell, Oshkosh lumberman and father of the coalition movement, 4,902; William H. Stafford, 1,422, and Stephen McMahon, 834.

Chapple Makes One Speech.

Chapple made only one speech during the campaign, in which he indorsed a system of old age relief "along the lines of the Townsend plan." He had the indorsement of the Townsend clubs.

The heavy Republican vote was considered more significant because the first returns were from rural or suburban precincts, where the polls closed in late afternoon. Such precincts usually have given the Progressives a good lead.

It is a notable reversal from four years ago, when the Republicans fell to third place, with the Progressives second. In the primary of 1936 the Progressives were in first place, the Republicans second, and the Democrats third.

The vote in the 1934 primary was: Democrats, 222,175; Progressives, 161,974; Republicans, 148,838, and Socialists, 28,877. Total 561,864.

The vote in the 1936 primary was: Progressives, 178,134; Republicans, 166,155, and Democrats, 146,767. Total, 491,056.

Gov. La Follette was not seriously threatened for his nomination in the Progressive primary for an unprecedented fourth term by the candidacy of Glenn E. Turner, Madison Socialist indorsed by the Socialists and the Farmer-Labor federation. The first 616 precincts gave La Follette 16,522 and Turner 3,867. The competition between Ekern and Amlie is considered a more accurate yardstick of the division of the Wisconsin radical party into a right and left branch.

SON GIVES UP TO FACE $125,000 FRAUD CASE; JAILED WITH MOTHER

Robert E. Alt.

Robert Eugene Alt, who is accused of a $125,000 swindle, was locked up in the county jail last night. He was unable to post $5,000 bond set by United States Commissioner Edwin K. Walker.

Alt surrendered yesterday on a warant charging use of the mails to defraud. He pleaded not guilty. His mother, Maude, who spells her last name Ault, was arrested Sunday on a similar warant and taken to Danville yesterday.

According to postal inspectors Alt told his alleged victims a false story to the effect that he and his mother were heirs to a 30 million dollar estate left by a prohibition rum runner, now dead. Alt and his mother are accused of obtaining $125,000 by saying the money would be used to finance litigation to recover the estate from the government. The 30 million dollar estate never existed, the investigators added.

Alt lives at 1145 Thatcher avenue, River Forest.

CURLEY LEADS GOV. HURLEY

Boston, Mass., Sept. 20.—(AP)—Leverett Saltonstall, socially prominent Bostonian, tonight captured the Republican nomination for governor in a crowded Massachusetts primary, while an old line political figure, former Gov. James M. Curley, was the apparent winner of the Democratic gubernatorial nomination.

Unofficial returns from 1,024 precincts out of 1,762 in the Democratic gubernatorial primary tonight gave: Gov. Hurley, 82,175; ex-Gov. Curley, 124,801; Lieut. Gov. Francis E. Kelly, 54,419; Richard M. Russell, 16,063.

For the Republican gubernatorial nomination the same precincts gave: Frederick Butler, 15,249; William McMasters, 22,153; Saltonstall, 157,341; Richard Whitcomb, 19,034.

BARBOUR SWAMPS FOES

Newark, N. J., Sept. 20.—(AP)—Unofficial returns from 1,859 of New Jersey's 3,577 districts gave former Senator W. Warren Barbour an insurmountable lead over two opponents for the Republican United States senate nomination today. Barbour polled 126,433 votes to 5,030 for C. Dan Coskey, self-styled Progressive, and 7,555 for George O. Pullen, Townsend plan advocate.

Former State WPA Administrator William H. J. Ely, unopposed for the Democratic senate nomination, polled 165,269 votes in 1,866 districts.

WINNETKA VOTES, 3-1, TO ASK FEDERAL HELP ON CROSSING PROJECT

Winnetka residents voted 3 to 1 by post card ballot yesterday in favor of asking the federal government for a grant of $1,552,500 toward a proposed $3,450,000 grade separation project. A total of 1,800 of 5,500 ballots were returned.

The council sought this expression of opinion from the villagers after several had expressed opposition to using government funds at a public hearing Sept. 6. The project would provide for one underpass and eight highway crossings over the tracks of the North Western and North Shore and Milwaukee railroads, which run parallel through Winnetka.

The Illinois commerce commission yesterday began hearing on the village's petition for authority to build the project.

G. O. P. WOMEN TO OPEN STUDY PARLEY TODAY

Fifteen hundred Republican women will assemble today in the La Salle hotel to begin a two day study conference under the direction of Mrs. Mabel R. Krutckoff, women's division chairman. It will put into complete operation the clearing house of facts which has been set up by the Cook county Republican central committee.

The program will cover five meetings, the first to open at 10:30 o'clock this morning, and the second this afternoon. Three sessions have been arranged for tomorrow, the evening meeting to be a dinner for both men and women.

Civic leaders, taking as their theme the connection between the home and politics, will discuss school problems, courts, labor unions, the theater, and many other controversial questions.

Then, when they have finished, each woman will be asked to fill out a questionnaire, from which the committee hopes to learn the trend of thought among women. It will be unsigned. The facts will show, Mrs. Krutckoff believes, the scope as well as the limitation of political education among homemakers. These findings will be compiled and used as a basis for future study groups.

SUBURBS FAVOR NORTHWEST 'L' HIGHWAY TO LOOP

Join Chicagoans to Get 9 Million Project.

BY HAL FOUST.

Suburbs northwest of Chicago yesterday petitioned for construction of an elevated highway northwest from the loop. They addressed their appeal to Gov. Henry Horner, Mayor Edward J. Kelly, and President Clayton F. Smith of the Cook county board.

The action was taken at a meeting in Des Plaines sponsored by the Chicago Motor club. In passing their resolution the suburbs concurred in similar action by a group of civic clubs in the northwestern section of Chicago last week.

Trafic Flow Tremendous.

Into this corner of Chicago flows a heavy commuter, resort, and commercial trafic, a large portion of it headed for the loop. The Skokie road, with a daily movement of 12,500 vehicles, carries downtown workers to and from north shore homes. Waukegan and Milwaukee roads are also main highways to and from the north. To the northwest are Rand road, Higgins road, and Northwest highway, all adding to this concentration of automobiles.

James E. Bulger, a director of the motor club, told this meeting of 36 suburban officials and civic leaders of a plan for nine miles of elevated highway from the loop to the vicinity of Central and Foster avenues, paralleling the North Western railroad embankment. He said that such an improvement, costing approximately $9,000,000, would save this heavy trafic three miles and from 16 to 18 minutes of driving.

"Our city council," said Mayor Hobart Ahbe of Des Plaines, "will join with this civic group in urging the project. There is no improvement that could do more for this section of Cook county."

Park Ridge Aid Pledged.

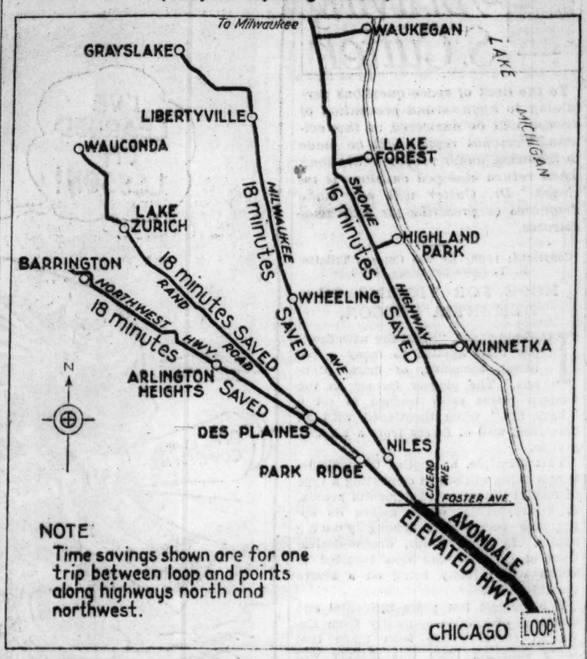
Christian F. Nast, city clerk of Park Ridge, and James W. Cuthbert, Park Ridge's superintendent of public works, said they were instructed by their mayor to promise the support of their city to this promotion. Bulger announced that he had similar messages from organizations in Waukegan, Highland Park, Wheeling, and Barrington.

"These suburbs," said Bulger, "are doing a good job in reducing the death rate on their own streets. One of their main concerns is the hazard on Chicago streets in driving to and from the loop. An elevated highway properly designed eliminates causes which account for 98 per cent of Chicago's motor toll.

"Aside from this humanitarian aspect, you suburbanites appreciate how the value of your real estate will be increased by being brought closer to the loop."

Time Factor in Elevated Highway

(Story in adjoining column.)



Time which could be saved for motorists on principal routes to the northwest if there was an elevated highway on Avondale avenue. Suburbs northwest of Chicago yesterday petitioned for the improvement.

STRUCK BY CAR, VICTIM DIES OF HEAD INJURIES

Herman Olson, 70 years old, of 7536 South Morgan street, died in the Englewood hospital yesterday of a skull fracture incurred Sunday when he was struck by an automobile while crossing 76th street at Halsted street. Samuel Ford, 6335 Lakeside avenue, the driver of the car, was not held.

Abbott Sherwood, 73 years old, an inmate of the Oak Forest infirmary, died last night of a skull fracture incurred Sunday. He was struck at Cicero avenue and 126th street by a car driven by Emery Clark, 43 years old, of Kankakee.

Andrew Johnson, 52 years old, 921 Windsor avenue, who was struck by a truck on Sept. 15 at Clark and Lake streets, died early today of his injuries. The truck was driven by Leonard Katz, 1848 Humboldt boulevard.

A middle aged man, who was struck and knocked unconscious by a car at Jackson boulevard and Homan avenue Monday night, was identified yesterday as John Pyne, 50 years old, of 3523 Jackson boulevard. He has a possible skull fracture and his left arm and leg are broken. The driver of the car, William Bolton, 38 years old, of 5322 Drummond place, was not held.

Up until 4 p. m. yesterday, 576 persons had been killed by automobiles in Cook county since Jan. 1. Of these 442 were killed in Chicago, where 14,128 were injured in the same period.

ARMED PAIR ROB LIQUOR STORE.

Two armed men last night held up the liquor store at 5123 North Clark street, forced the owner, Morris Markowitz, to the rear, and robbed the cash register of $100, Markowitz told police.

PASTOR JAILED IN CHECK FRAUD AGAINST BANKS

Plymouth, Ind., Sept. 20.—[Special.]—The Rev. Miles Freeman, pastor of a church in Spring Lake, Mich., is in jail here on a charge of issuing false checks.

He is accused of depositing approximately $900 worth of bad checks in a bank in Bremen, Ind., last Friday. The same afternoon he returned to the bank, it is charged, and drew out $700.

Freeman, who is 31 years old, was arrested yesterday in Ypsilanti, Mich., when he allegedly tried the same fraud in a bank there.

THE WAR MONGERS.

The conflict over Czechoslovakia shows once more that the willingness of Hitler and Mussolini to resort to war is shared by left wingers in all countries where they are free to express themselves.

There were no munition makers, no captains of industry and no international bankers in the crowd which demonstrated in London for continued opposition to Hitler. The demonstrators were recruited from the Labor party and the groups to the left of it. Much the same picture is presented in France. There the outspoken criticism of the Chamberlain-Daladier policy comes from the Socialist and communist press.

The left wingers, not only in Europe but also in this country, prefer the risks of war to the risks of peace. Left wing and pacifist are no longer synonymous, as they were twenty years and even ten years ago. The left wing has given its full support to preparations for war in all the important democratic countries and today, by and large, it is whooping for war and characterizing the refusal of Chamberlain and Daladier to resort to arms as both stupid and craven. The warrior state with its disregard for individual liberties and its pugnacious foreign policy is as much the ideal of the leftists as it was of Sparta or as it is of the contemporary dictatorships.

The left wing in this country is no exception to the rule. It cheered Mr. Roosevelt's speech at the dedication of the outer bridge in Chicago, the speech in which he declared himself in favor of "quarantining" aggressor nations. The more conservative elements opposed Mr. Roosevelt's doctrin, and pointed out that his policy was a first long step toward involving this country in another futile war to save the world.

The communists in this country, led by Earl Browder, are throwing all their strength to Mr. Roosevelt and are making every effort to increase their already considerable influence over him. They recognize his dependence upon the C. I. O. for votes and intend to use that as a lever. Hence the concentration of the communists upon gaining control of the C. I. O.; with it they can push him further and further on the road to war as any ally of Stalin against Stalin's enemies in Europe and Asia.

The left wing is bellicose. It foresees a war and hopes to engage the United States in the conflict to save the world for bolshevism. Americans who wish to keep their country out of another European inferno and preserve American freedom have every reason to fear the Roosevelt foreign policy. He is already responsive to left wing influence and will become more responsive as his political dependence upon the left wing increases as a result of the attempted purge of his conservative backers.

In this connection it must be remembered that early in his political career he was strongly influenced by Woodrow Wilson and his quarantine speech shows how readily his thinking falls into the interventionist pattern. Browder could not have devised a better tool for his purposes than Mr. Roosevelt.

ORGANIZING THE WPA.

The American Federation of Labor has started to organize WPA workers in New York. The extent of its organization campaign has not yet been made clear. It is apparent, however, that the A. F. of L. leaders are concerned to head off recruiting by the communist inspired and dominated Workers' alliance, which for a year has been dickering for membership in the C. I. O.

So far as the WPA worker is concerned, if he is going to organize, he will be better off under the guidance of responsible labor leaders than as a tool of communists. One of the reasons given for the A. F. of L. drive is the amount of time spent by Workers' alliance locals on activities, causes and shakedowns for funds which have nothing to do with the members' immediate interest in WPA jobs.

But the real significance of the federation's action is its implied recognition that WPA is here to stay. An announced purpose of the new union is "to support the principles of WPA and work for its continuance."

The country was led to believe that WPA was a temporary expedient in an emergency. It was assured that WPA would not compete with industry, would release its employés as quickly as industry had places for them.

The country hoped that this was true. It still hopes so, even if it is coming to believe otherwise. William Green, president of the A. F. of L., hopes so. In his Labor day speech at Providence he made plain his lack of faith in government spending as a road to real recovery.

But Mr. Green and his colleagues in the federation, whatever their hopes, are realists. They see the probability that WPA is no temporary device, but a permanent institution. If it is going to be permanent, it is to the advantage of organized labor to get its employés inside the union fold. If they thought it temporary, soon to be liquidated, they would not be concerned.

Word also comes from New York of formation of another organization, the WPA Employés Association of America. Its leaders propose to "mold an army of 3,000,000 men and women and their dependents" to keep the President in office and vote for his yes-men.

The obvious quid pro quo of the molders will be the privilege of shaking down the unfortunates on WPA for part of their meager earnings, to be converted to political uses or the enrichment of the leaders.

ANOTHER CONTEMPT CASE.

Harry Bridges, leader of the C. I. O. waterfront unions on the west coast, has been held in contempt of court in Los Angeles. Bridges is a man of violence and the cause he represents is menacing to this country, as THE TRIBUNE has frequently had occasion to point out; but he was not guilty of contempt and the court erred in finding him so.

If Bridges is deportable he should be deported. But to hold him in contempt of court for what he did is to set a precedent for invasions of the rights of free speech, free press and petition in this country, and to open the door wide to other tyrannous abuses.

The facts in the Bridges case are these: On Jan. 21 of this year Judge Schmidt in Los Angeles decided an injunction suit against Bridges' union and in favor of the rival A. F. of L. union. Bridges' union immediately requested a rehearing. A few days later, on Jan. 24, Bridges sent a telegram to Secretary Perkins in Washington in which he characterized the verdict as "outrageous" in view of his claim that the A. F. of L. union had only fifteen members and his union had 3,000. "Attempted enforcement of Schmidt decision," he said, "will tie up port of Los Angeles and involve entire Pacific coast." He concluded with the statement that his union "does not intend to allow state courts to override the majority vote of members in choosing its officers and representatives and to override the National Labor Relations board." Copies of the telegram were given to the press.

The contempt charges against Bridges, like those recently brought against the Los Angeles Times, were put forward by a committee of the Los Angeles Bar association acting as friends of the court. The best that can be said of their action is that it is picayunish; the worst is that they are attacking the fundamental liberties of the American people.

Their doctrin appears to be that a judge is a peculiarly susceptible individual who is so open to suggestion that no one dare discuss a pending case for fear that the judge might hear his remarks and be swayed by them. And that is brazen nonsense. To discuss a pending case with a judge out of court is bad manners, though many laymen don't know it; an outright attempt to sway his verdict is plainly contemptuous and should be punished; but every judge who has ever heard an important case has been obliged to hear it discussed out of court and even inexperienced judges have learned to ignore this kind of talk. If the judges were as susceptible to suggestion as the complaints in these cases assume the judges should be locked up like jurymen.

In Bridges' case another point is raised. Bridges' telegram was, in effect, a petition to the government at Washington for the redress of grievances. He had a right to send it if he thought he was aggrieved and a right to give it to the newspapers for publication if they chose to print it. The fact that he had petitioned for a rehearing of his case could not deprive him of his constitutional right of petition.

Several months after the telegram was sent Bridges' union was granted the rehearing it requested and at that time the previous decision was reversed. It may be that the lawyers who brought the charges were of the opinion that the telegram actually served to influence the judge to change his mind. If so, instead of proceeding against Bridges they should have proceeded against the judge and demanded his removal as a coward and a weakling.

Editorial of the Day

IF ALL MOTORISTS KNEW THIS.

If all motorists in this country knew that science had determined by carefully worked out calculations that one-fifth of them, which would be several millions, actually miss death by a split second on the highways they would resolve, if they had any sense at all, to increase their margin of safety. A report to this effect—and it is dependable—was made at the annual meeting a few days ago of the American Psychological association in Columbus, O.

This is the story, and it is an interesting one: It is the habit of 20 per cent of the drivers of cars on the highways of the country to allow themselves less than one second to clear an oncoming car when they are passing another going in the same direction. This was determined by motion pictures taken from a moving car, with all the elements of timing precisely recorded and without the motorists knowing they were being submitted to such tests.

T. W. Forbes and T. M. Matson of Yale university drove through the middle west, the far west, and the northeast with their motion picture camera. Records were made showing the time consumed by passing cars in going around others on two lane highways and in getting back to the right side of the road. The tests were made only when cars were approaching from the other direction, headon collisions with which would have been unavoidable if the narrow margin of safety provided by a split second had not been sufficient.

The investigators noted the time consumed, after the driver passed the car going in the same direction, in getting back to the right side of the road out of the way of oncoming trafic. Every fifth driver so tested did it in less than a second, got over to the right side of the road before the oncoming cars arrived at the point where a collision would have occurred. It was concluded by the investigators that one-half the number tested, or one-tenth of the drivers, definitly were operating in "a danger zone." They were missing almost certain death by too small a fraction of a second for it to be considered reasonably safe.

There never has been any question as to what was the most dangerous thing a motorist could do on the highway. It is now and always has been passing cars going in the same direction and against oncoming trafic. If a driver waits until oncoming trafic is some hundreds of yards away he can take his time and avoid cutting in ahead too soon, thus widening his own margin of safety and that of the car he has passed. Let motorists who read this resolve hereafter to give themselves more time than a split second in avoiding headon collisions on the road.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

Hew to the Line, let the quips fall where they may. Reg. U.S. Pat. Office

"HEW TO LINE" SEMINAR.

When Roscoe Conkling referred to Gen. Grant as a man who would "hew to the line, let the chips fly where they may," he was speaking to the understanding of his hearers and used a figure of speech familiar in homely common sense.

"Hew to the line, no matter where your chips fall," was an early American master workman's instruction to men under his direction. In those days logs for sills under the better class of frame houses and for general heavy mill construction were squared up with a broadax. The master workman would select a log which could be squared to the size wanted, and hew it flat on one side; then, turning that side up, he would run a keel line down each side of the flat face, marking the amount to be hewn away in squaring the timber. The workman who followed must hew to the line set by the man in charge of the work. A good workman would cut and chip evenly and the chips would all fall about the same distance from the log, but he kept his eye on the line and let the chips go where they would.

An inexperienced workman might spoil a timber to make a nice line of chips. Conkling was characterizing his candidate as a safe man who would spoil no timber. M. H. B.

In hewing logs to the required seven inch thickness for the pioneer log cabin, a line was stretched lengthwise of the log. If the man with the broadax, as he worked down the log, failed to concentrate, and severed the line, he was a second rate axman. Come out and take a look at my grampa's broadax some time. ever ask people what they'd like in the way of Heaven, as a place to room and board? I mean, if You do, there are a few things I'd like to ask for when I get there.

Look, God, I'm selfish—can I have a private Heaven? Can I, please, have a tall, lonely, peaceful hillside, windswept and sunny, with the keen sweetness of autumn air, like heady wine, spicy with autumn leaves burning in the valley, blowing in my face?

A hillside overlooking a green valley, overlooking a broad still river flowing serenely, where there is silence and loneliness, and where one's soul can be all of a piece? Is that too much to ask?

No harps, please; and O, please, no golden streets.

I want the green and bronze and scarlet out their time, are content to die.

No streets, God. Please, no streets.

But Who Said It First?

As a good companion of another "old war-horse of the aile seats" let me help you keep the record straight. It wasn't my beloved friend, Percy Hammond, who complained of the nearness of his chair to the footlights; it was my beloved husband. As evidence I quote from Thoda Cocroft's little biography of Ashton Stevens, published in Theatre magazine for September, 1927:

"When Marjorie Rambeau was appearing in a preposterous vehicle at the La Salle theater Stevens remarked: 'These seats are terrible. You can hear every word.' And again he observed when a trunk was brought on during the second act of a dull piece: 'Well, I hope they find a play in that trunk.'"

HOPE FOR VICTIMS OF DEMENTIA PRECOX.

THE old adage, "Fight fire with fire," has been applied to many a political, economic, or moral problem. The pioneer farmer on the western plains early learned to set a "back fire" when threatened with an onrushing wall of flames from a burning prairie.

This principle, as applied to medicine, is now being utilized in combating a type of mental illness called dementia precox, or schizophrenia, which makes its appearance occasionally among young adults. In other words, drugs—derivatives of camphor—are now resorted to which will actually bring on a severe mental shock.

For the last few years incidental and scattered observations—mostly from European sources—have been made that those suffering from this malady will improve greatly, if not get well entirely, following a "fit." It was not until two years ago, however, that Friedman of the Buffalo General hospital demonstrated the plan successfully. Out of twenty subjects complete remission occurred in fifteen. Another writer reported that he had given the treatment 1,000 times and with no serious injury to any patient, although he admitted that some risk was involved. The results were favorable in 50 per cent of his cases.

The scheme of using the chemical known as metrazol [pentamethylenetrazol]—a white crystalline powder, easily soluble in water—has now been employed in many medical centers in the United States. Tests first were made by administering camphor dissolved in oil into the muscles. This was done to determine the patient's reaction to the drug and it was continued until a convulsion was produced. Later one and one-half teaspoonfuls of a 10 per cent solution of metrazol in water was injected into a vein. The doses were given every other day with fractional increases provided no seizure occurred.

Superior in many ways to insulin shock [which produces a low blood sugar with unconsciousness], it was shown that metrazol did not endanger the reserve of the patient. Furthermore, the attack was over within a few seconds and, in fact, within an hour or two the individual could be up and about ready to carry on the routine of the day.

Later experiments, however, taught that the preliminary administration of camphor in oil was unnecessary and the method has now been standardized, producing approximately twenty convulsions before a rest or interval stage is allowed. Depending upon the response, the decision to continue or stop the treatment is made.

The case is reported by D. C. Wilson of a woman of 35 in whom mental symptoms had been noted for some time. As a girl she had experienced difficulty in school because — so she stated — people talked about her. Her thinking was confused and she exhibited signs of manic depressive psychosis. After remaining in a noncommunicative state for nearly two years she developed definite delusions—a former suitor was in constant attendance singing and talking to her. Twenty doses of metrazol occasioned in all seventeen major periods of unconsciousness and recovery proceeded to the point at which she is now able to care for her home. As far as can be seen, her conduct is normal in every way.

While it is too early to determine whether metrazol or the insulin shock will be more satisfactory, yet good effects have followed the use of each. At any rate we now envision the first real light that has been shed upon one of our most distressing disorders of the mind.

While the treatment may appear to some as cruel, there is no real discomfort. There need be no hesitation in accepting the regimen, as without some such drastic remedy few of those afflicted are cured, although some are able to readjust themselves in fair degree.

TRUCK PARKING.

Chicago, Sept. 15.—[Friend of the People.]—Every night there are about a half dozen large five ton trucks parked in our block. This makes the street look like a truckers' paradise and I am wondering if there isn't some city ordinance which forbids parking of these large trucks in the street all night. Anything you can do about this will be appreciated. F. S.

Patrolmen on post duty investigated this complaint and report they visited the location and found two trucks parked and issued summons to owners.

Subsequent visits revealed that the parking had been discontinued. We will continue inspection of the territory and any violations will be dealt with according to law.

SHIVER IN A COLD FLAT.

Chicago, Sept. 18.—According to city ordinances apartment houses do not have to be furnished with heat between May 1 and Oct. 1. Most building corporations take advantage of this ordinance.

Last May, a decidedly cold month, and now again in September we, in our apartment, are having to endure colds, due to room temperatures of from 55 to 65 degrees. Combine this with a brisk wind off the lake and the steady rains of this month and you have a splendid forerunner of ill health, which will carry some of us through the months from now until June.

If a city ordinance is passed for the people's good, not a certain group, why can't the law provide that heat must be given when the temperature falls below 68 degrees? L. C.

FLOODED BASEMENTS.

Chicago, Sept. 16.—Residents of the south end of the 23d ward are troubled with floods in the basements. Many families are living in these rooms now because of the recession and high rents elsewhere. Whenever it rains these rooms are flooded because the sewers cannot cope with the water. Heavy rainfall this year has made it doubly hard, because their furniture and clothing are damp from the constant flooding. Last Monday, during a heavy rainstorm, some had as much as two feet of water; all had at least nine inches. I am sure this is none too healthy.

The remedy is larger water sewers. The north side of the ward has them and there is no such trouble. Could you please bring this to the attention of the proper authorities? I read your column daily and I saw the many instances you have helped others.

We are preparing a petition should this prove insufficient. M. SIMA.

AN "AMERICAN FRONT" PARTY.

Chicago, Sept. 16.—Your interesting editorial on "American" Democrats and Republicans closes with the suggestion that the "disinherited and ousted Democrats" will have to join with the Republicans "to present an American front which will command more votes than can be pulled by the Roosevelt and Browder combination."

Why should not this new grouping be suitably named the "American Front" party? Surely no true loyalist to our country could object to enlisting under such a banner.

Let the radicals organize a United Front if they like, but give those who believe in the American system of balances in government, in liberty and justice to the individual on a truly equal basis, in government control of business to avoid unfairness but without government operation of business, the name "American Front" party!"

AMERICA FIRST.

A POLISH OPINION.

Chicago, Sept. 18.—I am Polish and have the greatest admiration for Gen. Pulaski, but I can understand the people's objection to the renaming of Crawford avenue. I know they don't mean to be disrespectful to our national hero, but that they object to the stupid practice of renaming ANY street whose name has become as well established as Crawford avenue. It's like changing Sunday or January to Washington or Lincoln for patriotic reasons. I'm sure there are more sensible ways of honoring our patriots and revering their memories than by the confusing practice now in effect.

BALBINA [KOSCIELSKI] MARAZAS.

BROTHERHOODS STATE THEIR CASE.

Highwood, Ill., Sept. 18.—It is about time the public on the north shore is told the truth about the strike situation. I take issue with W. F. Levander, president of the Rapid Transit local of the Amalgamated Association of Street and Electric Railway and Motor Coach Employés for publicly fixing the blame for the continued tieup on the anti-amalgamated group. Levander produced a resolution at the Illinois Federation of Labor to this effect.

As a brotherhood man I wish to state the facts of the North Shore situation, previous to suspension of operations. The motormen, conductors, and switch tenders worked a nine hour day. Their hourly pay rates were less than either those paid on the elevated or surface lines, and these conditions, in conjunction with other matters that constituted oppression, prompted these men to authorize these brotherhoods to represent them. The brotherhoods did not come in until asked to.

We made every effort to prevent, in an honorable manner, a suspension of operation. Action was taken by the amalgamated association not to work on Aug. 16, and later the members of our brotherhoods supported that action by withdrawing their services from the company, which action we believe deserves commendation instead of condemnation.

Attention is also directed to the fact that the amalgamated association contends that the employés of this property should now come within the scope of the railway labor act, which provides for craft or class representation.

VIRGIL SELIG,
Secretary, Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen of North Shore Line.

DAD A GERMAN; MOTHER A CZECH.

Hartford, Mich., Sept. 18.—I am an American born of German-Czech parents, dad a German, mother a Czech, and often I think of the beautiful Christian love that existed between these two and many others of these two nations. I know numerous such unions in this country. They also must exist in Europe.

Young men and women born of such unions are proud of their parentage, and justly so. Now to think that a human butcher, of neither nationality, should be the cause of bad blood between them! Don't let it happen between us here. It shows what dictatorship and propaganda can do. F. W. S.

CALLS PATROLMEN LIST ROTTEN.

Chicago, Sept. 16.—The patrolmen's list just published by the alleged Chicago civil service commission is so rotten that it should be a matter of grand jury investigation—by a special prosecutor.

Are the local Republicans asleep? Can't they realize that this patrolmen's list is so raw that evidence of corruption from it would sweep local Democrats from office? EX-DEMOCRAT.

AN AGE OF PANACEAS.

Chicago, Sept. 16.—Hurrah and again hurrah! We have it at last! That $30 every Thursday [why not Monday] for deserving Californians turns out to be nothing more or less than the old prosperity certificate plan.

Talk about economic perpetual motion! Verily we live in an age of panaceas. Any scheme that means more idleness or a chance to get something for nothing guarantees a fast and free ride into office.

O, for a public official or a candidate honest enough and possessing the courage to tell the truth! That work and not idleness produces wealth; that saving and not reckless spending conserves it, and, lastly, that each individual of sane mind and sound body is responsible for his own salvation and security. That was how America was built. The so-called "advanced" social theories that teach idleness, dependence on the state, and security without effort or sacrifice are popular, but they will destroy us as a nation and as individuals if they are permitted to persist.

HORSE AND BUGGY ECONOMIST.

WHAT'S A BILLION NOWADAYS?

Chicago, Sept. 16.—I was interested in Lewis Moore's letter wherein he defines a billion dollars by saying that if a man had started to spend $1,000 a day in 695 B. C. he would spend the last $1,000 some time in 1938.

I find that he would still be spending $1,000 a day for more than 104 years before "going broke," which would not happen until in November, 2043, if he had started the spree on Jan. 1, 695 B. C.

I have provided for a leap year every four years and have, therefore, allowed him on the average an expenditure of $365,250 per year for 2,737 full years and $1,000 a day for 310 days in the year 2043, but on the 311th day he would have only $750 left to throw his last party. It looks as if we need "higher mathematics" when we play with a billion dollars. But why play with a billion when we should be writing and thinking about 37 billion dollars that can't be laughed off, no matter how much we try? DANIEL ANDERSON.

HAZARD ON A BRIDGE.

Chicago, Sept. 16.—This is a vehement protest against the deplorable state of pedestrian walks on the Michigan avenue bridge. It is a constant hazard to the safety of persons crossing because of the numerous holes and rents in the rubber matting and the careless patching with rough boards—some of the boards rising an inch above the floor to trip unwary pedestrians.

Such a condition is a disgrace to the city and wholly unnecessary. It would be far saner to take some of the idling WPA workers away from foolish tasks in our parks and put them to work to lay a new floor on the Michigan avenue bridge. Why wait until there's a serious accident? EDNA I. ASMUS.

SURPRISE ATTACK BY BLUE FORCES ROUTS INVADERS

Mechanized Cavalry Drives Black Army Back.

BY CAPT. M. M. CORPENING.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Fort Knox, Ky., Sept. 20.—[Special.]—Black army invaders of Kentucky were surprised by an attack from the Second Blue field army's mechanized cavalry soon after noon today and fell away before a surge of the Fifth corps' three divisions. Five miles of territory was taken in today's drive when the Sixth corps moved south from the heights of Elizabethtown, Ky., and pushed toward Hodgenville.

Today's maneuver in the command post exercise, being conducted for the training of 500 regular army, National Guard, and reserve officers of the 5th and 6th corps areas [Illinois, Wisconsin, Michigan, Indiana, Ohio, Kentucky, and West Virginia], gave the army umpires an exciting time in moving their imaginary Black forces to give battle to the defending Blues.

When the exercise was started Saturday a mythical Black force was moving toward Fort Knox, where the nation's gold hoard is stored, and the industrial Ohio valley. The problem of the Second army was to repel the invasion and destroy the enemy.

Umpires Control Situation.

A staf of regular army umpires decides the success or failure of the Blue army's battle of orders. Umpires control the situation at all times. They give corps commanders locations of Black forces on the map and indicate their hostile activity.

Blue army and corps commanders send military intelligence, outlining the situation, down to division commanders, whose tasks are to order action according to their judgment. The orders then are sent back to the umpires, who decide whether they are correct. If they are, a battle has been won. The aim of the umpires is to present problems such as actually are experienced by commanders and their stafs under war conditions.

In meeting today's problem the Blue army owed much of its success to the civil population in the war zone. The provost marshal informed Maj. Gen. Hugh A. Drum, commander of the second army, that the highest coöperation was being obtained. Food and medical supplies are being accumulated throughout the back areas and provision is being made to care for the Blue army's wounded.

Police Aid Army.

Aid of public officials in cities and towns behind the lines includes the service of state police and other law enforcement agencies. Hundreds of civilians volunteered, and companies are being formed under leadership of former world war officers.

War veterans throughout the area are giving women and children instructions in the use of gas masks obtained today. Lack of gas masks in a large area yesterday was scored by the umpires as a tremendous loss of civilian life.

Back in the Blue army's source of supplies—the area north to the Ohio river and Louisville—guards were strengthened today to prevent sabotage. Coast guard strength on the Ohio river was increased to expedite evacuation of the wounded into Indiana.

One of the immediate causes for increases in the coast guard strength was the necessity of revising lines of communication from the north. Black aerial bombers destroyed the highway and railroad bridges at West Point, Ky., and the Blue force had to rely upon boats until pontoons are lashed in place and a temporary bridge constructed.

Tanks Speed 92 Miles.

Surprise of the Black army on its west flank today was made possible by high speed mobility of the mechanized cavalry. Drawn from the eastern side of the line late last night, the combat cars and light tanks were driven ninety-two miles west behind the Blue front line. By dawn they were in position to strike a disastrous blow to the Blacks.

Umpires noted fierce fighting in the Fifth corps' push of the Black west flank back across the Nolin river, six miles south of Cecelia. Horse cavalry continued to protect west and east flanks of the Blue forces, which were rallied tonight for a southward thrust tomorrow from the east flank. The objective will be the recapture of Hodgenville.

The Black front line south of Elizabethtown was shortened on the east last night.

IGOE GETS STATE PAY ROLLS FOR PADDING PROBE

Payrolls of the Chicago office of the Illinois state highway department were delivered to District Attorney Michael L. Igoe yesterday. Igoe is investigating alleged padding of the state department's payrolls prior to the April primaries.

Warren Canaday, Igoe's first assistant, immediately began a study of the payrolls, which covered the period Igoe is investigating. Canaday said that he has interviewed 350 employés of the state department concerning their activities before the primary and that he has another hundred to talk to.

Kendrick Harger, Chicago district engineer for the highway department, was ordered to appear before the federal grand jury tomorrow. The subpena for his appearance was kept secret until he delivered his payroll records to Igoe.

Expected Soon

One company of infantry at Fort Sheridan will be outfitted in the army's new slate blue uniforms about the first of the year, Capt. C. B. Hutchinson, post adjutant, said last night.

Company B of the 2d infantry has been selected as one of the army's units to test the uniforms for fastness of color, suitability, and appearance.

Officers, who have been allowed to wear the new dress blues for the last four or five years if they wished, must wear them for all dress occasions after Oct. 1, Capt. Hutchinson said.

FINE THREE GASOLINE DEALERS.

Frank O. Lokay and Fred M. Garland, owners of a service station at 2930 Lawrence avenue, were fined $25 in Municipal court yesterday for failure to prime the pumps. Theodore Mason, whose station is at 4811 Broadway, was fined $10 for the same offense.

LEGION, SLOWER OF PACE, STILL LIKES TO MARCH

Los Angeles Parade Is Shortest Ever Made.

Los Angeles, Cal., Sept. 20.—[Special.]—The American Legion put business aside today and devoted itself to parading. Delegates to the twentieth annual convention strutted their jauntiest under a bright sun.

The parade traversed the shortest route in Legion history. The veterans tramped from downtown Los Angeles to the Coliseum, circled the dirt track, and marched out to be dismissed.

While 50,000 Legionnaires marched in the hot sun, an air armada of 200 planes put on a show overhead. Some of the country's biggest air fighters maneuvered at 3,000 feet. Participating in the show were Boeing flying fortresses, pursuit and attack ships.

Foreign Departments Lead.

Foreign departments led the ground parade, with Mississippi, perennial United States department leader, in the van of continental posts.

In long lines marched the men whose figures were trim and full of vim twenty years ago when the armistice released them into civilian life. Now many of them are partly bald and gray. Their pace is slowed, but they still like to march.

They strutted past the Coliseum, where National Commander Daniel J. Doherty of Woburn, Mass., stood in the sun in an unshaded stand and saluted them.

The Racine, Wis., musical unit, four times national champions, drew much applause. Passing the reviewing stand the unit deployed into a Lorraine cross. Milwaukee carried banners asking for the 1941 convention.

Santa Rushes Season.

Indiana, behind massed colors, offered its salute. Santa Claus post had its Santa Claus in a sleigh in the parade. Lawrenceburg's famous "Leaping Lena," the first of these contraptions to enter the Coliseum, had the crowd shouting at the unseemly antics of the motorized steed.

Iowa was unable to carry tall corn, because of state laws, but they did the best they could with native grown stalks. Ray Murphy and Hanford MacNider, past national commanders, marched with the Iowans.

Elect Commander Today.

All frivolity will be finished by tomorrow and the Legion again will get down to serious business. The convention ends Thursday with the unopposed election of Stephen Chadwick of Seattle, Wash., national commander, and approval of Chicago as the 1939 convention city.

The national drum and bugle corps championship was won last night by the Herbert G. Akroyd post of Marlboro, Mass. Commonwealth Edison post of Chicago, a former champion, was second, and the Chicago Police post was third.

HOPES FOR PEACE IN NORTH SHORE STRIKE BRIGHTEN

Sprague's Report Offers Way to Settlement.

The prospect for settlement of the strike on the Chicago, North Shore and Milwaukee railroad appeared brighter yesterday than at any time since a labor dispute halted operation of the road five weeks ago.

That a possible basis for temporary settlement of a serious jurisdictional fight between railway unions has been reached was indicated in a report of Col. A. A. Sprague, receiver for the railroad. The report, according to notice served on interested parties, will be presented to Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson tomorrow.

The jurisdictional fight has been the main stumbling block to a settlement, obscuring the receiver's order for a 15 per cent wage cut. It has been indicated that the wage matter can be disposed of quickly once the controversy over jurisdiction has been ironed out.

Asks for Authority.

Col. Sprague in his report asks for authority to negotiate a contract with division 900 of the Amalgamated Association of Street Electric Railway and Motor Coach Employés. This union has represented North Shore workers for the last nineteen years.

"Your receiver," the report stated, "believes that such a contract would not be opposed by the national labor relations board nor by the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen and Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen, provided such contract shall not be of longer duration than the term ending May 31, 1939."

The interunion fight has been between the Amalgamated and the two brotherhoods. The Amalgamated claimed the right to represent all North Shore workers, while the brotherhoods held they should represent workers in their crafts. Thirteen hundred employés have been idle while the fight went on.

Sees Delayed Decision.

Col. Sprague said he had been advised that the labor board, which was asked to determine the bargaining agent, may not make a finding for some time. The board, he said, is waiting for a decision of the interstate commerce commission as to the status of the road under the railway labor act.

It is the receiver's belief, the report continued, that unless operation of the railroad is begun at an early date, that it may be impossible to resume running at all.

A petition was filed in Federal court yesterday by a committee of North Shore security holders, proposing that the railroad resume operations with service curtailed to save money.

WHOOPING COUGH CASES PASS PEAK; DEATHS FEWER

The outbreak of whooping cough in Chicago, the most severe since 1907, has passed its peak, the board of health announced yesterday. Last week 320 cases were reported, a decrease of 80 from the year's highest week.

A total of 5,002 cases, with 29 deaths, have been reported since Jan. 1. Of the year's cases 1,690 were reported last month. Comparative records of peak months in past years are as follows:

Year and Month—	Cases.	Deaths.
April, 1914	892	48
August, 1917	946	30
March, 1918	581	35
August, 1938	1,690	5

It was said that the sharp decrease in the percentage of deaths can be credited to the work of health authorities in improving methods of fighting the disease.

STREET CAR-"L" TRANSFER RIDING SHOWS INCREASE

Average Monthly Rise 90,000 in 1938.

BY WILLIAM BROMAGE.

Despite a general decline in transit riding in the last year, the number of passengers using interline transfers between the elevated and surface lines again showed a substantial gain. This is revealed by a comparison of riding statistics on the third anniversary of the interline transfer system.

More than 35,400,000 riders transferred between the two transit systems in the last twelve months, records maintained by the companies show. This compared with 33,113,226 in the preceding year and 29,974,719 in the first year the system was in effect.

Monthly Gain of 90,000.

The interline transfer arrangement was started Sept. 21, 1935, on an order of the Illinois commerce commission. The order was on a petition filed by the city. Riders using either system are permitted to transfer to the other at any of fifty-six designated elevated stations for a single 10 cent fare.

Interline riding in the last four months has shown a small decline from a year ago, but gains in earlier months more than offset these losses.

So far in 1938, an average monthly gain of about 90,000 interline passengers contrasts with a drop of 3 per cent in total elevated trafic and 6 per cent in surface lines riding.

Interline Trafic Figures.

Following is a comparison of monthly interline trafic for the last two years [figures for the last three months of this year are estimated]:

	1936.	1937.
Sept. 22 to 30	776,672	891,141
October	2,770,890	3,026,401
November	2,625,040	3,054,231
December	2,849,661	3,433,767
	1937.	1938.
January	2,789,071	3,198,808
February	2,678,310	2,029,283
March	2,974,554	3,204,333
April	2,784,819	3,001,250
May	2,723,162	2,819,579
June	2,764,697	2,767,723
July	2,704,019	2,555,342
August	2,771,161	2,704,369
Sept. 1 to 21	1,901,170	1,848,950
Twelve months	33,113,226	35,435,177

The transfer arrangement is still on a temporary basis. The commission ordered it tried for an experimental period of one year, but has extended the order until it determines on what basis it should be made permanent. The city has a petition pending before the commission seeking liberalization of the transfer privileges.

Skates 3,548 Miles

CHARLES COTTON.

For many years Charles Cotton, 43 years old, a war veteran, rolled about the world as a sailor. Since June 17, when he lost his job, Cotton has been rolling about the country on a pair of skates. Cotton is on the way from his home in Houston, Tex., to the Atlantic coast and return. He says he has skated 616 hours, traversed 3,548 miles on skates, 350 on foot, and 720 by thumb.

70 LIGHT PLANE FLYERS TO MEET IN AMATEUR TEST

Where are the best light airplane pilots in the middle west? This question is to be settled next Sunday at Harlem airport, 83d street and Harlem avenue, when thirty-five Chicago flyers will enter competitions against an equal number of southern Illinois, Indiana, Wisconsin, and Michigan pilots at the First Amateur Air show.

The meet, a nonprofit show organized by the flyers themselves, has been limited to planes with a maximum of fifty horse power. The seventy pilots will fly fifty airplanes, all of which already have been formally entered. Another fifty machines in the light plane class are expected to visit the field during the show.

The Civil Aeronautics Authority has granted special waivers permitting the show which will consist of landing and take off competitions, precision and stunt flying, bomb dropping, several comedy acts, parachute jumps, and demonstrations of the latest types of these small airplanes. No admission will be charged although there will be a small fee for parking on the airport.

FISH IN LAGOONS JUST AS BIG AS TALES ABOUT 'EM

Fishermen aren't telling bigger ones this year—they're catching 'em that way. Take the word of Evan I. Kelly for it. Allow for the fact that he's a fisherman as well as the man in charge of the fishing in the park lagoons. There are still big fish in the big fish stories.

The biggest black bass that has been caught in the park lagoon contest sponsored by the Izaak Walton league weighted four pounds. It was landed by Matthew Hetzer of 2436 Erie street, River Grove, who hopes to win part of the $100 prize money if some one doesn't catch a bigger one. The lagoon fishing will continue until Oct. 15; the story telling indefinitly.

Night sessions are being held by the grand jury in an effort to conclude the investigation by the end of October. It began on July 13.

ELMWOOD PARK SEEKS CLEWS TO POISONING CASES

Three thousand questionnaires asking residents to tell what they know about the mysterious poisoning cases in Elmwood Park and adjacent areas during the last week were distributed in the suburb yesterday. Authorities believe that the death of one man and the illness of 103 other persons was caused by contaminated pastry.

Residents of the suburb were asked if they had been ill and, if so, whether they ate pastry last week or drank water from other sources while the suburb's water supply was shut down on Tuesday, Sept. 13. Elmwood Park gets its water from the Mayfair pumping station in Chicago.

Arthur E. Gorman, head of the city water purification division, said that he has no evidence that would indicate the water supply was the cause of the trouble.

REDUCES HIS OWN ALIMONY BUT IT'S PUT RIGHT BACK

Edward Cavanaugh reduced his $10 a week temporary alimony payments because his boss reduced his pay, Cavanaugh told Judge Philip J. Finnegan yesterday. But Mrs. Bernice Cavanaugh, through Attorney S. Edward Bloom, said her husband gave her less so he would have more to give another woman.

The judge said he'd decide if Cavanaugh should pay less after getting a report on his income. Until then, the judge ordered the husband to resume paying $10. Mrs. Cavanaugh smiled and went home to 1342 Bosworth avenue with her daughters, Dolores, 7 years old, and Florence, 5. She is 27 years old.

CHICAGO'S COAST GUARD OARSMEN WIN LAKES' TITLE

Eight men from the old Chicago coast guard station battled a choppy lake yesterday to defeat a crew from Buffalo, N. Y., and win the Great Lakes surfboat championship. Their victory avenged their defeat last year when the Buffalo oarsmen beat them by less than five seconds at Grand Haven, Mich.

The Chicago crew, eleventh district champions, won an easy victory in the two mile race along the lake front. Their time was 17 minutes and 7 seconds, pulling a 26 foot surfboat weighing 1,445 pounds. The Buffalo boat finished seven lengths behind them.

WPA TO LAY OFF 30,000 BECAUSE CITY LACKS CASH

Can't Pay Skilled Men on Projects.

All city paid skilled workmen on WPA projects operating under the department of public works were laid off yesterday. Charles E. Miner, state WPA administrator, estimated that 30,000 laborers paid by WPA will be thrown out of work by the end of the week because of the exhaustion of city funds from which the skilled workmen were paid.

Although Miner said there was no immediate way in sight to keep the men at work doubt was expressed that any long layoffs would be made so close to election time. WPA has been trying for some months to increase the number of pay rollers in Chicago and Illinois.

Loan Sought from RFC.

Oscar E. Hewitt, commissioner of public works, notified WPA last week that he would have to make the layoffs yesterday. Miner siad that he conferred with Hewitt Monday, but that no solution to the problem was reached.

The city applied to the Reconstruction Finance corporation two months ago for a loan of $3,000,000 to be used for WPA work. The RFC turned down the first application and has not acted on a revised plea submitted last month.

The city's skilled men are necessary to the operation of about a hundred jobs, Hewitt said. The principal WPA projects for which the skilled men are necessary are asphalt paving, sidewalk replacement, curb rounding, and various sewer projects.

Can't Pave Torn Up Streets.

All of the WPA gangs breaking up pavement on side streets were taken off the job at Hewitt's request because the city is unable to pave those already torn up. Sixteen city paid gangs laying asphalt were shifted to arterial streets, where they can be paid from state gasoline tax funds.

Although Hewitt refused to give the exact amount of side street paving that is torn up, it was estimated that at least 400,000 square yards, or 25 miles of streets, have been prepared for new paving. Because the city cannot pay the gangs to lay the new pavement some new money must be found before these streets can be repaved.

Sewer projects will be forced to shut down because the city pays the skilled union men who do the bracing and bottom digging and the men who do the most intricate parts of the bricklaying. City paid cement finishers and other skilled men are necessary also for the laying of new sidewalks and new curbings.

119,000 On WPA Projects.

The last report from WPA shows that 119,000 persons were employed on projects in Chicago. Thousands of these men and women work on projects sponsored by the park district, school board, and other governmental agencies.

There was some doubt that WPA would be able to shift any great part of the 30,000 due for a layoff to these other projects because most of these projects are said to be overloaded with labor at the present time.

Jail Bigamist

(Story in adjoining column.)

George Tanrath, who has had six wives.

Mrs. Alice Perkiss Tanrath (left), wife No. 5, who caused arrest, and Mrs. Wilma Phillips Tanrath, wife No. 6.

6 WIVES FIND HE IS IRRESISTIBLE ON A BUS RIDE

No. 5 Traces Them, So George Is in Jail.

When a fellow like George Tanrath marries as often as he did, he's likely to forget a wife or two. But the wives are like elephants. They never forget.

At least that's the way with Alice Purkiss Tanrath, 30 years old, of 4546 Magnolia avenue. By her count she is Tanrath's fifth and next to last wife. By his reckoning she is only No. 4. The supposed No. 2, he insisted, was merely an awfully good friend.

It was the tenacity of Alice that caused Tanrath to occupy a cell in the Fillmore police station yesterday. Tanrath, 38, an interstate bus driver, was arrested Monday in his home at 4329 Madison street by Detectives William Jannisch and John Meehan.

Courtship Begins on Bus.

As Alice told it to the detectives, Tanrath married her in October of 1935, after a courtship that began on a bus trip to Washington. She was just a simple country girl, said Alice, and believed Tanrath's promises.

He deserted her last June. Alice then learned that a month later he had married Wilma Phillips of Jonesboro, Ind., who was living with him. Alice decided to investigate. She consulted court records and was amazed to discover his marital trail.

"We don't know where the other wives are," said Detective Jannisch, "but I presume that Tanrath courted each from the driver's seat of his bus as it bowled along over the country roads. Like Alice, I imagine each of them found him irresistible."

Alice told the police that Tanrath divorced his first wife, Leona Smith, whom he married in 1921. But the records, she said, failed to show any subsequent divorces.

His Calendar of Weddings.

Tanrath's courting and marriage calendar, according to Alice, was: Leona Smith, 1921; Isabelle Ossman, 1922; Helen Rice, 1926; Frances Speckman, 1928; Alice Purkiss, 1935, and Wilma Phillips, 1938.

In between Miss Ossman and Miss Rice, the criminal records show that Tanrath served a year in the Bridewell for larceny in 1925. As a youth he also spent six months at the Pontiac reformatory for auto theft.

"I was divorced from every wife," insisted Tanrath. "At least I supposed that they got divorces. But I was only married five times."

FLEES POLICE STATION AFTER TAKING POISON

Sheffield avenue police early today were hunting for Mrs. Estelle Phillips, 2641 Mildred avenue, a widow of four months, who was believed to have taken poison.

Mrs. Phillips left a note telling of her plan to die and saying she already had swallowed a drug. The note was left in her room and was found a few minutes later by another roomer, Norman Baaba. He saw her running up the street and overtook her in his car.

Baaba took the woman to the station, and while he was inside telling the police of her act she fled again. Police hoped to find her in time to give her medical aid and save her life.

FELICITATIONS SENT SENATOR GEORGE BY GOV. FRANK MURPHY

Lansing, Mich., Sept. 20.—[Special.]—Gov. Frank Murphy, facing strong Republican opposition for reelection by his predecessor, Frank D. Fitzgerald, revealed today that he had sent a congratulatory telegram to United States Senator Walter F. George of Georgia, who defeated one of President Roosevelt's most vigorous purge attacks.

"I consider Senator George a very able man," said Murphy. "I've always regarded him highly and consider him one of the senate's leading students of government and finance."

Proposal for Fixed Bridges Up to U.S.Army Engineers

A report on the city's petition for permission to erect fixed bridges to replace obsolete movable spans over the north branch of the Chicago river at Fullerton and Diversey avenues will be sent to the district army engineer's office at Cleveland in about two weeks. Capt. S. N. Karrick, chief of the army engineers in Chicago, said that some opposition to the plan was heard yesterday at a hearing in the United States courthouse.

Do half-clean plates shout "YOUR TEETH ARE FALSE"?

HALF-CLEAN with brushing

Germs and decay bacteria breed by the million in the stains, film and deposits on artificial teeth—often cause sore gums, sour-breath and sometimes even serious infection. They get into every crevice and pore where brushing seldom even reaches.

REALLY CLEAN with POLIDENT

Even the worst old stains, film, deposits and odors are dissolved away with Polident. Teeth become whiter, brighter — gums lose that dead "false" look and appear more live and natural. Your denture looks like new and is hygienically cleaned and purified!

YOU can't expect real satisfaction from your false teeth unless you take care of them. And thousands of dentists will tell you it takes Polident to change plates and bridges from a plague to a pleasure.

It cleans just like new, purifies and polishes—without brushing, acid or danger. When you use Polident your plate or bridge will look better and feel better—your whole mouth will be healthier—and your breath sweeter.

This new scientific cleaner is quick and easy to use and costs little. Millions use it daily and call it a blessing for comfort and convenience.

Prevents "Denture Breath" And Sore Gums Due To Unclean Plates

Most people who wear false teeth suffer from "denture breath"—probably the most offensive of all breath odors. Instead of brushing and soaking in antiseptics, just try Polident and be sure that "denture breath" can't afflict you! At any drugstore—3 oz. size 30¢—7 oz. size 60¢. And your money back if not delighted.

WORKS LIKE MAGIC

Simply cover plate or bridge with water—add a little Polident—and it is cleaned and purified in just a few minutes!

Daily Use of Good Cream Staves Off Facial Wrinkles

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

[Copyright: 1938: By The Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Syndicate, Inc.]

It is surprising how comparatively few older women you see today with badly wrinkled skins. We make reference to women over 50. You rarely ever see the face a whole nest of wrinkles. Just once in a while you see one whose condition reminds you of the gratitude we should feel toward modern skin preservers. It must be because of the use of lubricants that we see so few badly lined faces. Women had them in earlier generations at 40, even, according to tales heard about women of the time.

No doubt the secret lies chiefly in the early age at which women begin this work of lubricating. They are active with cleansing creams at 20 and the daily use of a cleansing cream alone supplies a goodly amount of lubrication.

We are not hinting that faces are wrinkle free today. As one gets older the firm supporting fat beneath the skin tends to disappear and the skin sags more and more. The muscles become flabby and relaxed. When this occurs wrinkles do develop. Wrinkles develop with overuse of certain facial muscles, such as around the eyes, forehead, or mouth. If you squint a great deal wrinkles soon appear all around the eyes, especially between the eyes. If you frown or laugh a lot wrinkles will show up. Phlegmatic folk whose emotions are never stirred have unwrinkled smooth faces, but they're dull company and who'd want to be like them, anyway? There are happy lines in the face and sour ones, bitter, querulous. You write your own ticket.

The whole trick in deep wrinkle prevention is never to let the skin become dry. Apply oil plentifully around eyes and mouth. Twice a day is not too often for oil lubrication in cases of the sort, and overnight applications of oil are especially commended for the dry skin, which have the wrinkle tendency.

Make Time Your Aid in Dealing with Children

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

[Copyright: 1938: By The Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Syndicate, Inc.]

The very little boy, the very little girl—what fretting and worry and discouragement I hear over the managing of them!

As I've said so often, it isn't difficult. And I've tried to explain how and why. Here is one more article on one phase of the subject:

A large proportion of the trouble parents have in training their very little boys or girls is due to the fact that they don't realize two things. One, that a small child's sense of time, or perhaps I should say his relation to time, is an entirely different one from a grown person's. And two, that little children's response to orders or directions coming from outside themselves is usually slow. It takes time for a request or direction to sink in and then to be translated into action.

Recognizing these two differences will lead a nurse, a mother, or a teacher to deal with young children from a different angle.

The mother who senses these facts will see why her attempts to hurry her young children are so disastrous. She will learn to allow plenty of time for all the routine actions which have not yet become automatic with her child, like washing her hands and face before eating, or hanging her bathrobe on its own low coat-rack. She won't try constantly to hurry her young daughter, who is just learning to undress herself, nor will she nag into a faster tempo the same little girl who, later on, is learning to lace her shoes and button her clothes. She will, instead, give her small child both time and peace to learn to help herself.

The same principle holds true in the matter of obedience. What so often seems like indifference or disobedience in the little boy or girl is seldom that; it's often simply slowness. Little children don't accept change of activity instantly. So, if they're absorbed in play and it's nearly bedtime or mealtime, they should have warning or time to shift their attention.

The time element figures largely in management at bedtime, too. The child who is hustled into her bath and out of it, whose mother or father has no time to make going to bed a pleasant, leisurely, and friendly affair, does not relax as well, does not go to bed as contentedly, nor to sleep as easily as she would if things were unhurried. Also, she is apt to want a drink of water or need to go to the bathroom, or ask for a doll or the kitty in bed, or think up some other excuse for attention.

Make time your ally, instead of haste, and see what a great change it will bring about in your relation with your small child.

Mexican Style Oysters Part of Jiffy Meal

BY MARY MEADE.

[Copyright: 1938: By The Chicago Tribune.]

The first of the "R" months mustn't slip by without offering us at least ONE oyster dinner. Let's make it oyster Mexican style, because we'll be meeting plenty of stews and scalloped oysters a little later in the season.

Mexican style oysters are a part of a short-cut dinner for business women which includes also fresh lima beans, a simple salad, and a fruit dessert.

SHORT CUT DINNER.
Mexican Style Oysters, Mashed Potatoes with Parsley and Butter
Carrot and Peanut Salad
Whole Wheat Bread or Rolls
Compote of Fresh Fruit
Coffee

Mexican Style Oysters.

[Serves Four.]

1 pint oysters
¼ cup catsup
½ teaspoon worcestershire sauce
¼ teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
1 cup soft bread crums, packed
½ cup cracker crums
3 tablespoons butter
¼ cup grated cheese

Mix catsup, sauce and seasonings. Brown crums in butter. Place a layer of the crums in the bottom of a well greased baking dish, and cover with a single layer of drained oysters. Cover with half the catsup mixture and add another layer of crums, another layer of oysters, and a second spread of catsup. Top with remaining crums, which have been mixed with cheese. Bake in a hot oven, 400 degrees, for 25 minutes.

BUTTERED LIMA BEANS.

If you buy the beans in the shell, buy three pounds for four persons, for a pound of unshelled limas makes only about 2-3 cup of shelled beans. It is preferable to buy the beans already shelled, for they're all ready to be cooked. Drop them into boiling, salted water and cook until tender, about 15 minutes. Serve with butter and seasonings.

CARROT AND PEANUT SALAD.

[Serves Four.]

Grind enough carrots to make 1½ cups, firmly packed, and enough peanuts to make ½ cup. Combine with mayonnaise or cooked dressing and a little chopped pickle, if desired. Serve on lettuce or romaine.

COMPOTE OF FRESH FRUIT.

Use a combination of two or more fruits. Diced pears, bananas, peaches and plums are a good dessert. Sprinkle with a little orange or lemon juice.

THROUGH THE LOOKING GLASS

Nail polishes get prettier and prettier. Don't you like the wave of soft but rich colors, away from those rather silly pinks and strong blood reds? We do.

One of the best ideas any one ever had about nail polishes was the "streamlining" move to bring polish right bang up to the tip of the nail. It gives a clean, unbroken line and makes the nails look longer and slimmer than they do when the whitened tip shows. It's a fashion that once tried is not quickly abandoned.

Of course if you like pale polish you can't do this polish trick very well. But would you be interested in a pale, very soft polish tint that gives the nails an opaque coat? We found such the other day and think it is a polish triumph. Women who can't bear strong shades on their nails will like it; it has delicacy. It also has character.

This shade is just a smidge mauve, sort of a pearly rose mauve that goes beautifully with all costume colors. It's becoming and suitable for women of all ages. And soft as the shade is, it does cover the nail and can be brought to the tip. If you prefer your lacker pale, one coat will be enough for you; it intensifies the color to use two.

There are women who can't bear any but soft polish shades but wish they could find one with a little more well bred distinction than the ordinary shell pink tints have. This is a shade for them. No one could say that it is in questionabie taste.

WE'VE run across another nostalgic note. A Winnetka resident, Orval Simpson, lived as a boy in the California redwood country. He treasured a snapshot showing the trees and the road that, as a lad, he used to walk down barefoot. This snapshot, enlarged into a mural 54 feet long and 10 feet high, now covers the walls of his study. Our nostalgia scout says the ceiling is painted sky blue and the floor grass green. Sections of a redwood tree adorn each corner of the room. Mr. Simpson may go barefoot in the room occasionally, for all we know.

Speaking of redwoods, Mrs. C. Apel, 11738 South Eggleston avenue, who bought a redwood burl at A Century of Progress, entered it in a south side flower show recently and won first prize. It has grown to a height of one foot with a spread of fernlike foliage measuring about twenty inches.

AN upcountry gentleman awoke on a recent morning, reflected that it was his 55th birthday, and decided to go into Chicago and make an occasion of it. Boarding the 5:50 train, he noticed that his Pullman was number 55. At a hotel in Chicago the clerk assigned him to room 550. He now was convinced that occult forces were at work. Telephoning a bookmaker, he said: "Lay $55 for me on the fifth horse in the fifth race at Hawthorne to win." The friendly bookmaker demurred, pointing out that that horse was all but a cripple, but the country gentleman, basking under the auguries, was firm. In due time the bookie telephoned to report. The horse had run fifth.

Eleanor Janney Will Be Bride of New Yorker

BY JUDITH CASS.

FOR the third time in less than three months romantic news of particular interest to the Cornelius Lynde family is of interest to their friends. This morning Mrs. Lynde is announcing the engagement of her younger daughter, Miss Eleanor Janney, to Walter Miles Harvey Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Miles Harvey of New York.

Miss Janney returned yesterday from a visit in New York with her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. John M. Adams. When she goes to New York in January it will be as Mr. Harvey's bride. Miss Janney's Chicago friends have not met her fiancé. He will pay his first visit to Winnetka at Thanksgiving time.

Miss Janney, whose father is Laurence A. Janney of Stamford, Conn., was graduated from the North Shore Country Day school and attended the Evanston and the Chicago Academies of Fine Arts. She was introduced to society at a tea at home in the fall of 1933, and is a member of the Chicago Junior league.

Mr. Harvey, whose family formerly lived in Seattle, Wash., is a graduate of the University of Washington. His visit at Thanksgiving will follow by a month a visit from Mr. and Mrs. Adams, who come west several times a year to spend a week with the Lyndes.

Miss Janney's brother, Ensign Frederick D. Janney, and Miss Ethel Wanner of La Jolla, Cal., plan to be married in June. Their engagement was announced in July, just a few weeks before the engagement of Samuel Adams Lynde II., Mr. Lynde's son, and Miss Eleanor Wilson was made known. Miss Wilson is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Morris Karl Wilson of Winnetka.

Sara Peace Bows Today, Her Parents' Anniversary.

Miss Sara Peace's debut tea today will be an occasion of particular sentiment, for it also will be the 20th wedding anniversary celebration for her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Peace. The party will be primarily a debut, however, so the decorations will not be those of a china wedding.

The only reminder of the wedding of two decades ago will be in the music, which will be the same as that played by a stringed orchestra at the wedding reception of Ruth Henderson and Mr. Peace in Rochester, N. Y.

Today's party will be given in the Peace home in Bellevue place. The debutante and her parents will receive in the big second floor living room. Assisting the bud will be Miss Ann Harrington, Miss Sally Lawson, Miss Julia Follansbee, Miss Jane Zimmerman, Miss Katherine Stenson, Miss Lois Thompson, and Miss Barbara Willson, all former classmates at the Girls' Latin school, and Miss Jane Allen, Miss Natalie DeClerque, and Miss Virginia Ballard of Winnetka. Following the tea Mr. and Mrs. Peace will take their daughter, her assistants and their escorts to the Edgewater Beach hotel for dinner and dancing.

Tomorrow Miss Peace leaves for Wellesley college, her mother's alma mater. Miss Peace is to have a dinner-dance at the Blackstone hotel on Dec. 24.

Service Club to Give Tea for Buds Today.

The debutantes who are going to take part in the Service club revue this year will stop at another tea today. The Service club will give a tea for them at the home of the club's president, Miss Eleanor Wetten, at 209 Lake Shore drive. Directors of the club will receive with Miss Wetten. The revue will be given Nov. 5 at the Auditorium theater. Rehersals will start Oct. 6 at the Tower Town club.

Pupils Return to Private Schools.

Here's Victorian Elegance for Evening

A soft flattering band of stone marten outlines the square cut bodice top of one of the beautiful new evening gowns. The material is heavy coffee colored silk faille, cut with a wide, wide skirt and a fitted bodice. A tiny bow at the waistline and thin narrow shoulder straps, together with long contrasting colored gloves and old-fashioned jewelry give the gown a delightful Victorian elegance.

You'll Really Feel Grand in the New Silks

BY RHEA SEEGER.

So far no other fabric equals silk for soul satisfying enjoyment. It assures a crisp, indefinable dressup quality in widths of silk taffeta; it clings revealingly in dull or shiny silk crêpe; it drapes skin smooth in silk jerseys, slinky matelasses, and suave thick cream satins, and it fashions the most glamorous of evening gowns in silk velvet.

Dramatics are attained with swashbuckling wide evening capes of velvet or stiff "stand-alone" taffeta with every thread of silk.

There's a lady of quality sensation when you trail about in silken house coats and beautiful negligees. There's an unsurpassed grande dame elegance when you go out of nights dressed from underlayers to evening coat in all-silk fabrics.

Silk gauze, silk chiffons, silk jacquards, and silk metallics offer every sort of weight and every sort of desired richness to suit the most gala occasion. You can slide into the supercomfort of silk at early dawn because some of the best wearing and the loveliest lingerie pieces are of silk. They tub repeatedly, returning to you in all their original luster, perfect for fit and smoothness after years of wear.

With your pet suit of silk velvet, silk duvetyn or fine wool, your best blouse can be of soft fine silk satin, or thick tailored silk crêpe, or a flexible metallic gauze. And the jacket of the suit is lined with gay rustling taffeta silk crêpe to harmonize with the color of the outer fabric.

This year you'll wear wide taffeta silk petticoats under your hoop skirts as well as slips for daytime clothes. You'll wear coquettish concoctions of silk ribbon in loops and bows tipped on the very top of your head to masquerade as a hat. Big bows of silk ribbon are fastened on hugh muffs or worn around the neck and as a carrying band through the muff.

Silk jersey sandals for evening, silk bed jackets, silk robes for your lounging hours, padded silk coats, looking like comfortable tea cosies, silk ascots, and silk evening bags and stunning silk afternoon and cocktail bags are among the silk items.

Silk items are new, excitingly feminine, and ready for all kinds of wear. They will give a faultless performance when they go to the cleaners . . . dress suit, gown, or accessories.

Looking at Hollywood by Ed Sullivan

Hollywood Mirror.

[Written in Chicago.]

A gray haired drunk starts whistling while red headed Terry Lawlor is singing "So Help Me" at the High Hat club, at the 2 a. m. floor show. . . . Miss Lawlor makes a grimace of distemper as she walks off the floor. . . . "It's okay," says Master of Ceremonies Joe E. Lewis, "let the old fellow have his fun. He doesn't have to go to school tomorrow."

Then Lewis goes into his Catskills parody of "I Went to Havana," and the inebriate starts whistling again. . . . "Look," said Lewis, "if papa's little boy will be nice and quiet, I'll give him a stick of g-u-m. That spells gum, Skippy.". . . I've never heard such a laugh yell in a cabaret at the cute squelch. . . . The drunk, however, took it another way. . . . He started blubbering.

With Lewis at the High Hat and with Richman at the Chez Paree, Chicago at the moment has the two greatest night club entertainers in show business within the city limits. . . . Richman is the better of the two, but Lewis ranks so close to him in a different medium that the margin is almost invisible. . . . This Chez Paree, organized in November, 1932, is to show business what the Palace theater used to be to vaudeville, or what the Hippodrome was to production shows. . . . Situated in the midwest belt, this famous night club offers an unusual common denominator of national taste.

When Edgar Bergen clicked at the Chez it meant that he'd score all over the country. . . . The same with Paul Draper, Benny Fields, etc. . . . The club has been a godsend to performers since vaudeville collapsed. . . . Jacobson and Fritzel, who operate it, spend $500,000 a year on entertainers and bands. . . . Local gag is that Chicagoans knew Jacobson and Fritzel before they changed their name from Shapiro to Chez Paree.

Francis X. Bushman. . . . May McAvoy. . . . Water Under the Bridge, in a columnist's dressing room at the Chicago theater. . . . Two great stars of silent flickers. . . . He made $6,000,000 in five years, and then the stock market flattened him. . . . She played the lead opposite Al Jolson in "The Jazz Singer.". . . Lovelier than ever, she and her six year old son, Pat, are en route to the coast for a look-see. . . . The movies ought to grab her for a rôle; the Chicago theater audience tore off the roof when she was introduced, a rarely affectionate gesture.

Bushman is a radio star here with three weekly airings, happy, contented, amazingly youthful. . . . "I started here in Chicago at the Essanay studios," he tells you, cheerily, "so the wheel has made the full turn. Perhaps it is better that Hollywood blacklisted me; I'm happy here."

In front of Marshall Field's, famous radio pair, Fibber McGee and Molly, whose real tag is Jordan. . . . They come from Peoria, Ill., and rank in the first five of radio comedy, right up there with Jack Benny, Al Jolson, Burns and Allen and Eddie Cantor. . . . In front of N. B. C., Joe Emerson and quite a story in him. . . . Before the depression he was a millionaire real estate operator, but his hobby was choral singing. . . . When he went broke the choral singing proved his salvation. . . . His radio program, "Hymns of All Churches," is one of the big coast to coast programs. . . . Quin Ryan, emerging from W-G-N, harassed by hay fever. . . . His nose suddenly wrinkles, he holds his breath, and then a shuddering kerchoo-o-o.

Abe Lyman, getting ready for a two week engagement at N'Orleans. . . . The Lyman band is a sensation here, hot as a firecracker, and he can't handle the offers piling in on him. . . . "I'm glad, and so are all other musicians," he commented, "that in writing about the Paramount theater band poll you pointed out that it wasn't necessarily accurate. The bands that top that poll are bands that have been booked into that theater. If you are booked in, your rating jumps immediately. Bob Waitman is a great fellow, but musicians all feel as I do—that the Paramount band poll is an insult to all of us. Why don't you ask him to eliminate it?" . . . Hey, Bob Weitman!!

From Milwaukee, Wis., an unusually beautiful letter, from a mother who enjoyed the sentiment of a recent "If I Were King" column: "Thank you for your tribute to the mothers of the world. I am just one of them. For twenty-one gorgeous years I've cuddled, wrapped, bundled and tied this son of mine into uniforms. His first: A homely, sleeveless, sterilized affair, at Lying-In hospital [1917]. Then came baby buntings, rompers, sailor, Indian and cowboy . . . later football, stiff, clumsy, and hob-nailed; then high school basketball, of soft jersey, satin, wool, and rubber. Now he's 21, 6 feet 2 inches, 175 pounds of solid humanity. But I and thousands of other mothers are concerned about a different kind of uniform now—Uncle Sam's khaki. We haven't forgotten the last war . . . and uniforms.

"I still have memories of waving good-by to my only brother as he and Good Morning!

This is a delicately romantic little production, staged on the ould sod, acted by English and Irish players and featuring beloved Irish melodies.

The story told is the simple and trite one of the young Irish nobleman whose winning horse prevents his losing his castle to the blackguard owner of the other horse. . . . Could hero's sister have seen her way clear to wed same blackguard the race would have been unnecessary, but sister was not one to give hand without heart.

Nor cared our young nobleman to marry for her money a lady of wealth who honed for him. He, you see, had plighted his troth to one lovely—but poor Eileen O'Connor, in turn beloved by a smuggler with a price on his head.

It takes great hearted, genial, conniving Father O'Flyn to bring matters to a satisfactory conclusion—for those who deserve such.

"Lily of Killarney" isn't "big time" in any sense of the word, but it IS a pleasingly acted, charmingly sung, and picturesquely backgrounded program movie.

See you soon.

Stately Elephant Parades on Quilt

BY NANCY CABOT.

The dignity and stateliness and the old Indian elephants selected to carry the potentates of their country have been simply and accurately portrayed in a quilt block which has been designed for a child's room. The illustration affords an excellent idea of the beauty of a finished coverlet. The block measures 11½ inches square, with 24 applique and 6 plain blocks set together and surrounded by a 7 inch border and a ½ inch bias binding.

For a pattern of Indian Elephant, No. X-78, send 10 cents in stamps or coin to the Needlework Bureau, Chicago Tribune, 220 Fifth avenue, New York City.

A Door Closed Softly

By Alice Campbell

[Copyright, 1938, By Alice Ormond Campbell.]

SYNOPSIS.

David Beddoes, young American, accompanies his cousin, Alison, to a party at Lady Wibbe's. David's thoughts are mostly concerned about Betsy, his former love, now living in England, though he knows not where. By accident the two stumble into the wrong house. While they are talking to the spinsterish woman, who receives them, they hear a woman scream and a body fall. The spinster quickly explains it is merely a parrot. But at the party next door David learns from young Penelope Wibbe that their strange neighbors have no parrot. David has his fortune told.

INSTALMENT III.

ON THE BRINK OF TROUBLE.

"No faith in this, have you?" The fortune teller shot David a shrewd glance. "Never mind, it's soon over. Has to be, with so many others queuing up. That's the worst of these big gatherings. No time to give any one person a proper reading. Good! Let's see what you've done . . ."

She swept up the piles in turn, ran a rapid eye over each, and with a click of her tongue and another, more searching survey of him began laying the cards out in a sort of cartwheel.

"Dear me!" she murmured it, biting her lower lip, and then again, "Dear me! Most curious, this is . . . I hardly know what to tell you about it. Don't say anything, please!" [He had no intention of doing so.] "It only confuses me. You're American—of course. Business man—or should be. For your age and opportunities I'd say you've got on quite amazingly well, but—" she hesitated. "What I have there isn't at all clear. Patchy, too—good and bad all mixed together. Those three cards coming in a row—you see? Awkward, that. I'd like to change it. I wonder if we can?"

She had plumped her soft forefinger on the knave of diamonds, the queen of hearts, and the ace of spades, grouped in the center. They appeared to annoy her. Staring down, she continued dubiously:

"You're beginning some new adventure. It ought to be successful—entirely so, but I see obstacles, some from outside, more from within yourself. That is, it's you who may create the obstacles. You're too hot-headed. That's a danger. Also you're too faithful . . . and yet, I don't know.

She had screamed in utter panic, only to find herself brutally silenced.

There's this." She tapped the heart ace, meditated, and added uncertainly, "It will just depend . . ."

"On what?" demanded David suddenly.

She shook her head. "There's a veil over it," she answered, speaking to herself. "Too thick a veil—like this fog outside, only worse. Here, have another go"—and, shattering the cartwheel, she pushed the pack back to him.

Once again David shuffled and cut. The fortune teller snatched greedily at the piles, made the same clicking noises.

"There!" cried she irritably. "See how those three bad cards have got together just as they were?" Sure enough, here were the knave, queen, and black ace, in almost the identical arrangement. "But look! There's another queen with them—yes, and the club king. It's this new king that's the trouble. Well entrenched, and up to no good. Still, it's the red knave who's the real problem. A knave in every sense—but do you know him? I think not. In fact——" she stopped short, a sort of convulsion agitating her. "This won't do," she declared resolutely, "I'm telling you nothing—and I must! I must!"

"Don't bother," soothed David, but she waved him aside.

"Whatever this trouble is," she went on, frowning thoughtfully at the cards, "you're on the very brink of it—now, this evening. If I were to suggest it had cropped up since you left home tonight would that sound utterly ridiculous? That's how I see it. Be that as it may, it's extremely serious. It will, it can, alter your entire future—though it's quite possible you may steer away from it altogether. I wonder if you should? The thing is, it's all bound up in another person. Here she is."

It was at the queen of hearts she pointed. "See," she said eagerly, "how evil cards press round her? She's surrounded—hemmed in."

"Cards!" With a contemptuous gesture she raked the pack aside. "People insist on them—and there's not time, I suppose, to go decently into your hand. Wait, though! There's one other thing we could try. Give me something you've kept by you. I'd like tremendously to give you some bit of guidance, but with a future so unwritten . . ."

David hesitated, and with a shamed movement took out his wallet.

"Here," he muttered, handing over a snapshot photograph, dim and blurred. "I've carried it about for three years."

She seized the small picture and without glancing at it pressed it close over her bosom. Eyes shut, she swayed her stout body to and fro. Then a spasm of pain crossed her features.

"Dead," she whispered, not noticing that one of her client's brown hands had gripped hold of the table. "No," she altered, "not dead—or at least . . . not yet. But it's much the same, for you. Better think of her as dead. Safer, altogether—or is it?"

Still with tightly closed eyes she seemed to grope for the right words. "Again it's odd," she resumed in a curious, muffled tone. "I feel she's near. Some one at this party? No. O, no! Yet I can hear her calling out. An American voice she has. She might almost be in the room, though for practical purposes she's as far away as though she were in China. Wanting help. Can you or anyone else give it?"

"Don't you think you may have tuned in on my thoughts?"

"Have I?" Unoffended, the fortune teller opened her eyes and sent him an anxious glance. "It's possible. I don't deny it. Well"—with a sigh—"I haven't helped you much, have I? Listen: Keep your head, think hard before you act. That's the best advice I can give you."

. . . . . .

She lay on the bed into which rude force had bundled her, stuffed the sheet in her mouth, and gave way to long shudders. These seemed due to incredulous anger, but not entirely. Mingled with her rage was a new feeling she wanted badly to deny. Was it fear?

O, no, that was nonsense! How could she be frightened of the person trying his hardest to get her well? It might be true the care bestowed on her had grown quite impersonal, true also that just now she had been treated as a combination of public enemy and fractious child, but she, knowing her husband, ought not be astonished. Let her view the situation with unbiased eyes.

Why blame Geoffrey if in disappointment with her and through inborn distaste of the unhealthy he had become steadily more detached? It was something he could not help, and she, for that matter, had done the same—if for different reasons.

That he had so rarely flared up at her was the more to his credit, seeing that her lying here week after week, getting whiter and more wasted, must be goading him past endurance. It was not even as though she had been a docile invalid. On the contrary, she was always fighting to do the wrong things, finally, this evening, committing the act which to him must have seemed wholly mad.

"O, I expect I'm to blame," she mused, "though was there anything so frightfully reckless in just wanting to listen to people's voices, only once, after this endless hell?"

Any outside voice, no matter whose, just to restore touch with the world, and these voices, a man's and a woman's had sounded so American.

Were these people Americans, and if so how had they got into this depressing barn of a house which only four persons ever entered? O, of course, by mistake! Strangers—and gone now. Ships passing in the night. Anyhow, she had forgotten everything but her frantic desire to form contact. Forgotten she was ill, scurried out of bed, not stumbling once—that was the marvel! Into the dark hall she had rushed, just as she was in this rag of a chiffon nightdress, all ready to plunge straight into the visitor's arms . . . only, O, ignominy!—it was her husband who had caught her, at the top of the stairs, and as she thought of that swift, tigerish pounce she felt again the clutch of terror, illogical, but overpowering.

Why had Geoffrey acted like that?

She had screamed—yes, in utter panic, sure for a moment he was going to strike her. Screamed once, only to find herself brutally silenced, and then, of a sudden, her legs crumpled, bringing her thump!—to the floor.

Woman Ill, Needs Bed.

We hope that some south side reader can help Mrs. S., who is suffering with arthritis and neuritis. She has been in a difficult position financially and worried about living quarters. She has finally been able to locate a large room, but it is unfurnished and she is unable to buy furniture. Her needs include a bed, linens, a dresser, a chair, a rug, in fact, anything along those lines. Undoubtedly there are many who have discarded or old fashioned articles which could be given to her. She will be able to arrange transportation for south side offers.

street and the Chicago Latin School for Boys in Dearborn parkway near Lincoln park. Today the pupils of the Harris and the Francis Parker schools, which are only three blocks apart, return to their studies. The Harris is at Lake View avenue and Fullerton parkway and the Parker is in Webster avenue.

The children who are receiving their elementary and college preparatory educations at the North Shore Country Day school in Winnetka went back to school last Monday and the pupils of the Bell school in Lake Forest substituted text and note books for tennis racquets and golf sticks last Wednesday.

The Boys' Latin school kindergarten opens next Monday. Girls as well as boys may go to the Boys' Latin kindergarten.

Winter Dance Clubs Arranging Schedules.

It's far from being all work and no play for young people who have returned to their studies. In addition to all the school activities that come more under the head of entertainment than under that of education, all the winter dancing organizations are being organized now. Invitations already are out for the Dance club in town and the Dinner club on the north shore, and before long Mrs. Nelson Thomasson Jr. and her committee will complete their list for the Fortnightlies and send out their coveted "bids."

The Fortnightly, for young people from 14 to 18, meets every other Friday, starting Nov. 11, at the Fortnightly club in Bellevué place. The Dance club meets at the Girls' Latin school on eight Saturdays during the winter. The first party will be on Nov. 12. Mrs. Sangston Hettler heads the committee that has planned this year's parties, which are for freshmen and sophomores in high school.

The Dinner club committee is inviting the same girls and boys who were in the club last year with the addition of a few more sophomores. There will be five parties, dinner-dances, at various north shore clubs. The first party will be on Oct. 22. Mrs. William F. Benoist, Mrs. John S. Broeksmit, Mrs. William B. Hale, Mrs. Morris K. Wilson, Mrs. Will Hamilton Walter, and Mrs. Erskine Wilder are some of the hostesses.

Women's Committee for Sympathy to Meet.

Mrs. Bartholomay Osborne, who has spent the summer at Black Point at Lake Geneva, will be back in town today to preside at the first fall meeting of the women's committee of the Chicago Symphony orchestra. The meeting will be held at 2 o'clock in the directors' room of Orchestra hall. From now until the concert season opens on Oct. 13 there will be a meeting each week.

The Winnetka Garden club will meet today at the Indian Hill club. Mrs. Benjamin Warren of Grosse Pointe, Mich., will lecture on "Kashmir and Beyond." Luncheon will be served before the lecture. Mrs. Warren will illustrate her talk with pictures she has taken on her travels among those ancient gardens.

Until the tennis matches are concluded at Forest Hills the Saddle and Cycle club will not be certain when to expect Don Budge and Gene Mako to appear for exhibition matches.

Girls Vary in Reactions to Roadside Chat

BY DORIS BLAKE.

[Copyright: 1938: By The Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Syndicate, Inc.]

Bill invites a discussion on how to act when he takes a girl riding and they park on the roadside for a little quiet chat. He has had several girls out on such an evening. One girl's response was cold and aloof when Bill slid his arm around her shoulder. She moved into the far corner of the seat.

A second girl bawled him out, letting him know in no uncertain terms that she was not a roadside parkette. A third fell under the spell of the moon. They kissed and that was all there was to it.

We assume these were all first dates with the girls. Which would make Bill appear in the nature of a research artist, accumulating statistics about girls. More likely, Bill is just another young man who would like to get a girl off in a corner and kiss her for no other reason than that he is young and gay.

Some one has said, "Lonely roads are grand for romance." Unfortunately, they are also the hunting ground for all grades of morons and holdup men. So, first thing the Bills should be careful about is the kind of road they choose to park on.

A man is not playing fair with the girl if he lands her down a dark alley, far from habitation.

It might be a smart idea, because of its originality, for a young man to take a girl riding, park for a chat, and let it remain a chat. It would intrigue the girl enormously and flatter her into thinking you recognize her as a girl who isn't expected to kiss a fellow on short term acquaintance.

It would be unusual and appreciated, too, we think if, when the girl suggests that she really ought to go home, the motor be started and the girl taken home.

In any event, it is the behavior of a moron to paw and maul the girl because you're stronger than she.

Looking at Hollywood

By Ed Sullivan

thousands of other brothers marched to the Illinois Central station to somewhere in France. I have memories of a blizzardy February night, later, the same station—of searching through a boxcar full of flag draped coffins for the one that held the body of my smiling faced brother, so that I could ship his body back to Minneapolis [our home town, and I can't say 'Thanks for the Memory,' because of this new fear in my heart. Thank God for your column. Every mother will pray for you." M. M.

You see more movie stars here than on the coast, so help me. . . . Sonja Henie, Spencer Tracy, Wally Beery, Fernand Gravet, Benny Rubin, Ellen Drew, Joel McCrea, Francis X. Bushman, May McAvoy, Sabu, all in a space of four days. . . . I think it's darned nice of the Hollywood crowd to come all the way to Chicago so that I won't run out of cinema material. . . . Or maybe they just want to see me on the stage?

Large Gifts Division of Community Fund Gets Set for Campaign

The 1938 Community Fund organization began its pre-campaign activities yesterday. The sponsors' division, which has the task of obtaining subscriptions from larger contributors, met at the Chicago club. This division plans to raise approximately half of the $3,550,000 fund quota.

Ralph A. Bard, campaign chairman; Edward L. Ryerson Jr., president of Community Fund, Inc., and John Holmes, chairman of the industrial division, spoke to the 100 members of the sponsors' group.

Claims Chicago Hides Its Head in Nickel Hat

Chicago's handicap, from a self-advertising standpoint, is that it is attempting to advertise a seven billion dollar product for a nickel, members of the Women's Advertising club of Chicago were told last night.

Los Angeles and Miami are examples of an opposite trend, Frederick J. Ashley, public relations director of the Chicago Association of Commerce, declared, speaking at the group's advertising symposium at the Chicago Woman's club.

Los Angeles, he declared, levies a three mill tax for that purpose. Miami has a large appropriation. So have Oklahoma, Texas, Michigan and New York state, which three years ago appropriated $50,000 a year to toot the state as a vacationist's heaven.

"I'm not advocating a paid tax for advertising in Chicago," Mr. Ashley declared. "We have enough taxes without adding three mills more, but we ought to have more money to spend for this—to get what we want."

Yet civic advertising should not be limited to spectacular events, he pointed out. More important still, when it comes to attracting new industries, conventions, and even casual visitors, are such matters as trafic safety, geography, police protection, and a good fire department.

The Chicago area now boasts 13,000 factories, he said, producing 1,300 major lines of material. Their normal output is 7 billion dollars a year. In 1929 it soared to a billion a month; in 1931 it fell to 5 billion 600 million.

"We must have new industry to take up the slack in the old," he said. "We must have new blood."

Chicago's largest blight at present, he said, is the deserted area a mile west of the loop, running in a complete semi-circle to its two boundaries.

Some of the most unusual and rustic looking lamps are those made in California for informal living rooms, dens, and game rooms. No two seem alike, and all are quaint and artistic. Prices are reduced now, too.

The shades of these lamps are of parchment which has been antiqued to a mellow tan or brown tone. Some of them are bound in lether thongs.

Bases are of pottery in various shapes—pitchers, cylinders, bowls, and the like.

For the more formal living room done in colonial style there are beautiful lamps having bases of the famous blue and white Wedgwood ware.

According to CULBERTSON

[Copyright: 1938: By Ely Culbertson.]

"Dear Mr. Culbertson: Not long ago you wrote an article in which you described a contract as having been murdered. Well, perhaps the following account doesn't involve any crime worse than manslaughter, but it hurt the victim [me] just as much! At rubber bridge this hand turned up:

"West, dealer.

"North-South vulnerable.

	NORTH ♠ A 6 3 ♥ A Q 8 ♦ A K 9 8 6 4 3 ♣ None
WEST ♠ J 9 8 7 2 ♥ J 10 6 3 2 ♦ J 7 2 ♣ None		EAST ♠ Q 10 4 ♥ K 9 5 ♦ 5 ♣ J 10 9 6 3 2
	SOUTH ♠ K 5 ♥ 7 4 ♦ Q 10 ♣ A K Q 8 7 5 4

"The bidding:

West	North	East	South
Pass	3 diamonds	Pass	4 clubs
Pass	4 diamonds	Pass	5 diamonds
Pass	5 no trump	Pass	6 diamonds
Pass	7 diamonds [final bid]

"The bidding undoubtedly was 'all wet,' but since the correct final contract was reached, I hope you will overlook the 'stagger system' method of reaching it.

"East opened the jack of clubs. As you will note, thirteen tricks were ironclad unless the trump suit broke four in East's hand and none in West's. The king of spades and the three top club honors would take care of North's three losing cards. Without hesitation, declarer covered the club jack with my queen. But when West ruffed, thus forcing declarer to over-ruff, one of the precious club honors had disappeared. As North had only two entries to dummy, he could not set up one of my small clubs and had to rely on the heart finesse, which failed. Thus North, by the thoughtless covering of the jack of clubs, manslaughtered an unbeatable grand slam. If he had considered the situation, instead of hopping up with the club queen, he would have ducked and ruffed in his own hand, thus preserving my three top clubs for future discards.

"Disgustedly yours,
"J. P., New Jersey."

I can well understand my correspondent's disgust over this hand. I have often commented about the strange impulse that leads players to grab tricks in a hurry, the psychology evidently being that a trick won immediately is worth two that develop later.

It is interesting to note that the contract could have been salvaged, even after declarer's short-sighted covering of the club jack. If North had been sure that the heart king was in East's hand, along with the located club stopper, he could have run off every trump, discarding one heart and low clubs from the dummy. This would reduce all hands to six cards. North's would be ♠ A 6 3 and ♥ A Q 8. East's would be ♠ Q, ♥ K 9, ♣ 10 9 6. Dummy would have the king-five of spades, the seven of hearts and the A K 8 of clubs. West's holding would be immaterial. The lead of the ace and another spade would put East out of the running. He would follow to the first round, but whatever he discarded on the second would be fatal to his side. If he blanked the heart king, declarer would cash the ace and king of clubs, discarding the spade three and heart eight, then would lead the heart to his ace, dropping East's king. If East chose to discard a club, dummy's three clubs would become good.

This line of play, however, would depend on North's guessing that East had the heart king, a thing he could not do unless East, by squirming or agonizing, made the fact plain. Without those valuable guides, a garden variety finesse in hearts would be just as good a chance. The real point, of course, is that there should have been no need for a guess. Declarer should have preserved the A K Q of clubs by ruffing the first lead.

Tomorrow's Hand

South, dealer.

	NORTH ♠ Q 10 7 4 3 ♥ 10 7 ♦ J ♣ Q 10 6 4 3
WEST ♠ A J 6 ♥ 8 4 2 ♦ Q 9 7 5 4 ♣ 9 5		EAST ♠ K 9 5 2 ♥ 9 3 ♦ 10 8 6 3 2 ♣ 8 2
	SOUTH ♠ 8 ♥ A K Q J 6 5 ♦ A K ♣ A K J 7

Mr. Culbertson will discuss this hand in tomorrow's column.

YANKEES LOSE 5TH STRAIGHT; 8-YEAR RECORD

WOMEN'S GOLF CHAMPION WINS OPENING MATCH

But Show Is Stolen by Patty Berg.

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

Mrs. Estelle Lawson Page of Chapel Hill, N. C., yesterday opened defense of her National Women's Golf championship at the Westmoreland Country club with a first round victory, but found her effort completely overshadowed by the performance of the girl whom she defeated in the 1937 final at Memphis.

That girl is determined Patty Berg, the Minneapolis redhead who has won nine of the twelve 1938 tournaments in which she has appeared prior to this. Yesterday Patty scored as crushing a victory as any national has seen in eighteen hole competition of recent years. She dashed off of the tenth green at Westmoreland with a 10 and 8 triumph over Mrs. Myron Davy of Washington, D. C., a lady who has reduced her club handicap from 30 to 5 strokes within the space of less than two years. Miss Berg simply assembled a bogey, two birdies, and seven pars for her ticket into this morning's second round.

Mrs. Page Wins.

Mrs. Page found a trifle more difficulty in defeating Mrs. Eric Phillips, present Canadian title holder, 4 and 3. The latter held her even through the first nine, which the champion turned in 42 to her opponent's 41. Then Mrs. Page turned on four winning holes and two halves to end the match.

No notable upsets were turned in during the thirty-two first round arguments, closest to same being the 1 up elimination of Mrs. Edwin H. Vare Jr. of Philadelphia, who as Glenna Collett won the championship six times, by 18 year old Dorothy Kirby of Atlanta, Ga. A bunker at the seventeenth cost the one time Bobby Jones of women's golf a four and they halved the eighteenth. It was the second time in her career that Glenna had bowed out in the first round, the only other occasion being her defeat in 1920 by the present Mrs. S. L. Reinhardt of Chicago, then Elaine Rosenthal.

Mrs. Critchley Advances.

Another first round match of importance involved Mrs. A. C. Critchley of Surrey, England, and Jane Cothran of Greenville, S. C., one of the south's leading favorites. Mrs. Critchley, who as Diana Fishwick held the British championship, came home a 3 and 2 winner. This morning she will meet Dorothy Traung, the San Francisco girl who tied for the medal with Mrs. Page on Monday.

Miss Traung had to bring off quite a comeback in winning her first round match from Mrs. Lillian Zech, Chicago veteran, 4 and 3. The latter won the first four holes, but Miss Traung halved the fifth and then won the next four to bring herself even at the turn.

Three members of the British Curtis cup team survived the first round. Jessie Anderson of Perth, Scotland, 1937 British champion, defeated her countrywoman, Nan Steel Baird of Prestwick, 5 and 4. Clarrie Tiernan, the buxom Irish lass who has exercised a hex on New Jersey golfers, continued same by rallying for a one up decision over Laddie Irwin of Glen Ridge, N. J. Mrs. J. B. Walker of Dublin, Ireland, advanced with a 7 and 5 victory over Mrs. Tim Lowry of Kildeer.

Two Chicagoans Survive.

The Chicago delegation was reduced to two. After Mrs. Zech's defeat, Virginia Lindblad of Lincolnshire lost a 20 hole wrangle with Mrs. Dan Chandler of Dallas, Tex. Virginia Ingram of Sunset Ridge, district champion who won her first title at Westmoreland two years ago, lost to Hilda Livengood, former state winner, 1 up. Ellamae Williams of Medinah, daughter of Eddie Williams, Bryn Mawr professional, who led the Chicago qualifiers with an 85, had to shoot a birdie on the second extra hole to win from Mrs. R. M. Torgerson of Forest Hills, N. Y.

The best scoring of the day was turned in by Miss Berg; her towns-

A contributor inquired the other day if we remembered when State street was a hay market. The State street market was for provisions only. It was located north from Randolph street. No hay was sold. Pouring my love out in humility,
Though I had been the target of their jests.

And I besought the Magdalene to tear
The tinsel of false shame from my hard heart,
That I might worship Him in fervent prayer
Though I should meet Him in the busy mart;
Knowing as Mary did how more than sweet
It is to linger at the Master's feet.

CUBS RAINED OUT IN PHILADELPHIA; PLAY TWO TODAY

Lee, Bryant Are Named to Pitch.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Philadelphia, Pa., Sept. 20.—The last three sunshiny afternoons—two in New York and here this afternoon—the Cubs have been at leisure, not having to go near their work arena. Since the New York sunshine, last Thursday and Friday the Cubs have played a double-header in the rain at the Polo grounds, New York, and a double-header in the rain at Ebbets field, Brooklyn. Yesterday they dressed up in their monkey suits and watched a cloudburst wash away a Cub-Dodger double-header and today the double-header scheduled with the Phillies was called off before the sun popped out.

Unlike the phony postponement in New York last week the action here today was proper. Shibe park was a pond at the time the postponement was announced, there was no assurance that the sun would emerge and when it did come out showed no signs of consistent lingering.

Thirteen Games Left.

Before today's games were called off Manager Hartnett announced the Cubs would not go to Brooklyn Friday to play off those two games rained out yesterday. Hence, the Cubs' remaining 1938 schedule is cut to thirteen games. Shortly afterward Traveling Secretary Bob Lewis said that instead of playing two this afternoon the Cubs and Phillies will play double-headers here tomorrow and Thursday.

Ever since the Cubs lost the first three of four games played here the last time they were east, all by one run, Manager Hartnett has cited the span as the poison center of the entire campaign. Previously the Phils had won only one game from the Cubs. Gabby figured out where one long fly in each of the three tragedies here would have won all three games. And how the Cubs could use the difference between these three games lost and won.

Lee and Bryant Ready.

The weather delays have accomplished one desirable purpose. Gabby has his two reliable pitchers ready to throw against the tailenders tomorrow. Bill Lee will go after his twentieth victory, Clay Bryant after his eighteenth. If they can't win tomorrow the pennant dream will be pretty well gummed up, what with only eleven games to play after the business here tomorrow.

The Cubs will leave for Chicago Thursday night and Saturday will open a three game series with the Cardinals. Following the Cards will come the Pirates to wind up the Wrigley field season with three games, Sept. 27, Sept. 28, and Sept. 29.

Most of the Cubs feel that if they can enter this series within three games of the Pirates, pennant chances will be at least exciting. After the Cub-Pirate series in Chicago the Pirates will go to Cincinnati for a doubleheader on Sept. 30 and single games to wind up the season Oct. 1 and 2. At the same time the Cubs will be in St. Louis for three games with the Cardinals.

Mesner to Join Cubs.

Thus far this season the Pirates have won nine and lost six to the Reds. They have won ten and lost nine in competition with the Cubs. The Cub-Card series to date shows nine victories for the Cubs and six for the Cards. The Cubs have won their last four from the Cards, including a three game sweep in St. Louis three weeks ago.

It was made known today that Infielder Steve Mesner, farmed to Indianapolis, will rejoin the Cubs in Chicago Saturday.

BEARS BOLSTER ATTACK; POINT FOR NEGRO TEAM

BY GEORGE STRICKLER.

Soldiers' field is the scene of intense activity this week. Coach George Halas and his Bears take over the huge lake front arena each morning. In the afternoon the nation's colored stars move in to learn the offensive and defensive strategies of Coach Ray Kemp and Duke Slater. Friday night the two teams meet in the stadium for charity.

It will be the third All-Star charity game of the young season for the Bears, who preceded their first two National league victories with triumphs over graduate collegiate aggregations in Providence, R. I., and Birmingham, Ala. There appears to be little reason why they shouldn't make it five straight Friday.

Bears Are Determined.

It is a very determined squad that Halas assembles every morning at 9 o'clock. The Bears aren't very proud of their record to date. They accept the Cardinal victory and will count Sunday's 2 to 0 triumph over Green Bay, but they are not bragging about either. What they are after now is coördination of the power Halas is convinced they have. They expect to develop it before their next National league start a week from Sunday in Philadelphia.

Friday's game affords them an excellent opportunity to workout the details of their attack against strong opposition without the risk of a setback in the league race.

Ex-College Stars to Play.

The All-Star squad, assembled through a nation-wide poll conducted by 100 Negro dailies, is a big, fast collection of former college standouts. Among the familiar names in the starting lineup are those of Dwight Reed, Minnesota end last year; Oze Simmons, Iowa half back of two years ago; Jim Day, 200 pound end and captain of Doc Spears' Toledo university eleven last fall; Joe Lillard, who played for Spears at Oregon and later starred with the Chicago Cardinals, and Vernon Beaubain, varsity tackle at Brown university in 1936.

De Paul Faces Hard Season with Only Three Regulars

BY WILFRID SMITH.

If Eurystheus were tabulating his list of twelve tests for Hercules today he probably would include the task of coaching De Paul university's football team.

Ben Connor.

Eight regulars on last year's varsity have been graduated. De Paul faces its most difficult schedule in history, meeting among others, Illinois, Montana, North Dakota, and Centenary. All of which Makes Coach Ben Connor's job a Hurculean assignment.

Injuries and inclement weather have deepened the gloom at DePaul. Since the Blue Demons have no place to practice indoors the boys have had to work in the mud on De Paul field. Clare Murphy, sophomore tackle, from St. Ignatious High school, one of the most promising of the newcomers, has been lost for six weeks with a shoulder injury. Capt. Tom Roberts, senior tackle, has a sprained ankle which may keep him out of Saturday's contest with Ripon college. And Clem Naughton, a junior end from St. Mel's, reported only yesterday after a four week's illness with influenza. He will be on the sidelines until mid-season.

Squad Cut to 38.

Ineligibility and withdrawals from the university have cut the squad to thirty-eight. From this group Connor and his assistant, Dan Hanley, former Notre Dame full back, hope to find eleven youngsters who can duplicate last year's scoreless tie with Illinois. After serving seven years as line coach, Connor succeeded to the head coaching position last fall when Jim Kelly went to the University of Minesota as track coach. Last fall De Paul won five games, lost one, and tied two. Since Connor joined the De Paul staf in 1930, the Blue Demons have won forty-one games, lost fourteen, and tied six.

Most remarkable point in this record is that De Paul seldom has a player from outside Chicago or the immediate suburbs. This year, for instance, all of the first and second teams live in Chicago with the exception of Don Johnson, left end. His home is in Arlington Heights, Ill., but he commutes to the university each day.

While Connor regards the loss by graduation of eight last year's stars as a handicap which can not be overcome this fall, he still believes his boys may win five of their nine games. The teams with whom De Paul should have an even chance are Ripon, Loyola [New Orleans], Catholic university, St. Louis, and University of Wichita. Perhaps, this is too optimistic, and, of course, further injuries would upset the calculation.

Need a Center.

"Filling the center position and finding a right tackle are the immediate problems," Connor said yesterday after he had interrupted the conversation to assure Frank Stevens, who has trained De Paul's teams for thirteen years, that the squad would not scrimmage any more this week. "If we have any more injuries, and particularly if any one of our starting back field drops out," Connor continued, "we will be in trouble for sure."

De Paul's team, quite naturally, will be built around the three returning regulars. Frank Jenkevicius, right guard, a 200 pound senior from St. Ignatius, is a splendid offensive and defensive man. He excels in blocking, and, paired with Jim Patek, another St. Ignatius graduate, leaves the coaches without worries here. Patek weighs 165 pounds and is aggressive, playing the type of game so necessary to the Notre Dame system of offense. Patek's experience last year makes him ready to move into the lineup as a regular.

They Have a Corrigan.

Capt. Tom Roberts, a natural leader, and the best of the linemen, is the left tackle. His 210 pounds bulwark one side of the line. He is a senior and was graduated from Fenger High school.

Third of the 1937 varsity men is

WHITE SOX AND STRATTON BEAT CHAMPIONS, 5-4

Appling Aids Monty with Two Doubles.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

Joe McCarthy's world champion Yankees must be slipping. They have just clinched their third straight pennant but in the opener with the White Sox yesterday they suffered their fifth successive defeat, 5 to 4. In all of McCarthy's eight seasons as boss of Col. Jake Ruppert's diamond celebrities it never had happened before, all losing streaks being halted at four or less. And just to make a little more history for the year, it was the Sox' first 1938 triumph over the champions in Comiskey Park.

The Sox accomplished these two features by doing a little consequential sniping after the Yankees had made headway, despite a lack of hits. The titleholders nicked Monty Stratton for only two hits in four innings but both grew into runs. The Sox were sorely beset by Irving [Bump] Hadley until the sixth. Then they cut loose against their former mate with a pair of tieing runs and did even better in the seventh by fastening down the decision with a cluster of three. The latter helped considerably, in view of two runs yielded by Stratton in the eighth.

Appling Is the Hero.

Batting assistance for Stratton's fifteenth victory, an imposing total for a man who missed the first seven weeks of the race, came principally from Luke Appling. Luke was good for a pair of two baggers, one driving in a run in the sixth and the other sending home two in the seventh. In each instance Merv Connors, the rookie who smashed three successive homers last Saturday, had to tear around to the plate from first base. The youngster got himself in these spots on a pass and a single. He had another single earlier in the battle, but it netted nothing.

Stratton's mistake in the first inning was a pass which the Yankees converted into a run on a minimum of hitting. Rolfe walked with one out and hiked to third on Henrich's single into right center. Di Maggio sent a fly to Rosenthal and Rolfe scored, but Appling cut off the throw to the plate and doubled Henrich, who tried to reach second on the catch.

Monty Strikes 'Em Out.

Stratton held his own in the second and third by fanning a total of four batters, but his mates deserted him in the fourth and another Yankee reached the plate. The inning opened with Henrich grounding straight into Meyer's hands, but the kid let the ball trickle through to the outfield. Di Maggio flied to Rosenthal and the latter saw a chance to double Henrich off first. The throw sailed into the Yankee dugout, Henrich taking third. Gehrig fanned and Dickey was hit by a pitched ball, after which Selkirk singled to left, Henrich scoring. Gordon fanned for the third out.

The Sox started to do business with Hadley in the third but changed their minds. Singles by Rensa and Radcliff put men on with one out, after which Berger and Steinbacher flied to the outfield. The fourth started even more favorably. Connors singled and Appling walked before any one was retired. A force play on Rosenthal's tap and a double killing on Meyer's grounder to Gordon, halted this maneuver. There also were two on with one out in the fifth but Berger catnapped as a third strike floated past and Steinbacher rolled into a forceout.

Sox Finally Score.

The sixth, in which the Sox broke the Hadley charm, opened with a walk to Connors. Appling spanked

GOPHER COACHES LOOK FOR MEN WHO CAN TAKE IT

They'll Need 'Em in That Game with Washington.

Minneapolis, Minn., Sept. 20.—[Special.]—As the Washington football team left Seattle today with Coach Jimmy Phelan declaring "we have an even chance to win," Coach Bernie Bierman of Minnesota continued back field experiments with the idea of acquainting the players with various positions for Saturday's games in Memorial stadium.

Major shifts found Larry Buhler, full back, at right half back, and Phil Belfiori, quarter back, who formerly was a full back, also working at right half back to spell the veteran Wilbur Moore.

Two other changes, in the line, found Bob Johnson shifting from tackle to guard and Allan Rork from guard to tackle.

The tipoff was that Bierman, feeling he must depend more on iron men this year than reserves and depth, will have the boys ready to play different positions.

The Washington squad will arrive at 10 a. m. Thursday.

MICHIGAN SCRIMMAGES.

Ann Arbor, Mich., Sept. 20.—[Special.]—Michigan resumed scrimmage today, Coach H. O. [Fritz] Crisler laying special emphasis on the kicking game.

Although Sophomore Full Back Ed Christy of Gary, Ind., joined the injured list with a twisted ankle as the result of a locker room fall, yesterday's injury gloom was dispelled with the return of Jack Brennan, senior guard. Brennan's wrist injury was reported minor and he resumed play this afternoon. Tackle Joe Saville will be out for less than a week with a fractured cheek bone incurred yesterday.

Sophomore August Fabyan and Bill Luther stood out in today's kicking drills, together with Tom Harmon and Paul Kromer, ranking half backs.

PURDUE SEEKS PASSER.

Lafayette, Ind., Sept. 20.—[Special.]—The search for a forward passer was continued this afternoon as Coach Mal Elward sought to add more versatility to the Purdue attack in preparation for the season's opener with Detroit here Saturday afternoon.

Although there were no Cecil Isbells in evidence when it came to consistency, it was evident that the passing duties are apt to fall to one of four possibilities, Jim Nesbitt and Lou Brock, veterans; Bob Vyverberg, junior reserve, or Mike Byelene, chunky little sophomore prospect.

Word was received from Detroit today that the Titans' 72 piece band will accompany between 500 and 600 rooters who will follow Gus Dorais' eleven to Lafayette on a special train.

De Paul Faces Difficult Job with New Men

Bill Corrigan, last year's quarter back, who will be used principally at right half back. "Corrigan is entirely too good a ball carrier to be wasted in the blocking quarter back position," Connor says. He still will be the field general, at least until others have opportunity to develop. Corrigan also is the kicker and passer for the starting back field.

Tom O'Brien, junior from St. Philips' High school, will be the quarter back when Corrigan is at right half. A senior, Walter Mainowicz, who didn't play football while at Harrison Tech but was a member of the track team, is the full back. This 200 pounder has the physical qualifications for the position and De Paul believes he will be a star.

Completing this starting back field is Ed Norris, left half. Norris can run, pass, and kick, and with one year's experience as a reserve, he's ready to step into the all-important assignment in the offense. Supporting Norris is Roy Quaglia, a sophomore from Crane Tech, who is a hard runner, and Al. Hackett, a junior from Waller High school, who is the best punter on the squad.

Immel at Center.

Phil Nee, sophomore from St. Philip's, is the second full back. Other backs are Hank Carney, Bill Duax, Jack Higgins, the second quarter back, and Bill Hinckley, No. 2 right half.

Bob Immel, a Chicago boy who was graduated from Campion Academy, Prairie du Chien, Wis., has been changed from end to center in an effort to bolster that position. Joe Boyle, Leo High, a sophomore, is next in line. Assignments for the other line positions now are:

Right guard—Frank Jenkevicious, John Svienty.

After the Ripon game Saturday on De Paul field the Blue Demons travel to Illinois, Montana, and North Dakota. On Oct. 22 De Paul plays Loyola in Wrigley field. Catholic university then is met in Wrigley field on Nov. 5, and the following Saturday De Paul plays St. Louis university in Loyola stadium to complete the home schedule. The final games are with Centenary and Wichita.

JORDAN ON MAROON STAF.

Prescott Jordan, co-captain of the Maroon football team two years ago, was added to the Chicago coaching staf yesterday as an assistant to Herb Blumer, line coach. Jordan's job will be to work individually with the line candidates. He was one of the outstanding guards developed at the Midway in recent years, and he now is a law student.

It becomes increasingly apparent that Chicago's problem will be in the line. Only one man now in the first string line, Ted Find, left guard, has had any experience.

Yesterday's two sessions were given over almost entirely to individual work on blocking and tackling. Joe Howard, erstwhile sophomore guard, was switched to end. The number of candidates was brought to more than fifty, a record for recent years, when John Wickman, 190 pound transfer student from the University of Washington, reported.

Fight Decisions

At South Bend, Ind.—Alex Kettles beat Charles Belanger [10].

At Pittsburgh, Pa.—Oscar Rankins and Al Quaill drew [10]; Willie Cheatum beat Irish Mickey O'Brien [6]; George Hughes, beat Buddy Holshauer [8].

At Detroit, Mich.—George Sutka stopped Henry Palmeri [4].

Illinois Halts Frosh Using Ohio U. Plays

Champaign, Ill., Sept. 30.—[Special.]—Illinois, after an intra-squad scrimmage, took the defense against a freshman eleven using Ohio university plays today in preparation for the season's opener Saturday.

Jimmy Smith, impersonating Ohio university's triple threat quarter back, Johnny Montgomery, led the frosh. Line plays resulted in occasional gains, but passes often went wild or were intercepted.

Later Tony Mazeika and Bob Wehrli, senior half backs, alternated in carrying the ball for the varsity with Wehrli, who filled in for Cliff Peterson, sophomore regular, scoring on a 20 yard end run. Coach Bob Zuppke, seeking additional end strength, put Bon O'Neill, sophomore, at right end on the second team.

OHIO GETS TRICKY.

Athens, O., Sept. 20.—[Special.]—Ohio university's football squad has been working on a tricky shift to dazzle Illinois in the season's opener in Champaign Saturday. The coach, Don Peden, has employed a swing sextet from the university band to help the squad master the intricate formations he has developed.

Peden's big problem is to find a capable replacement for Johnny Montgomery, 145 pound quarter back, who will again be called upon to shoulder the kicking, passing, and ball toting responsibilities. Montgomery has been the star of every scrimmage session this season.

The Bobcats have thirteen letter men to throw against the Illini and will be attempting to duplicate their 6-0 upset victory over the Illini in the 1935 season opener.

FOUR BADGER TOUCHDOWNS.

Madison, Wis., Sept. 20.—(AP)—The Wisconsin varsity clicked off four touchdowns during scrimmage with the second team today. The offensive nevertheless missed fire except for the touchdown spurts. Bill Schmitz, Madison left half back, stood out as a passer and in ground gaining rôles.

Jimmy Dean, who played a year at the Navy and was not eligible last fall because of the transfer rule, has been shifted from right end to right tackle where the veteran Gene Brodhagen has been fighting to keep his berth against three sophomores—Harry Schueneman of Chicago, Elmer Tornow of Green Bay, and Rex John of Manitowoc.

The shortage of talent is equally serious at left tackle, where Robert J. Eckl, Milwaukee junior, is the only experienced candidate.

The three injured players, Tackle Bill Garrott, Half Back Jimmy Martin, and Guard Lynn Hovland, are expected to be ready for heavy work within a few days.

BUCKEYES HAVE POWER.

Columbus, O., Sept. 20.—[Special.]—The key word of today's session of the Ohio State squad was fundamentals, with Coach Francis Schmidt and his staf giving individual instruction to the various players.

At times Jimmy Sexton, Don Scott, Jimmy Strausbaugh, and Jimmy Langhurst carried the ball. Another combination included Johnny Rabb, Howard Wedebrook, Mike Kabealo, and Frank Zadworney.

For the first time this season Tackles Alex Schoenbaum and Carl Kaplanoff were in the lineup at the same time. Jerry Speers worked at right guard and Victor Marino at left, with Andrako and Maag alternating at center.

INDIANA STRESSES DEFENSE.

Bloomington, Ind., Sept. 20.—[Special.]—Indiana university's football team stressed pass defense today as a freshman squad, called to the varsity practice field for the first time this season, presented Ohio State's plays.

The Hoosiers, who revealed an effective air attack in a practice game Saturday, displayed a weakness against this same offensive today. Sophomores, in particular, were confused on assignments.

Passers and punters came in for individual attention from Coach Bo McMillin, with Joe Nicholson, Evansville sophomore, being established as the No. 1 passer. Punting honors were shared by Cobb Lewis, Eddie Sherbert, Ray Dumke, Ray Bringle and Harold Hursh, all sophomores, and Capt. Paul Graham.

Notre Dame First Eleven Rallies to Tie 3d Team, 6 to 6

Notre Dame, Ind., Sept. 20.—[Special.]—Notre Dame's varsity came from behind to tie the third team, 6 to 6, today in a scrimmage which featured forward passing.

Bob Saggau, sophomore left half, led the third team to its touchdown. He first ran ten yards, next caught a twenty yard pass from Emmett Crowe, senior quarter back, and then tossed a nineteen yard pass to Frank Biagi, junior left end, to put the ball on the 1 yard line. Milt Piepul, sophomore full back, plunged over. Paul Morrison missed the placement.

Center Ed Longhi intercepted a third team pass on his 20 yard line to start the march which carried the varsity to its touchdown. Harry Stevenson's passes and Motts Tonelli's runs advanced the ball to the 1 yard line, from where Lou Zontini, right half, scored. Tom Gallagher blocked Stevenson's placement.

Coach Elmer Layden ordered more scrimmage for tomorrow. Ends Earl Brown and Johnny O'Brien received cuts over their eyes today but will be available tomorrow.

Shaughnessy Funeral to Be Held Tomorrow

Funeral services for Thomas J. Shaughnessy, attorney and sportsman, who died suddenly early Tuesday morning, will be held tomorrow morning in St. Philip Neri church, 72d street and Merrill avenue. Burial will be in Calvary cemetery. Shaughnessy, former Notre Dame athlete and one time manager of the Chicago Shamrocks hocky club, was 46 years old.

Iowa Starts West Today to Battle U.C.L.A.

Iowa City, Ia., Sept. 20.—[Special.]—The University of Iowa football squad, preparing for its trip to Los Angeles and the game with U. C. L. A. Friday night, worked out under lights tonight. The squad of thirty-three, with a possible two additions, will leave Iowa City tomorrow for the Pacific coast.

Tonight's drill, which was open to the public, followed two sessions behind locked gates last night and this morning.

Iowa's starting lineup against the Bruins probably will be composed of Fred Smith and Erwin Prasse, ends; Henry Luebcke and Jim Kelley, tackles; Chuck Brady and Bob Allen, guards; Bruno Andruska, center; Mike Enich at quarter back, Nile Kinnick and Glenn Olson, half backs, and Frank Balazs, full back.

Ken Pettit, sophomore, who appeared to have clinched the left end position, will be taken on the trip and may see action. A bone in his hand was broken in yesterday's drill.

STATE LOSES CENTERS.

East Lansing, Mich., Sept. 20.—[Special.]—The Michigan State coaching staf was forced to go into ranks of third and fourth string players to find someone to take over the center job. Tom McShannock and Herbert Schaffer, two of the ranking center candidates, are out with injuries. Today Ron Alling was confined to the college hospital with a severe cold. It is doubtful whether any of these will be in shape for the Wayne game Saturday.

CHICAGO TEAM BEATS OMAHA IN TOURNEY GAME

Battle Creek, Mich., Sept. 20.—[Special.]—Oklahoma City remained the only undefeated team in the American baseball congress tournament tonight. Battle Creek, previously unbeaten, lost today to Des Moines, 9 to 5. In the only other tournament game today, the Chicago Kordecki Orioles eliminated Omaha, Neb., 5 to 0.

Omaha had forfeited one game by walking off the field yesterday in protest against an umpire's decision. Omaha committed nine errors today while Loudon of Chicago pitched a two hit game.

Two other once defeated teams, St. Paul, Minn., 1937 champions, and Chattanooga, Tenn., play tomorrow's only game.

Eddie Collins Jr. Leads Yale Varsity to Victory

Gales Ferry, Conn., Sept. 20.—(AP)—Eddie Collins Jr. and Bud Humphrey today paced the Yale varsity to a 19 to 0 victory over the third team in a scrimmage session. Collins tallied twice on end runs. Humphrey scored once and set up the touchdowns with his passes. The second team beat the fourth, 12 to 0.

NORTHWESTERN WORRIES ABOUT REPLACING VANZO

Seeks Strong Man for Backing Up Line.

Coach Lynn Waldorf has suspected all along that his major problem would be to find a replacement for Fred Vanzo in Northwestern's back field and it has taken less than two weeks of practice to prove that the situation is serious.

For three years the Wildcats depended on Vanzo as a line backer and it is a matter of record that his 220 pounds loomed as a mighty bulwark on many occasions. The job of replacing him has been all the more complicated this fall by a shoulder injury suffered by Nick Conteas, a junior, who was Vanzo's understudy last year.

While Conteas returned to practice yesterday after a week's layoff he is still unable to take part in contact work and the longer he remains inactive the less time the coaching staf will have to get a line on his ability. Meanwhile, Dick Richards, 185 pound sophomore, has moved into the first string back field until Conteas' return.

Nick Cutlich, a regular tackle, suffered a head injury during yesterday's scrimmage and is expected to be off the practice field for a week.

SCHINDLER LOST TO U. S. C. FOR ALABAMA GAME

Los Angeles, Cal., Sept. 20.—[Special.]—Ambrose Schindler, Southern California outstanding back last season, is definitly out of the opening game of the season Saturday against the University of Alabama.

Schindler, first string quarter back last year, who has been shifted to full back, is suffering from a knee injury.

Report Pitt Sophomores Strike; Coach Denies It

Pittsburgh, Pa., Sept. 20.—(AP)—Rumors of a strike by sophomore members of Pittsburgh's football squad spread today as the team missed practice. Coach Jock Sutherland laughed at the strike reports, saying the sophs were busy getting their work straightened out and "when they got here late I excused them from practice."

The man who has lost the spirit of youth is too busy with gloomy forecasts to gather bait, much less go fishing.

Men with the spirit of youth pioneered our America...men with vision and sturdy confidence. They found contentment in the thrill of action, knowing that success was never final and failure never fatal. It was courage that counted. Isn't opportunity in America today greater than it was in the days of our grateful forefathers? Good!

St. Louis, Mo., Sept. 20.—(AP)—A seven run inning in each game gave the Boston Red Sox a double victory over the St. Louis Browns today, 12 to 8 and 7 to 2, and strengthened their hold on second place in the American league. Jimmy Foxx hit his 46th homer and a triple in the sixth inning of the second game.

Stratton and White Sox Beat Yankees, 5 to 4

a two bagger to the right field scoreboard, Connors going around to the plate. Appling went to third on Rosenthal's infield out and home on a single looped into right by Meyer. Rensa then was tossed out by Crosetti, after which Stratton did the best he could toward putting himself in the lead. He ripped off a rakish liner to left center but about the time it began to look like a sure base hit, Selkirk stabbed the ball with his gloved hand.

The Calm, Then the Storm.

The Sox started the seventh as if they had no plans for giving Hadley both barrels. Radcliff, the first man up, bounced to Gehrig. The heavy firing began instantly. Berger doubled over third and continued to the plate on Steinbacher's single to left. Connors singled to center. Appling doubled to right center for the second time, sending Steinbacher and Connors over the counter. Rosenthal then rolled to Gehrig and Meyer struck out.

The Yankees' third hit was a double to right by Rolfe with two out in the fifth. Their next hit was Rolfe's single to right to start the eighth. Henrich popped out but Di Maggio and Gehrig singled to score Rolfe. Di Maggio took third on the Gehrig contribution and skipped to the plate when Dickey flied to Rosenthal. A single by Selkirk put Gehrig on third and the bases were filled on a pass to Gordon. Hoag was rushed forth to bat for Hadley and grounded to Meyer for the third out.

The second game of the White Sox Yankees' series today will be a left handed affair. Thornton Lee will pitch for the Sox and Vernon Gomez for the world champions.

Umpire Bill Summers is afraid of black clouds. One of that variety settled over the park while the Sox were batting in the second inning yesterday and Bill promptly ran for cover, telling the athletes to do the same. After a nine minute wait Bill emerged from the cyclone cellar.

Only three of the Yankees who started the game yesterday escaped Stratton's strikeout ball. They were Rolfe, Henrich and DiMaggio. Gehrig, Dickey, and Hadley succumbed once and Crosetti, Selkirk and Gordon each twice.

275 Begin 108 Hole Meet for $13,500 Today

New York, Sept. 20.—(AP)—Two hundreds and seventy-five golfers will start play for $13,500 tomorrow in the 108 hole Westchester tournament.

Every noted pro is entered in the medal play championship, the longest tournament in the game's history. First prize money is $5,000. Added cash prizes for exceptional tee shots and a long distance driving contest present a possibility of raising the total purse, offered by George Murphy of New York, to $22,000.

Ralph Guldahl, Sammy Snead, and Byron Nelson are regarded as the leading contenders. Gene Sarazen, always hot when big money shows, also is favored. The meet ends Sunday evening.

Eighty-five will play eighteen holes tomorrow and the remainder the same number on Thursday. Then the field will be reduced to the low 150 and ties. Those low 150 will play eighteen holes Friday, whereupon the field will be reduced to low 60, and ties for the Saturday and Sunday rounds, each thirty-six holes.

On three short greens, prizes of $15 and $10 are offered to any one hitting tee shots within six and eight foot circles about the pin. On another hole, a driving championship with special prizes is offered. A hole-in-one will be worth $100.

St. Paul Beats Milwaukee, 5 to 4, to Stay in Playoffs

Milwaukee, Wis., Sept. 20.—(AP)—St. Paul, American association champion, defeated Milwaukee, 5 to 4, tonight to remain in the semi-final playoff series. The triumph left the Saints trailing, three games to two, in the best four of seven competition. Kansas City will oppose the St. Paul-Milwaukee winner for the right to represent the American association against the International league's playoff winner in the little world series. Tonight's score:

St. Paul	300	020	000—5	10	1

Batteries—Herring and Silvestri; Wyatt and Becker.

Connie's Afraid the Yanks Are Getting Careless

Detroit, Mich., Sept. 20.—(AP)—Connie Mack shook a warning finger at the New York Yankees today. The manager of the Philadelphia Athletics said he feared the Yanks, who have lost five straight games, may loaf themselves out of the world series victory—if it is loafing the Yanks are doing.

"I don't like to see a team that has clinched the pennant take things easy in the remaining games," Connie said. "I don't like to see it loaf if it is an American league team. There is always the danger that it may not be able to snap out of its easy ways in the world series and be beaten by the National league entrant. We just can't have that sort of thing happening if we can prevent it."

NEWARK BEATS ROCHESTER, 3-0; STAYS IN SERIES

Rochester, N. Y., Sept. 20.—(AP)—Joe Beggs kept the champion Newark Bears in the International league playoffs tonight by blanking the Rochester Red Wings with five hits for a 3 to 0 victory. It was the Bears' second triumph against three defeats in the semi-final best of seven game series.

The teams will shift to Newark for the sixth game tomorrow night. A seventh game, if necessary, also will be played in the Bears' home park.

Mates Play Cards While He Strikes Out Opposing Side

St. Louis, Mo., Sept. 20.—(AP)—Pitcher Ray Ortez allowed his infielders and an outfielder to play cards as he hurled the Phoenix, Ariz., Lettuce Kings to the championship of the American Softball association tonight. In the eighth inning Ortez called in his teammates and then proceeded to strike out three opposing batters as the Arizonans scored a 5 to 1 victory over the St. Louis Goldbergs. While he pitched, Ortez's mates engaged in a short game of cards behind the pitcher's box.

DROUILLARD AND COVELLI FAIL TO ARRIVE IN LOOP

But No One Is Worried; They Fight Friday.

Frankie [Kid] Covelli, Brooklyn featherweight, and Orville Drouillard, Windsor, Ont., lightweight, failed to arrive as scheduled yesterday for their matches at White City Friday. Covelli is matched against Willie Joyce and Drouillard against Pete Lello. Their absence didn't cause Promoter Sam Abruscato concern, however.

"They're sure to show up today," he said.

Fritz von Schacht, German heavyweight wrestler, will meet Pete Schu tonight in Rainbo Fronton, Clark street and Lawrence avenue. Jack Conley is paired with Jim Heffner, Frankie Hart with George Becker, Ignacio Martinez with Rudy Kay, and Pete Sherman with Fritz Schnabel.

If weather permits a series of amateur wrestling matches will be presented this evening in Madison-Cicero arena. . . . An intercity amateur tournament between boxers from St. Louis and Chicago will be held in the same arena Friday. Elwood Jones, 118 pounds; Al Dorlac, 135; Gus Moll, 160; Earl Gallagher, 147, and Charles Merton, also a welterweight, will represent St. Louis.

Co-Promoters Jack Beatty and Snooks Gordon will hold their opening indoor show in Peoria Oct. 3. . . . Joe Triner, commission chairman, will return on Monday from Los Angeles, where he supervised the annual Schenley Athletic club show this week. . . . Ken Overlin, journeyman middleweight, will make his headquarters in Chicago for an indefinite period as a result of his ten round conquest of Billy Celebron Monday.

SUMATRA III. RUNS A WINNING RACE FOR NEW TRAINER

South American Mare Scores by 2 Lengths.

BY FRENCH LANE.

Lawrence Barker, the Los Angeles department store owner, changed horse trainers at the Hawthorne course yesterday morning, replacing F. J. McDonald with R. T. Watts.

In the afternoon Watts saddled the South American mare Sumatra III. for the Saginaw purse at 6 furlongs. Because she has been hanging around Chicago since Aug. 1 without winning a race little attention was paid to the foreign bred mare.

Evidently Trainer Watts and Sumatra III. struck up a friendly acquaintance without loss of time. Sumatra III. let Dark Sun make the pace over the difficult track until the field hit the last turn. At that stage Jocky Willie Leishman cracked her with his whip and she bounded to the front.

The battle was over. Sumatra III. found better going near the center of the track and chose that course. She wound up the winner by two lengths, with Merry Caroline second and Dark Sun third.

The South American ran the 6 furlongs in 1:20 2-5, one of the best races at Hawthorne in the last ten days. In the betting she paid $13.40. It all ended to make Trainer Watts the hero of the afternoon.

Favorites Take Early Races.

Favorites had things their own way during the first three races. Shasta Play was up in the final strides to win the opener at a $6 payoff. He had his hands full to get the decision over Emporium, owned by W. J. Lynch, Chicago harbor master. Emporium probably would have reversed the photo finish decision had Jocky Tom Vercher given him a stronger ride. He was clearly outridden by Jocky Ashcroft on Shasta Play all through the run down the stretch. Mr. Mile finished third.

Mary Vito was the second choice to score. She came from behind to whip Fluke and Ito. Her owner, V. E. [Red] Berry, had made a close examination of every part of the track shortly before the race was run. He knew exactly where the best footing was to be found. He relayed this information to Jocky J. G. Wilson and Mary Vito had little trouble winning. She was at 3 to 2 in the betting.

Little Duke was the choice when he made the pace from start to finish in the third race over the 6½ furlong course. He had to be roused by Jocky T. P. Martin in the stretch to kill off his desire to quit. Little Duke paid $5.40.

Comes an Upset.

Next came an upset when Clarence Davison's Eternal Wave got a nose decision over Polariscope. Both were outsiders in the betting. Eternal Wave, which had finished second and third in his last two starts, got the decision in the final strides. Heavily backed Fair So was third. The favorite, Wise Princess, was out of the money after showing early speed. Eternal Wave was a 10 to 1 shot.

Transmutable was made the favorite in the Wabash claiming purse at 6½ furlongs. He ran one of his bad races, so Delta Dan was the winner at an $8.20 payoff. Four lengths behind came Black River and Our Count.

Jocky Jimmy Ashcroft for the second time in two days scored a triple at Hawthorne yesterday. The winners he piloted were Shasta Play in the first, Delta Dan in the fifth and the odds on favorite Hilsinger in the seventh. Ashcroft has been riding on the major circuit only a short time.

Mordecai, winner of the Sallan cup handicap at Detroit, has been rated top weight by Racing Secretary Julius Reeder for the Hawthorne Autumn handicap, feature on Saturday's card. He must pack 118 pounds.

The second of Hawthorne's two $2,500 added stakes on Saturday, the John C. Schank Memorial handicap, finds Leading Article, sprinter owned by B. P. Woodson of Texas, as top weight at 118 pounds. The Le Mar Stock Farm's Mar Le and S. J. Norris' Mr. Blaze are close behind at 116. Mar Le was a double stakes winner at Washington Park.

Mrs. F. M. Bruce of the Annetta hotel, Cicero, won the $500 Hawthorne rating contest when she named Hilsinger and Good Soldier to run one-two in the seventh race. Mrs. Bruce was one of two contestants to pick six winners in seven races, but her rival failed to pick any second choices.

U. S. Tennis Is Postponed for 5th Time

New York, Sept. 20.—[Special.]—The record for postponements of play in a national tennis championship was equaled today when, for the fifth time, rain forced a cancellation of the program at the West Side Tennis club in Forest Hills.

In 1933 five days also were lost in the tournament, which ended on the Thursday following the Saturday on which the finals were originally scheduled. Today's postponement will make it impossible to finish the play until Thursday, and if the forecast for continued rain tomorrow is borne out a new record will be set.

Follow Same Schedule.

This is one mark which would give no particular pleasure to Dr. S. Ellsworth Davenport Jr., the referee, and his committee. If it will be of any solace to them they might reflect that rain fell for seven successive days in the Longwood Bowl tournament in July and the tournament had to be conducted entirely indoors except for a few first round matches and the final.

The same semi-final schedule as arranged for today will be carried out tomorrow, weather permitting. Mrs. Sarah Palfrey Fabyan will meet Miss Alice Marble in the opening match. Gene Mako and John Bromwich of Australia will go on the court next, and J. Donald Budge, the champion, and Sidney B. Wood Jr. will meet in the concluding match.

Budge Works Out.

Budge worked out today at the Heights Casino in Brooklyn with Fred Perry and Vincent Richard looking on.

SEABISCUIT RUNS THIRD ON MUDDY BELMONT TRACK

Winning Isolator Has Big Weight Advantage.

New York, Sept. 20.—(AP)—Charles S. Howard's Seabiscuit, the 1937 handicap racing champion, found the combination of a muddy track and lightly weighted opposition too much for him today and wound up third as William Woodward's Isolater won the thirty-sixth Manhattan handicap at Belmont Park.

Seabiscuit was made a 6-5 favorite, although he's known as a mud hater and seldom is allowed to start if the track is heavy. He did nothing to justify the odds, winding up three lengths behind Isolater, which beat out Walter M. Jeffords' Regal Lily by a head at the end of the mile and one-half. Mrs. Dodge Sloane's Handcuff and R. A. Moore's Piccolo finished far behind to complete the field of five.

Isolater, carrying only 108 pounds to Seabiscuit's 128, ran the distance in 2:31 to earn $4,300 for his owner. He paid 6 to 1.

It was Seabiscuit's fourth defeat in eight this year, and was only the second time he had been asked to go farther than a mile and one-quarter. He was nosed out by Esposa last fall in the Bowie handicap at a mile and five furlongs.

STOCKS FORGE AHEAD AS HOPE OF PEACE GROWS

Domestic Business News Is Cheerful.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Sept. 20.—Continuing to reflect hopes of a peaceful solution of the Sudeten situation, Wall street traders bid stock prices fractions to about two points higher today. Volatile issues gained as much as six and eight points.

The turnover increased to 1,198,310 shares, compared with 825,400 yesterday. A total of 748 issues was traded. Of these, 644 closed higher, 47 lower and 57 unchanged.

A robust opening featured the day's trading. Early gains ran from 1 to 3 points. A number of the leaders opened on blocks of 1,000 to 3,000 shares.

Gains Shaded at Close.

Activity slowed after the first twenty minutes, and prices churned narrowly. An increase in offerings in the final hour cut into the early gains from fractions to around 1 point.

Although chief interest still attached to the European situation, the financial district found more time today to appraise the domestic business situation.

Cutting of rail prices announced by the United States Steel corporation and affirmation of present schedules on other products were regarded as auguring well for the industry.

No boom is expected in the motor industry, but prospects for improvement continue good. Retail and wholesale trade are enjoying seasonal upturns. Hardening of prices for copper and zinc is held to be another good sign.

Expect Favorable Rail Reports.

Railroad reports for August, some of which are coming in now, are expected to compare favorably with July. Moreover, President Roosevelt's entry into the rail wage impasse also was regarded fevorably in some quarters.

Prominent in the industrial division were General Motors, up 1¾ points; United States Rubber, up 1¾; Chrysler, up 2; United States Steel, up 1⅝; Bethlehem Steel, up 1¾; Goodrich, up 1⅝; Goodyear, up 1½; Youngstown Sheet and Tube, up 2½; Yellow Truck, up nearly 1 point; Republic Steel, up 1⅛; Montgomery Ward, up 2, and Sears-Roebuck up 2¼ points.

Substantial advances were registered by the active rails, particularly in the morning session. Southern Pacific, up 1⅝, and New York Central, up 1, took volume honors in the group. Gains between 1 and 2 points were chalked up by Santa Fe, Chesapeake and Ohio, Great Northern, and Southern Railway. Notable was Union Pacific, which soared 4¼ points on 500 shares.

Am. Telephone Spurts.

In the communications, American Telephone stood out with a spurt of three points. Building shares enjoyed a good demand. Johns Manville closed nearly five points higher.

Heavy machinery shares were paced by General Electric and Westinghouse, which gained 2⅛ and 1¾ points, respectively. In the chemicals, du Pont, Allied Chemical, and Union Carbide advanced 3 or 4 points.

Texas corporation and Standard Oil of New Jersey were prominent in the oils, gaining 2¼ and 1⅞ points, respectively. Aviation shares ruled fractionally higher.

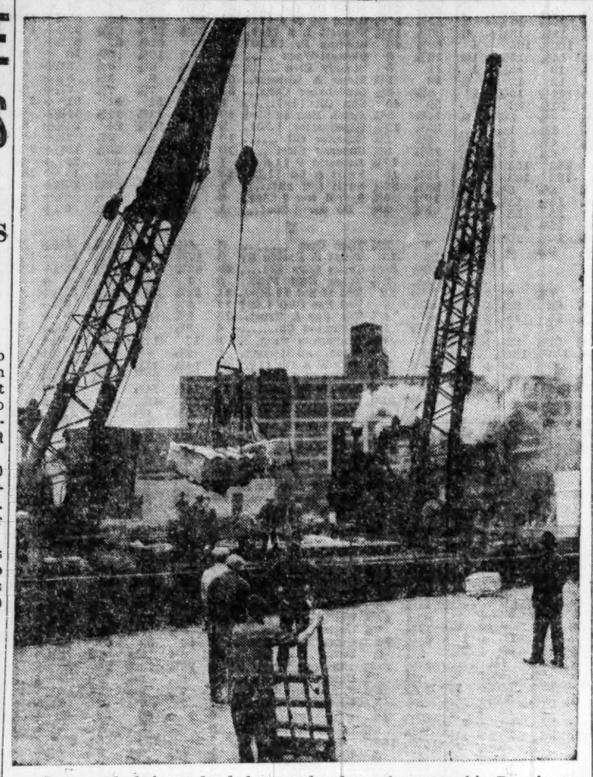
Among the inactive issues, Philip Morris preferred jumped 6 points and International Business Machine soared 8½ points.

Foreign Markets Firmer.

Stock market prices in London, Paris, and Amsterdam reflected the better feeling abroad. British government issues led an upturn in London. The only issues that failed to participate were Czechoslovakian obligations.

In Paris industrial and international shares were in good demand. French government bonds and Suez canal issues were higher. Amsterdam prices improved.

Florida Pulp Arrives by Water



Paper pulp being unloaded yesterday from the steamship Bennington at the Ogden avenue plant of the Container Corporation of America. The pulp was made at the Container corporation's plant at Fernandina, Florida.

Economic Ruin Forces Hitler to Act—Palyi

Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler must act now to take Sudetenland, because Germany is a bankrupt nation, Dr. Melchior Palyi declared last night. No further reserve resources are available to Germany, he said. Dr. Palyi is research economist at the University of Chicago and former economist for the Deutsche Bank of Berlin. He spoke at a foreign trade dinner of the Chicago Association of Credit Men at the Merchants and Manufacturers' club.

"Although Germany is economically virtually bankrupt," Dr. Palyi said, "Great Britain and France probably will not fight because they know that a war of even six months' time would mean their own bankruptcy, even if they won. The result is that Czechoslovakia probably will be 'sold down the river.'"

Strength Waning Relatively.

The former German bank adviser said Germany's economic strength is now declining in relation to the strength of France and Britain.

"Germany has strained herself to the utmost," he declared. "She has collected all available raw material resources, and resorted to conscription of capital. Overwork, lowered standards of living, and the substitution of unskilled labor where skilled labor is needed have decreased her industrial efficiency."

He said the most optimistic estimate of Germany's gold reserve place it at a maximum of $250,000,000 to $300,000,000, compared with a gold "war chest" of more than a billion dollars in 1914.

"Food rationing already has been resorted to in large German cities," he continued.

Cites Big British Debt.

On the other hand, Dr. Palyi asserted, Great Britain has a national debt of 41 billion dollars, more than ten times the debt in 1914, and France's national debt has gone from 40 billion francs in 1914 to 500 billions today.

"Britain and France have no reserves to fall back on," Dr. Palyi said. "If they fight, they will have to conscript capital, just as Germany and Italy have done. It may take the form of defaulting on debt or of currency inflation.

"Win or lose, a war will bankrupt France and Britain. Hitler's financial advisers know this. So Germany is gambling."

Discussing Czechoslovakia, he said: "Without support from Britain and France the Czechs face two alternatives: One is to commit suicide by fighting and the other is to commit suicide by not fighting."

FLORIDA WOOD PULP REACHES CHICAGO BY SHIP

Unloading of what is said to be the first water shipment of Florida wood pulp to Chicago was completed yesterday at the Ogden avenue plant of the Container Corporation of America. The cargo of 2,000 tons was brought to Chicago on the steamship Bennington.

The paper pulp was made in the Container corporation's new mill at Fernandina, Fla., which was completed last December as the first unit of a $9,000,000 project. The pulp, packed in 400 pound bales, was carried from Fernandina by ocean freighter, transferred to canal barges at New York and transferred to the lake steamer Bennington at Buffalo.

The Container corporation plans to make other pulp shipments to Chicago by water route. The pulp is used in the manufacture of cardboard containers and other products.

CHIEF FOREIGN MONEYS RISE; GOLD CHEAPER

Growing belief that a major European war has been averted was reflected yesterday in a further rise in foreign currency values and a decline in the price of gold.

The British pound ran up more than a cent in exchange transactions in New York, closing at $4.81⅞. Early in the day it sold ½ cents above Monday's final quotation. At the close it was 1¼ cents higher.

Other European currencies also rose in value in relation to the dollar. The French franc climbed 0.00625 cent to 2.7025 cents.

Gold tumbled 7 pence [about 14 cents] an ounce in the London market. It was quoted by brokers at 144 shillings an ounce, equivalent to $34.70.

For the first time in recent weeks no engagements of foreign gold for shipment to the United States were reported. Shipments of gold received in New York included $4,355,047 from England.

The daily statement of the Federal Reserve bank of New York, reflecting the preceding day's heavy arrivals, listed imports from England of $40,245,000 and receipts from Canada of $2,516,000.

Corn Products Refining Co. Makes Advance in Prices

Recent increases in cash corn prices occasioned yesterday the announcement by the Corn Products Refining company, 333 North Michigan avenue, of price boosts on its bulk products from 5 to 10 cents per hundred pounds. The 5 cent increase was made on starches, dextrines, and corn syrup; and the 10 cent advance on brewers refined grits.

Chinese and Morgenthau Confer on Silver Buying

Washington, D. C., Sept. 20.—(AP)—A Chinese financial mission began conferences with Secretary Morgenthau today on continuance of the United States silver purchase program. An agreement under which the United States treasury has purchased up to $12,000,000 worth of Chinese silver monthly will expire shortly.

NEARLY 1,000 OIL WELLS IN NEW ILLINOIS FIELD

Springfield, Ill., Sept. 20.—(AP)—There were almost 1,000 producing oil wells in the new southern Illinois basin at the end of August, John J. Hallihan, director of registration and education, announced today.

The report listed 275 new drilling operations and 150 completions in August, a monthly record. Illinois production increased from 1,128,000 barrels in January to about 1,900,000 barrels in August.

Predict Drop In Oil Demand.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 20.—(AP)—The bureau of mines estimated the October market demand for domestic crude oil today at 3,366,800 barrels daily. This would be 77,500 barrels less than the September estimate and 7 per cent below October 1937 demand. The estimated motor fuel demand for October is 45,800,000 barrels, a gain of 1 per cent over demand in October, 1937.

MANAGEMENT PARLEY WEIGHS LABOR POLICIES

Industry and Unions Both Criticized.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Sept. 20.—[Special.]—Politics must be removed from labor relations if America is to remain free, William Allen White, noted editor, declared tonight. He addressed the seventh International Management congress.

White sharply criticized government, management, and labor. He was supported in his views by a British labor expert who recounted the successful British labor policy of keeping government interference out of employer-employé relationships.

The session tonight of the congress, attended by 2,000 delegates from twenty-one nations, consisted of a four sided forum on labor relations. Recognized leaders participated in the forum.

Consumers Represented.

The spokesmen were as follows:

Consuming public—White, who is editor of the Emporia [Kansas] Gazette and president of the American Society of Newspaper Editors.

Management—Lewis H. Brown, president of the Johns-Manville corporation, maker of building supplies.

Labor—Robert J. Watt, American workers' delegate to the International Labor office at Geneva, Switzerland, and representative of the American Federation of Labor.

British labor policy—R. Lloyd Roberts, chief labor officer of Imperial Chemical Industries, Ltd., of London.

"The middle class" is the real owner of American industry, said White. Neither management nor labor can thrive in this country without its support, he said. He warned that progress might stop unless steps are taken to achieve industrial peace "outside of party politics."

"A Middle Class Country."

"This is a middle class country, and the middle class will have its will and way," White asserted. "The middle class is also 80 per cent worker and consumer of 80 per cent of American industrial production in the home market. And before the middle class demands an increase in either interest for investors or higher wages for the worker, the middle class will demand fair prices and a stable industry."

Industrial justice, he said, calls for erudite information and special judgments. "If these problems enter government too closely and directly related to the ballot box, the solution is bungled and democracy is menaced," he said.

Warns of Unemployment.

White warned that the country is approaching a point, primarily because of unemployment, where government may find it necessary to "man the wringer" to meet fixed charges. "No matter who turns the crank, Republican or Democrat, Fascist or communist, the result will be the same," he said.

"Surely America can produce brains in free industry to solve this terrible problem somewhat outside of politics without too much government aid or control."

He struck at management by saying that it ignored the movement twenty years ago for the right of collective bargaining for labor, as expressed in party platforms. He accused President Roosevelt of capitalizing on this situation.

Says C. I. O. Is Result.

"What you got," he said, "when you silenced the voice of the American consuming public demanding justice, was the C. I. O., and the labor racketeers and the sitdown strike encouraged by the smiling and distinguished gentleman who holds the ace card in the political game.

"His lightest word of opprobium for you enterprisers, large and small, in his quest for votes is 'economic royalists.' There's little you can do about it. Your friends were in power twenty years ago. And you chose to follow the counsel of reaction."

White was equally sharp with labor, saying that it "has been no Solomon." He added:

"The proper business of a labor union is to get higher wages, better hours and good shop conditions for the workmen. But when labor en masse plunks its vote for its own

Closed Berwyn Bank Fraud Claim Upheld

Federal Judge John P. Barnes yesterday ordered two former officials of the defunct First American National Bank of Berwyn to return to the bank's receiver $45,000 in assets which the judge held they obtained through fraud.

The two are Francis Karel, former president of the bank, and his business partner, Charles E. Zitnik, who was the cashier. In an oral opinion, Judge Barnes said it was obvious that the minutes of a directors' meeting had been changed fraudulently to allow Karel and Zitnik to profit to the extent of $45,000.

May Seek $45,000 More.

The opinion was delivered at the conclusion of a hearing that had lasted several weeks. Judge Barnes then directed attorneys for Frank Posvic, a stockholder of the bank who filed the suit for recovery, to prepare a decree.

He directed them also to determine whether they would ask for a further recovery of $45,000—supposedly the profit made by Karel and Zitnik from the operation of a safety deposit vault, insurance and loan agency. This would make the total possible recovery $90,000.

It was the deal by which the two acquired the vault, insurance and loan business that was attacked in Posvic's petition. In his opinion, Judge Barnes declared that the directors' resolution originally called for the sale of these assets to Karel and Zitnik for $50,000.

$5,000 Paid to Bank.

Later, he continued, the minutes were changed to make it appear that the resolution called merely for a payment of $5,000. That was the price, the judge stated, that was actually paid the bank, just before it failed in 1932.

"The clear weight of evidence shows that there was fraud and that there should be recovery," he concluded. "This becomes even more obvious when it is known that the controller of the currency [under whose jurisdiction defunct banks fall] once refused to approve the sale of these assets for $40,000."

Judge Barnes gave Posvic's attorneys five days to prepare their decree and allowed attorneys for Karel and Zitnik two days in which to Named as defendants are Karel, Zitnik, their firm of Karel & Zitnik, Inc., the Berwyn Agency and Loan corporation, and Burt C. Roach, receiver of the bank. Posvic's suit also was in behalf of other stockholders.

There have been numerous civil and criminal actions in connection with the bank's failure.

C. & O. WON'T ACQUIRE NICKEL PLATE NOTES HELD BY DISSENTERS

Cleveland, O., Sept. 20.—(AP)—Chesapeake and Ohio railway directors announced today that the C. & O. "will not directly or indirectly make any investment in the Nickel Plate 6 per cent unsecured notes due Oct. 1, 1938."

When the notes were due in other years, C. & O. helped its "little sister" by buying up notes of those dissenting to extension. More than $3,000,000 worth of the $15,000,000 issue was thus acquired. President George D. Brooke has said Nickel Plate faces reorganization under section 77 of the federal bankruptcy laws if holders refuse to agree to another three year extension.

Herbert Fitzpatrick, chairman of the C. & O. board, in his announcement tonight said C. & O. "has not in the current year purchased any" of the Nickel Plate notes. He added that today's action in refusing to buy up dissenters was "in the light of the current conditions."

The deadline for agreement to extension has twice been advanced, and now stands at Sept. 30, the day before the issue falls due. On Sept. 15 Brooke said 85 per cent of the holders had agreed to extension.

SALE OF UTILITY'S LA GRANGE WATER PLANT APPROVED

The Illinois commerce commission yesterday approved the sale by the Public Service Company of Northern Illinois of its LaGrange waterworks plant and distribution system to the village for $315,000. Village President Walter P. Sounders said $200,000 will be expended for the installation of a softening plant and improvement of the system.

The village board, he said, has approved the sale of $425,000 worth of 3 per cent water revenue bonds to Halsey, Stuart & Co. for $426,585. The bonds are due serially in 4 to 30 years. Proceeds will be used to buy the system and, with a $90,000 PWA grant, to finance the improvement.

Stock in Own Firms Sold by 'Insiders'

Corporation "insiders"—the officers, directors, and principal stockholders — continued on the selling side in stocks of their own companies during July. This was shown yesterday in the second summary of transactions for the month issued by the Securities and Exchange commission. The first July summary also showed an excess of sales over purchases. Selling has predominated since last October.

Prince Sells Armour Stock.

Frederick H. Prince, chairman of the board of Armour & Co., reported the sale of 2,000 shares of $6 cumulative convertible prior preferred stock of Armour of Illinois. This left holdings of 11,550 shares. He also holds 50,000 common shares.

Mary Louise Bok, a director and principal stockholder of Curtis Publishing, sold 4,800 common shares, leaving 116,453 directly held. She bought, however, $7 preferred shares, increasing preferred direct holdings to 41,821 shares. She also holds indirectly in trusts 628,096 common and 46,521 preferred shares.

SIX ARE NAMED BY PRESIDENT TO DRAFT RAIL LAW

Seeks to Ease Roads' Financial Plight.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Sept. 20.—President Roosevelt this afternoon announced he had named an informal committee to suggest a program of legislative aid to the rail industry. A program is to be presented to congress. The informal committee consists of three representatives of railroad management and three representatives of railroad labor.

The representatives visited the President to discuss the problems of the financially bogged industry. After listening to the members of the group for an hour and a half, Mr. Roosevelt shunted them to the cabinet room with instructions to begin a study of the industry with a view to seeking congressional aid.

Wage Issue Not Discussed.

The President said that the question of the 15 per cent cut in wages ordered by rail management for Oct. 1 was not discussed. He said that will go through the regular channels provided by law.

The wage question is but one element in the broad problem of getting a sound system of railroads and an even smaller element in the broader problem of getting a coördinated transportation system, he asserted.

Those named on the informal committee are Carl R. Gray, vice chairman of the board of the Union Pacific railroad; M. W. Clement, president of the Pennsylvania railroad; Ernest Norris, president of the Southern railway; George M. Harrison, chairman of the Railway Labor Executives association; B. M. Jewell, president of the American Federation of Labor's railway employés department, and D. B. Robertson, head of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen.

Month's Study Ordered.

Mr. Roosevelt instructed them to sit down for a month or six weeks to study every phase of the problem.

He said that he felt the country was getting nowhere in cleaning up the financially sick industry. He instructed the conferees to say nothing to newspaper men.

The President recalled that he had sent up to congress a set of recommendations looking toward solution of the rail problem last spring. Congress did not act, he said, with a note of regret in his voice. The rail legislation drive was killed in the revolt against White House auohtrity.

The President said that the next step in the railway wage dispute will come next week in the appointment of an emergency fact finding board. The unions are threatening a strike.

The railroad executive and labor representatives who conferred with Mr. Roosevelt, arranged to meet privately tomorrow. They will try to determine to what extent the wage dispute will interfere with their cooperation on a legislative program. Some observers predicted that effective coöperation between the two sides represented on the committee depended on whether the roads insist on putting through the pay cut.

Stocks, Bonds

New York Bonds.

New York, Sept. 20. — (AP) — Heavy buying orders from small banks advanced United States government obligations over a broad front in the bond market today. Buying was reported chiefly for small institutional investment, the bidders having held off during the disturbing foreign news of the last week.

Transactions in the government division reached $640,000, compared with $150,000 yesterday. Price advances ranged up to 29-32 point, with some of the most active maturities showing big gains. New issues did well. The 2½s of 1952-'50, most active of the group, with $277,000 worth bought, advanced 17-32.

Better international news lifted all other divisions today. Foreign dollar bonds generally enjoyed a broad advance. Czechoslovak 8s of 1952 advanced 4¼ and the 8s of 1951 went up 1 point. German 7s of 1949 and Japan 6½s each advanced 2½.

Rails as a group also made substantial recovery. Gains of 3 points each were made by Southern Pacific collateral 4s and New York Central 4½s. Baltimore and Ohio convertible 4½s were up a point.

Utilities and industrials generally advanced, but in more restrained fashion than the speculative rails.

Chicago Stocks.

Led by Commonwealth Edison rights and other trading favorites, Chicago stocks continued upward yesterday. Trading in Edison rights increased to 271,900, compared with 111,000 on Monday. The rights gained 4 cents to close at 5 cents. They expire today. Edison stock gained ⅛ point.

Zenith Radio, most active issue aside from Edison rights, advanced ⅜ point. Fractional gains were made by Houdaille-Hershey B, Borg-Warner, Marshall Field, and Swift. Bendix Aviation gained a full point.

Stewart-Warner corporation's 1,300,582 shares of $5 par common stock will be admitted to trading on the Chicago exchange today, Frank E. McDonald & Co. will be specialist and odd lot dealer in the stock. It will be traded on the optional odd lot basis.

Edison Debentures 60 Pct. Taken; Rights Expire Today

Up to the close of business yesterday nearly 60 per cent of the debentures offered to owners of Commonwealth Edison stock had been subscribed, officials of the company announced. The rights to subscribe expire today. Based on the experience of last June, when the heaviest day was the final day of the subscription period, officials said they expect subscriptions today will increase the total sharply.

Last June subscriptions were the heaviest during the two last days that the offer was in effect. The books were closed with 95 per cent of the debentures subscribed. In the present offering, subscriptions yesterday exceeded the total of the second to last day in the June offering.

European Crisis a Handicap.

Officials said the European situation has been a retarding influence, causing many stockholders to put off making subscriptions until the last moment. On a basis of a 60 per cent subscription, about $24,000,000 of the $39,467,000 of debentures had been subscribed up to last night.

There was a large crowd at the offices of Commonwealth Edison company yesterday which taxed the facilities of the force handling the debenture subscriptions. One line extended for almost a block to the Dearborn street entrance.

The debentures are due in 1958 and bear interest at 3½ per cent. They are being issued in connection with Commonwealth Edison's huge program of refinancing to simplify its corporate structure and reduce interest charges.

Refund Grand Hotel Bonds.

John A. Dawson, Chicago investment dealer, stated yesterday that arrangements have been completed for refunding the defaulted first mortgage bonds on the Grand hotel, Mackinac Island, Mich. The outstanding $27,600 of 6½ per cent bonds will be retired at 100 and accrued interest, Dawson said. The principal matured several years ago, but the interest payments have been kept up. Funds for refunding the issue were obtained from a $75,000 insurance loan. The Grand is one of the largest resort hotels in the world.

"Fair Trade" Laws—IV.

Here are some of the most common arguments made against "fair trade" legislation: [Yesterday arguments for such laws were presented.]

Larger distributors, particularly, object to manufacturers' interference with retail price policies. It reduces their leeway in making their own merchandising policies.

National manufacturers may hesitate to make "fair trade" contracts, because fixed prices may encourage sale of private brands at lower prices.

Many small consumer goods items are sold through many kinds of stores with different overhead costs. Margins of profit necessarily differ with different stores, and resale prices on the same product should vary.

Price maintenance may help inefficient retailers to stay in business, whereas they would rightly be forced out under unrestricted price competition.

Consumers who patronize cut rate stores are required to pay higher prices for the same items after they are placed under "fair trade" act control.

Retailers operating largely on a "price appeal" basis will push cut rate items rather than those for which prices are standardized.

"Fair trade" is meaningless on goods where trade-in allowances are provided, such as radios, automobiles, and electrical appliances. The retailer may "get around" the minimum price by hiking the trade-in allowance.

NATIONAL TEA'S SALES ARE 13.6% BELOW YEAR AGO

Sales of the National Tea company in the four weeks ended Sept. 10 were 13.6 per cent lower than in the corresponding period last year, the company announced yesterday. They totaled $3,875,347, against $4,486,743 in the like 1937 period.

In the 36 weeks ended on the same date the chain's turnover amounted to $37,975,037, compared with $43,516,679 in the similar period last year, a drop of 12.7 per cent. On Sept. 10 the company had 1,104 stores in operation, compared with 1,244 stores on the same date last year. Officials said the average decline in sales per store was 2.69 per cent.

Kroger Grocery and Baking company sales in the four weeks ended Sept. 10 were $16,567,572, a drop of 7.6 per cent from $17,941,225 in the corresponding 1937 weeks. In the 36 weeks ended on the same date sales totaled $157,787,924, against $172,721,037 in 1937, a drop of 8.6 per cent.

New York Apparel Concern Leases Chicago Building

Three Sisters, Inc., women's apparel firm of New York, has leased the seven story Waterman building at 127-29 South State street for twenty years at an undisclosed rental. J. E. Ehrenhalt & Co. were the only brokers. After a modernization program, reported to cost $100,000, the lessee will open its fourth Chicago store about the middle of October, it was said.

MANAGEMENT PARLEY WEIGHS LABOR POLICIES

Industry, Unions Both Criticized at Forum.

party, then the spirit of loyalty begins to obscure labor's objectives.

"If labor insists upon maintaining its class lines of bitter hostility to all capital, the American middle class will not support labor."

Brown, in taking up the cause of management, presented a creed for it to follow. This creed was:

1. Provide better values at lower costs.
2. Develop efficiency of industry.
3. Improve old products and create new ones to provide new fields of employment.
4. Encourage fair trade practices.
5. Be alert to management's own shortcomings.
6. Business in this country has never been what it could be.
7. Business, labor, government, and agriculture, working hand in hand, can provide jobs and the "opportunity for all to work for security without loss of our liberty."

Pleads for Sound Policies.

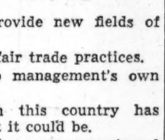
"Without business recovery based upon sound national policies, there can be no stability, no security—nor can liberty itself be long preserved," Brown said.

Discussing the labor situation, he said that a new order of things is emerging, but it "has been obscured by dust clouds of words from political demagogs."

Brown pleaded against too much government regulation in this field. "Once bureaucratic regulations are established, they are seldom, if ever, abandoned," he said. "What we must strive for is wise and intelligent supervision which aids rather than hampers business. Government needs to profit by industry's example and utilize this new profession of scientific management."

Sees New Order Emerging.

Speaking for labor, Watt said that labor did not prefer to ask for "the shorter work week and higher wages," by government action.



Robert J. Watt.

He said that American labor wants to be recognized as the partner of capital in production, as the customer of capital in distribution, as the majority voice in a political democracy, and as the substantial center of community life.

"The aim of labor," Watt said, "is to have sufficient purchasing power among the multitudes so that industry may run on an orderly year around basis. The splurge and slump policy must be succeeded by a wage policy for consumer maintenance of markets."

Proposes Alternative.

"Labor will insist," Watt added, "that wages and employment be sustained by industry as producer and distributor or else that the taxing power of government be used to provide purchasing power to those who cannot find work at decent wages."

Roberts, in reviewing British experience, said his country's philosophy of employer-employé relationships is founded on the belief that "self discipline in industry through voluntary trial and error is a greater national asset in the long run than in rectitude imposed by decree."

"State intervention in any country is only a nice way of saying political intervention," he said, "and we believe it would be highly prejudiced to the national interests if questions of work, wages, etc., were to be caught in the maelstrom of party politics."

Traces Growth of Methods.

Tracing the development of the English methods of conciliation and arbitration from 1789, Roberts said that now the basis is essentially voluntary, with friendly coöperation of government departments. Compulsion is used only as a last resort, he said. It is the British view, he said, that the community should settle its problems itself.

A special commission recently reported to President Roosevelt on its findings after a study of the British voluntary agreements which had resulted in industrial peace. The British have no legislation resembling the Wagner labor relations act.

PIG IRON BOOSTED $1 A TON BY INTERLAKE FOR FOURTH QUARTER

Cleveland, O., Sept. 20.—[Special.]—An advance of $1 a ton in pig iron for fourth quarter delivery, effective Sept. 27, was announced late today by the Interlake Iron corporation. The company is one of the leading northern pig iron producers.

This will make the price of No. 2 foundry iron $21 a ton at Toledo, O., Erie, Pa., and Chicago, and $21.50 at Duluth, Minn. The price of basic iron will advance to $20.50 at Erie, Toledo, and Chicago.

This action contrasts with the current reduction in price of rail and track supplies and reaffirmation of all other steel products for fourth quarter delivery by United States Steel corporation subsidiaries. Pig iron prices, however, were cut $4 a ton last June.

Rivet makers here reaffirmed prices for next three months. The American Steel and Wire announced there will be no change in prices of wire, rods, and cold strip.

FARM PRODUCTS BOOST FOREIGN TRADE THIS YEAR

Washington, D. C., Sept. 20.—(AP)—The Chamber of Commerce of the United States reported today that a big increase in exports of agricultural products was the "distinguishing feature" of American foreign trade during the first six months of this year.

Exports of crude foodstuffs, it said, rose from $23,378,000 in the first half of 1937 to a total of $152,090,000 this year, an increase of 550 per cent.

For the same periods total exports gained from $1,536,000,000 to $1,592,000,000, an increase of 3.6 per cent. Imports fell by 41.8 per cent, or from $1,621,794,000 to $943,310,000.

One result of the gain in exports and decline in imports, the chamber said, was the largest excess of exports, or "favorable trade balance," to be recorded for the first half of any year since 1921. The excess was $631,000,000. For the same period of 1937 imports were $147,900,000 greater than exports.

Entering prominently into the increased exports of agricultural products was a gain in shipments of wheat from $1,747,000 last year to $50,903,000 this year. Corn gained from $145,000 to $64,347,000. There was, meanwhile, a drop of 32.4 per cent in exports of unmanufactured cotton,

AIR LINE WILL CUT FARES FOR WINTER TRAVEL

A new winter rate that represents a substantial reduction over summer fares will be put into effect by Northwest Airlines on Oct. 1, it was announced here yesterday by Croil Hunter, president. This will be the second successive winter that Northwest has reduced fares to attract passenger business during the season when such trafic falls to its minimum.

This year the fare reduction period coincides with the opening of National Air Travel Week. Northwest calls its new rates "educational fares" as a consequence. Reductions amount to as much as 13 per cent over the summer rates.

WHEAT SLUMPS TO LOWEST MARK OF WAR 'SCARE'

European Demand Light for American Grain.

CHICAGO GRAIN PRICES

Closing prices on the December delivery of principal grains on the Chicago Board of Trade yesterday:

	Yesterday.	Monday.	Yr. ago.
Wheat	.64⅛	.64⅜	$1.05⅜
Corn	.49⅝	.50⅜	.64⅞
Oats	.35⅜	.35⅝	.31⅛
Rye	.43⅛	.43⅜	.80⅝
Soy beans	.77	.79⅛	.94⅛

Wheat prices were on the downgrade yesterday, declining 1 cent or more from Monday's close to the lowest level since the current war scare started. The markets, however, showed fair resistance to selling pressure.

Closing trades on the Chicago Board of Trade were at net losses of ⅝ to ⅞ cent. Winnipeg prices were 1⅝ to 1¾ cents lower. Liverpool wheat futures closed ⅝ to 2¼ cents a bushel lower.

The European demand for North American cash wheat yesterday was reported to be light. Part of the decline in Liverpool was said to have been due to selling pressure from countries with surplus wheat.

Wheat Trading Professional.

A considerable part of yesteday's trading in wheat futures was said by brokers to have been of a professional character. The relative weakness in Winnipeg prices more than offset reports of fair sales of dark hard winter wheat by the FSCC to exporters.

Hedging sales in corn yesterday were the heaviest in some time and disclosed a lack of aggressive support. Closing trades on futures were at net losses of ⅞ to 1¼ cents a bushel. Export demand was limited.

Traders estimated the country had sold 60,000 bushels of cash corn for deferred shipment to Chicago. This was the largest day's business in a number of weeks. A large part of the corn came from Iowa points.

Iowa Corn Around 40 Cents.

The cash corn sold yesterday was estimated to have brought Iowa farmers about 40 cents a bushel delivered at country elevators.

About 80 per cent of the Illinois corn crop is now safe from frost, according to an estimate by the state and federal departments of agriculture.

Soy bean futures closed at net losses of 2⅛ to 2½ cents a bushel. Receipts of the first car of new soy beans of the season tended to shake the confidence of holders of future contracts. The shipment called attention to the fact that the movement of the new crop might get well under way within a few weeks with favorable weather. The Illinois crop of soy beans is estimated to be the second largest on record.

Virginia-Carolina Chemical.

Investors' Guide: I have stock in the Virginia-Carolina Chemical corporation and would appreciate very much a report on this company.—E. F.

Answer: Fertilizer is the principal product of the Virginia-Carolina Chemical corporation, although it makes a number of chemicals such as sulphuric acid, phosphoric acid, and various phosphate products. Phosphate rock is mined for its own use in making chemicals and for sale to others.

The largest portion of output goes to the cotton planters and tobacco growers of the south, and most of the company's manufacturing plants are in southern Atlantic and gulf states near the principal markets. Sales also are made in northern and western states and plants are located in Ohio, Illinois, and Indiana.

Net income for the fiscal year ended June 30 was $404,861, equal to $1.90 a share on the participating preferred stock. This compares with net income of $1,254,040, or $5.88 a participating preferred share, in the preceding year, and $93,754, or about 4 cents a participating preferred share in the year ended June 30, 1936. Losses were incurred in 1931, 1932, and 1933.

The company has outstanding 213,052 shares of $100 par 6 per cent cumulative participating preferred 486,122 shares of no par common. Nothing has been paid on the preferred this year and only $1.50 was paid in 1937. Arrearage was $59.50 a share on July 1. No dividends have ever been paid on the common.

Penn Mex Fuel Company.

Investors' Guide: Kindly give me information on the Penn Mex Fuel company.—B. A. S.

Answer: The Penn Mex Fuel company, controled by the Consolidated Oil company, formerly controled a block of about 28,000 acres of oil leases in the Alamo field in Mexico and about 69,800 acres of oil and gas leases in the Tampico and Tuxpan fields of Mexico. This property was expropriated by the Mexican government, along with that of other foreign oil companies, on March 19, 1938.

The company reported net income of $184,765, or 47 cents a share, in 1937; $241,839, or 61 cents a share, in 1936, and $375,697, or 95 cents, in 1935.

The company has 394,391 shares of capital stock outstanding, of which Consolidated Oil owns 346,413 shares. Par value was recently reduced from $1 to 50 cents and the company paid a liquidating dividend of 50 cents a share on June 22. Thirty cents was paid last year in dividends.
